1,400 Troops Go Home From Milwaukee Duty

Fox Valley Guardsmen To Stay for Weekend; Area Mostly Peaceful

MILWAUKEE — National Guard strength has been reduced here following another night of relative civil peace enforced by a curfew and heavy police patrols.

Most of the action here Thursday night involved civil rights spokesmen, angered over the fatal shooting by police of a Negro college student, stepping up their demands for a meeting with Mayor Henry Maier.

The National Guard, which had sent 4,800 members of the 32nd Red Arrow Division to help Milwaukee police, withdrew nearly 1,400 men Thursday, mostly from units in the southeastern part of the state, but around 2,800 troops are expected to remain in the area through the weekend.

The 1st Battalion of the 127th Infantry, which includes units from Appleton, Neenah - Menasha, Clintonville, Marinette and Manitowoc, makes up about 25 per cent of the remaining Guard strength.

Stay on Duty

An official National Guard source said today the unit, which numbers about 780 men, probably will remain on duty over the weekend. He said the 127th Infantry's 1st Battalion has a primary duty of manning roadblock units in the perimeter line which surrounds the blockaded 840-block sector. The troops work on five-hour shifts and maintain roadblocks at 93 perimeter intersections.

What little violence there was Thursday night was mostly confined to firemen who ran into crowds of jeering youths in the city's predominantly Negro north side. Rocks were thrown at firemen while they were attending one small fire.

Police also had a few reports of rifles being discharged during an otherwise quiet night.

The Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, sponsor of demonstrations last summer against racial bias in civic club membership rules, asked for a meeting Monday with Maier, who gave no immediate reply.

Wants Peace

The mayor met Thursday with 175 businessmen. In tears, he said he was exhausted by the strife that began with rioting Sunday night, and said he wants citizens "living together in peace and harmony."

He denied having known in advance of a meeting which 60 civil rights representatives called off Wednesday when Maier did not arrive.

When told Negroes wanted a meeting concerning the death Wednesday night of Clifford McKissick, a Whitewater State University student who police said was shot while fleeing from a firebomb scene, Maier said he is "willing to meet with anybody and everybody."

McKissick, 18, a youth group worker, died in his home a few doors from a paint store against which firebombs were thrown as four policemen approached. Three other youths were captured, including McKissick's brother.

Demand Meeting

About 60 Negroes, some wearing shirts on which "Black Power" was written, gathered Thursday on the lawn of the McKissick home and demanded a meeting be arranged with

Jet Carrying First Lady in Bomb Scare

Mrs. Johnson, 109 Passengers Leave Plane for Search

NEW YORK (AP) — A crank telephone call warning there was a bomb on a Washington shuttle plane delayed Mrs Lyndon B. Johnson's return to the capital Thursday evening after a trip to New York to look at fall fashions

An Eastern Air Lines jet carrying Mrs. Johnson and 109 other passengers was on a runway at La Guardia Airport waiting for clearance to take off when the phone call was received by a reservation clerk at 4:48 p.m.

The plane, which had been scheduled to leave at 5 p.m., was taken back to the airline's gate. After the passengers were removed, the plane was searched by Eastern employes and airport police.

Others Searched

Three other Eastern planes used in the shuttle service also were searched. No bomb was found.

It was not clear whether the male phone caller knew that Mrs. Johnson was aboard the shuttle

Mrs. Johnson, who had flown here in the morning, spent the day in a suite at the Waldorf Towers, where she lunched and looked over fashions from Neiman-Marcus and Adele Simpson Inc.

Jordanians, Israelis Exchange Rifle Fire

TEL AVIV (AP) — Jordanian and Israeli soldiers exchanged rifle fire across the Jordan River near Jericho for the fourth successive day today, the Israeli army reported

Israeli newspapers said Israel has warned Jordan it will take "strong action" if the shooting incidents continue.

The Israeli army said Jordanian riflemen opened fire briefly in midmorning on Israeli soldiers who shot back. No casualties were reported.

Most of Nation Calm

Shotgun Blast Ignites Kansas Racial Protest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A shotgun blast from a car occupied by white youths aimed at a sheriff and a group of Negro youths touched off a noisy demonstration in Wichita, Kan., early today, marring a night of relative calm in the nation's streets

Wyandanch, N.Y., a predominantly Negro community on Long Island, suffered through a third night of scattered disorders. Police arrested nine youths after cars were hit by stones and bottles.

But in the rest of the nation the tide of violence continued to ebb. Milwaukee's curfew was eased, and the police chief in Providence, R.I., said he thought racial violence there was "over for this year."

Talking to Negroes

Wichita Sheriff Vern Miller was talking to a group of Negro youths in the city's predominantly Negro northeastern section when a shotgun blast was fired from a car occupied by white youths. Miller and four Negroes were struck by pellets, but none was seriously injured.

Miller pursued the white youths across Wichita at speeds reaching 110 miles an hour, but lost them at a railroad crossing.

Later, 20 to 25 young Negroes demonstrated outside the hospital where the injured were treated, and still later a group of about 70 demonstrated outside police headquarters over the arrest of a Negro alleged to have assaulted three whites

In Providence, Mayor Joseph A. Doorley Jr. said he would make day-to-day decisions on retaining a "selective," curfew in South Providence, troubled by several nights of disorder.

'Storm Troopers'

In Newark, N.J., charging that state police "acted like Nazi storm troopers" during Newark's riots, the head of the city's antipoverty agency has joined a colleague in advocating that Negroes arm themselves for self defense.

Timothy Still, president of the United Community Corp., said Thursday, "I think that the philosophy of this country is that every man should be able to protect his home and family."

Still, a Negro, joined Willie Wright a UCC director, in advocating that Negroes arm themselves.

The Office of Economic Opportunity, which funds UCC, had asked that Wright be suspended pending investigation of his statements.

"Willie and I have disagreed about many things, but I agree with him about that I agree with him about Plainfield."

Wright had said he would shoot at state police and National Guardsmen who searched homes in riot-torn Plainfield recently for 46 stolen rifles. The searchers, acting under a declaration of emergency, did not have search warrants.

"I would not fight the National Guard because they have tanks out there, but I would sure try to get back at them some other way," Still said. "They went into people's homes out there and broke up furniture."

The UCC executive committee said Wright was not speaking for the UCC and would have to bear personal responsibility for his statements. The committee said only UCC's board of directors has the authority to suspend Wright.

Federal Funds for Negroes

Senators Told of School Teaching Hatred of Whites

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Negro official's exclusion of whites from a summer antipoverty project which Senate investigators were told teaches "hatred of the white race" may result in loss of federal and local funds, the local director says.

"At the very least, there will be an investigation," said the Rev. J. Paschal Davis, white Episcopal minister who heads Nashville's Metropolitan Action Commission, the local agency through which the Office of Economic Opportunity channels federal antipoverty funds.

Davis reacted to the Senate testimony and to the response of Fred Brooks, the project director and chairman of Nashville's Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

"Historical Fact"

"We teach the historical fact that whites came to Africa and viciously enslaved many of the great African people," said Brooks, 20. "If the history of their Negroes' past leads them to hate white people, that's not our responsibility."

Asked if a white man could sit in on the classes, Brooks said, "No, I'm sure the staff would object."

Large pictures of the late Malcolm X, leader of the Black Muslim movement, and SNCC leaders Stokely Carmichael, George Ware and H. Rap Brown were in the room where the so-called "liberation school" is conducted by Brooks in St. Anselms Episcopal Chapel, a center for Negro students in North Nashville.

Capt. John Sorace of Nashville's metropolitan police department told the Senate Judiciary Committee Thursday that the OEO was subsidizing Brooks' project and that it taught Negroes to hate the white man. He declined to give the source of his information.

Brooks told a newsman Thursday that the Metropolitan Action Commission had approved $7,700 for the project. But Davis denied this.

"We had a contract with St. Anselms for a total of seven summer projects," Davis explained. He said these included the one for which Brooks is listed as director, "but no funds have been paid."

Tired Patrolman

Last Full Measure Doesn't Please Court

PHILADELPHIA (AR) — A Philadelphia cop who had worked 14 straight days and had just completed a 14-hour tour of duty has been held for contempt of court because he "looked bored" in court.

Patrolman Cosmo Arcaro completed a 14-hour tour at 6 a.m. Thursday, authorities said, went to a funeral of his grandmother, and then went to court to testify in a narcotics case.

Arcaro said he arrived in court at 9:15 a.m. and waited until 4 p.m. for the case to be called.

He said he was sitting slouched in a chair when a man approached and asked, "You want a bed?" The patrolman said he asked who the man was and he replied, "you'll find out."

Arcaro said another man also advised him to sit up straight and he complied. The men, neither of whom wore badges, later were identified as court attendants.

The defendant in the case was discharged, but Arcaro was taken before Judge Michael J. O'Connell and charged with contempt of court.

Steel Backs Price Boost For Tinplate

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Big steel threw its weight behind a tinplate price increase Thursday, meeting no immediate government opposition and almost assuring that the rest of the profit-troubled industry will follow suit.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steel producer, joined National and Wheeling Steel corporations, in raising the price of tinplate an average of 2.7 per cent. Bethlehem Steel Corp., second-ranked steel producer, said it was studying the move.

Should Bethlehem and other producers follow, it will be steel's first major price increase since January.

Last week's first-half earnings statements from the steel industry reflected rising costs and declining sales volumes. U.S. Steel reported first-half profits down 44 per cent, Bethlehem was down 38.1, Republic 37.2 and Inland off 39 per cent.

Mercenaries Try to Flee

100 Congolese Soldiers Killed by Rebel Troops

KAMEMBE, Rwanda (AP) — Rebel troops killed about 100 Congolese soldiers in a clash Thursday near Bukavu in the Congo's Kivu Province, a French settler from the area said in Kamembe today.

He said the rebels—white mercenaries and Katanga gendarmes— also captured three of the four armored vehicles supporting the regular Congo troops. There was no word on rebel casualties.

The rebels killed about 50 Congolese soldiers and destroyed three of their armored cars in a four-hour-battle Tuesday. A Congolese government communique said 10 mercenaries were killed and many injured in that fight.

Because of disorder and looting in the Bukavu area, the settler said, his Congolese workers had asked him not to pay their wages for fear the Congolese soldiers would take the money.

A rebel force of about 200 white mercenaries and up to 1,300 Katangans had been reported trying to break out of Kivu into the territory of one of the Congo's eastern neighbors, Uganda, Rwanda or Burundi.

They last were reported at Itebero, a village road junction fewer than 70 miles from the Congo's eastern border.

Congressmen See No Easy Passage of LBJ's Tax

Even Democrats Cool to Plan For Surcharge of 10 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional reaction to President Johnson's call for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge generally ranges from lukewarm to chilly, with few members except some Democratic leaders offering unqualified support.

Some other Democrats joined in the expected Republican opposition to the long-awaited tax hike request. Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., of the Senate-House Economic Committee called it a blunder that would hamper business growth and thus generate little new revenue.

And Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee said only: "I'm uncommitted: committed to no one, one way or the other."

Mills, who ranks as perhaps the foremost tax expert in Congress, has remained noncommittal since Johnson first proposed a surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes last January. At that time Johnson urged a 6 per cent surtax.

But the Arkansas Democrat revised the Ways and Means Committee's schedule to provide at least two weeks of hearings beginning Aug. 14. The hearings will be interrupted Aug. 17 and 18 when the House is scheduled to consider Johnson's bill to increase Social Security benefits and taxes.

Almost to a man, members who discussed the proposals Johnson sent to Congress Thurs-

Higher Draft Calls Likely to Result From Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher draft calls and a possible $2 billion supplemental defense budget request are likely as a result of President Johnson's ordered troop increase for Vietnam, Pentagon sources say.

The President announced Thursday that 45,000 to 50,000 more men will be deployed to the war zone in response to recommendations of top defense and military officials.

At the same time, he said, there is a possibility that because of increased military spending, defense expenditures for fiscal 1968 may exceed the $73 billion budget by up to $4 billion.

Exactly how high draft calls will go now is being determined in a Pentagon study of what the newly authorized 525,000-man level for Vietnam next summer will do to overall U. S. military strength.

Announced draft calls for the five months extending through September have risen to an average of about 23,000 a month. This reflects, in part, the Pentagon's move to meet its 1966-approved Vietnam manpower ceiling of 480,000

Sources said draft calls during the last quarter of this year likely will exceed 35,000 a month

As for spending, sources say Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara believes $2 billion in planned spending can be trimmed from the defense budget to offset partially the possible $4 billion overrun mentioned by the President.

Defense officials already are in the process of cutting back on fighter aircraft purchases. They say this is possible because of a lower-than-expected rate of losses over North Vietnam.

The level of U.S. forces in Vietnam now stands officially at 454,000 after a 7,000-man "statistical adjustment" by the Pentagon Thursday.

In addition to the 454,000 are 35,000 men in Thailand and 40,000 sailors in offshore vessels contributing to the war effort. This war force compares with the 472,800 men who served in or near Korea at the peak of that conflict.

The Pentagon said most of the 45,000 new troops will be Army. Sources said there will also be a certain number of Air Force and Navy units, mainly combat support elements.

No Reserve callup is expected, the Pentagon said.

Pope Reportedly Going to Moscow

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Rumors circulated in Vatican circles today that Pope Paul VI may be considering a trip to Moscow to meet Patriarch Alexis of the Russian Orthodox Church.

There was no confirmation

The trip was said to have been suggested to the Pope by Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras during their Christian unity meeting last week in Istanbul. The rumors said Athenagoras pointed out to the Pope that Alexis heads the largest Orthodox patriarchate.

Babies Steal the Spotlight

Two young men not old enough to know or care about politics or world affairs were in the news this week, by virtue of their connection with politically - minded families. Young Patrick Lyndon Nugent was deposited by the president's daughter and her husband for a bit of grandparent-sitting at the White House. President and Mrs. Johnson undertook the task with obvious pride, while the Patrick Nugents went off for a second honeymoon. Mrs. Johnson strolled with young Lyn on the White House lawn and all posed for family portraits together. Lyn slept through most of the session.

At Hyannis, Mass., the newest member of the Kennedy family, Patrick Joseph, was christened by Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kennedy has a brother, Edward Jr., and sister, Kara. The baby's godparents are his grandfather, Joseph P. Kennedy, and Miss Ann Gargan.

Sore Throat

Miss Universe, Sylvia Hitchcock, 21, Miami, was resting in comfort and feeling fine Wednesday after having had a tonsillectomy the day before at Doctor's Hospital, Miami.

There was a royal wedding this week. In Liechtenstein Sunday Crown Prince Hans Adam and Countess Marie Kinsky were married in the tiny nation, which celebrated the event with gaiety and feasting. Among guests was Queen Anne Marie of Greece, whose presence brought about special security guards.

The controversial Lord Harewood, who received the Queen's permission to remarry after his recent divorce, did just that Monday in New Canaan, Conn. His bride is the former Patricia Tuckwell. The couple flew back to London the day after the wedding.

Paris Chatters

In the world of fashion, Paris designers were having their say. Some spoke with hemlines at the knee, and others played see-saw with skirt lengths. What it all seems to promise is not much change in the immediate future.

A new kind of togetherness came out of New York this week, with the introduction of matching his and her wigs for teen-age steadies. It's meant to take the place of exchanging class rings or pins. Whatever happened to 'la difference'?

Jean Drucks Bride Of Peter Maher

NEENAH — Miss Jean Carol Drucks became the bride of Peter James Maher at 11 a.m. Saturday at St. Hedwig Catholic Church, Milwaukee. The Rev. Thomas Wittlift officiated at the double ring rite.

The former Miss Drucks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore G. Drucks, 1015 S. Commercial St. The bridegroom's parents are Dr. and Mrs David Bremner Maher, Winnetka, Ill.

Miss Shirley Ann Drucks, the bride's sister, attended as maid of honor. Mrs. Thomas Stelow, Miss Barbara Pearson and Miss Dianne Lau were bridesmaids.

George Newell, Northfield, Ill., performed the duties of best man. David Calhoun, Richard Kittner and Michael Murtagth were groomsmen.

A reception was held at the Western Racquet Club, Oak Creek.

The bride was graduated from Prospect Hall Secretarial School, Milwaukee. Her husband attended the Milwaukee School of Engineering and is employed by Johnson Service Co., Milwaukee.

After a honeymoon trip to Bermuda, the couple will live in Milwaukee.

Couple Plans October Rite

Mr. and Mrs. J. Alex McCaskey, Wautoma, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Clarice, to Kenneth A. Hoffman. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs George P Hoffman, 230 E Winnebago St

Miss McCaskey is a graduate of Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh and has taught three years in the Appleton Public schools Her fiance is with Wisconsin Wire Works

The wedding is set for Oct 14.

Teacher's Aide Gives 'Sneak Attention'

EDITOR'S NOTE—Eleanor Curry, a Negro, spent the 1966-67 school year as a teacher's aide in an all-white San Mateo elementary school on the San Francisco Peninsula. Here is her story as told in the district publication, Intercom.

By ELEANOR CURRY

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) — Only a few days after I reported for duty last October, a five-year-old described me to her mother. "There's somebody at school who dresses like our teacher and talks like her, but she's very, very dark What is she?

I don't know how her mother responded, but the next day the youngster ran up to me smiling and said, 'Come stand by me. I'll help you say the Pledge of Allegiance so you can learn about our country."

It was a somewhat shattering introduction to an experience that has turned out to be rewarding and revealing to me, and I hope meaningful and constructive to the children who at first regarded me as something from a museum.

As a Negro as the mother of eight children and as a citizen deeply concerned about education in our community I had hoped that I could make a contribution to the school district as a teacher's aide.

Supervisers Play

Some days I mixed paint, read a story or helped with a puppet show, depending upon the needs of the teachers and children in two kindergarten classes to which I was assigned During the lunch hour I organized games and supervised the play of older children

But probably my most important function was providing the "sneak attention" so many children need The teacher cannot interrupt the normal classroom schedule for this purpose

But as I relieved the teachers of numerous chores and routine duties, I noticed the restless, shy and lonely youngsters who seemed to need an extra amount of encouragement or individual attention During recess or at the first opportunity, I tried to fill in these gaps with a special compliment, a word, a smile or assistance.

At first the children were polite and curious about me—too polite, I thought later, when they looked away if I happened to catch their eye.

Ask Questions

Then the questions started coming. Rarely were they insulting or malicious; more often they were hesitant, tentative and honestly curious.

Since I was learning, too, how best to adapt my skills to the needs of each teacher and individual child, I could appreciate the children's needs to learn more about me

The first week a 5-year-old asked me, "Were you ever a baby?" I nodded.

"Were you ever a little girl?" I nodded again.

The youngster looked relieved and shouted, "Boy, am I glad!"

There were others who found it hard to believe that my hands were not always dirty, and I really was brown all over. Some decided that I had to be from Africa.

One day, during the lunch hour, a 9-year-old boy concluded that I was "Aunt Jemima." As I threw a ball back to him, I called him "Bob Hope." He retorted quickly, "My name's not Bob Hope." "And mine is not Aunt Jemima," I told him. After that we became good friends.

Acts Natural

Soon I stopped wondering whether the children would accept me as they would any of the other 80 teacher aides in the district. I tried to act as natural as possible.

Whenever a question arose about my origin or background, I tried to talk privately with the child, helping him to grow out of attitudes about which he seemed uncertain and sometimes fearful.

But I did keep wondering whether there were real, basic differences between these children and my own. Even after eight months, when the children and I felt quite relaxed and confident with each other, a 5-year-old said to me, "I still haven't figured out what you are, but you're nice."

Students Accept

I realized, however, that I was beginning to be accepted as part of the school structure when a very shy youngster saw me standing in the girls' line at recess.

"Why are you standing in that line? You're not a little girl! You're just an old teacher," he said, not realizing he had paid me a compliment

And I knew I had achieved real stature when a 10-year-old boy told me at lunch, "Hey, Mrs Curry, You're pretty keen but there's one thing wrong with you." I held my breath "You're too full of rules"

Language Barrier No Bar to Romance

When Miss Connie LaPean was graduated from Appleton High School-West on June 8, she had no idea her plans would take a sudden turn toward marriage Now, with her wedding only a day away, she is as excited as any bride the day before her nuptial rite, and still a bit surprised at it all

Miss LaPean and Enyat Soosani, 30, will be married at 2 30 p m. Saturday at First Congregational Church Mr. Soosani has been in America only nine months He arrived with no knowledge of English In spite of the obvious barriers to romance, the couple has struggled through language difficulties and fallen in love

Known as "Eddie," the bridegroom - elect came to Appleton with a friend, who has since married a Lawrence University coed Eddie and his friend came to the Fox River Valley because another friend, Ahrinan Haghprast, was a student at Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh. He has also married an Appleton girl, the former Miss Darlene Klein

Met at Work

Connie, daughter of Mr and Mrs Darwin LaPean, 237 E Calumet St , worked at Karras Restaurant during her senior year There, on a Sunday she met Eddie, who had to point out his choices on the menu Later, she ran into him and his friends by accident, and was asked to join their party

Eddie was so conscious of his language problems that he didn t talk to Connie for a month He always saw her with the group, then went home to study English He has been living with the Martin Kiepkes, friends of the former Miss Klein. They'll stand in for his parents at the wedding

Before the school term had ended Eddie proposed, and Connie refused. But little by little, as her family came to know and like him, Connie reconsidered When he asked again, on June 12, she accepted

Dinner, Reception

Connie and her family have planned a big wedding, with 120 invited to the dinner and 200 to the afternoon reception at Reetz' Supper Club

After they settle down in their own apartment, Eddie will go to the Neenah - Menasha Vocational School to improve his English, then wants to attend the Milwaukee Institute of Technology to study air conditioning engineering Back at home in Tehran he was an accountant

Connie gently helps her fiance as he explains he doesn't know his family's reaction to his wedding plans He wrote them early in July but hasn't had a reply yet When he's eligible for citizenship, Eddie says he'll apply In the meantime, Connie says she'd love to visit Iran some day to meet Eddie's family

Enyat Soosani and Miss Connie LaPean are opening wedding gifts this week and making plans for their first home The couple met in February, when Enyat, called 'Eddie,' spoke hardly a word of English He now communicates with comparative ease The couple will be married Saturday.

low from a spade suit headed by K-Q-10, so that South surely had a spade stopper

East counted 10 high-card points in the dummy and 9 in his own hand South needed 16 to 18 points for his opening bid of one notrump, which left only 3 to 5 points for West (If you count 4 for each ace, 3 for each king, 2 for each queen, and 1 for each jack, the complete deck always totals 40 points)

There wasn't much hope of defeating the contract unless West's five points consisted of the king of spades and the queen of hearts East therefore made the killing switch to the ten of hearts

Ten Is Needed

A low heart return would not hurt South Declarer would play low and West would have to put up the queen to top dummy's nine South would then have the ace-jack behind East's king

When East led the 10 of hearts South had to play the jack West won with the queen and returned a heart, trapping dummy's nine If declarer played low from the dummy, East would play the eight Declarer actually put up dummy's nine of hearts, and East covered with the king to drive out the ace

East got in with the queen of diamonds in time to cash the rest of the hearts West's king of spades then defeated the contract

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1-NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes You have S-A 5, H-K 10 8 2, D-Q 6 5, C-10 8 7 4 What do you say?

Answer. Bid two clubs (the Stayman Convention) If partner bids two hearts, you will raise to four hearts If partner bids anything but two hearts you will jump to three notrump

Your Problems

Technician 'Keeps Her Cool,' Saves Fellow Embarrassment

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS I am an X-ray technician in a hospital This morning a man was brought up for X-rays He was wearing a bathrobe When I asked him to remove his robe I assumed he had something on under the robe (most men do). I discovered, too late, that I was mistaken

After my initial surprise I composed myself and decided to ignore the situation and proceed as usual

Later that afternoon I was telling two other girls in the department what had happened I thought I had dealt with the situation well They said I did the wrong thing — that I should have told the patient to go back to the dressing room and put on his shorts. It developed into quite an argument and the girls became upset with me I am so unstrung about their bitter criticism that I decided to write for your common sense opinion — Suzanne

Dear Suzanne: The best approach is the one which causes the patient a minimum of embarrassment.

Sending the man back to put on his shorts would have humiliated the poor fellow. You coped with the situation admirably and I salute you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS I am in my 60's My wife is a few years younger We have been married 40 years My wife has never been employed outside the home which was all right with me She raised a nice family and I never asked her to take a paying job

Landers

Now that I am getting on in years I feel my energy ebbing I want to retire when I become eligible but my wife is against it

My income will be somewhat less if I retire, but we could manage on it I am beginning to resent my wife because she seems more interested in the paycheck than in my health Please tell me what you think — No Identification

Dear No I.D.: Perhaps your wife's objection has nothing to do with the paycheck. Maybe she is concerned with what retirement might do to you emotionally To some men, retirement means boredom if they have not planned ahead on useful ways to occupy their time. But if you want to retire, you have earned the right to do it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please be my mother substitute for a moment Mom is so unfair She just told me she doesn't care about me I know she doesn't mean it, but she said it

I am 17 and not allowed to go anywhere except to school-related activities and to church. My friends can go bowling, swimming skating to the movies and out on dates But not me Why doesn't my mother trust me? I am a good student and have never done anything that would make her question my morals Please tell me how I can get some freedom so life will be bearable — An Only One

Dear Only One: If you are 17 and a good student you should be thinking about college. Investigate the schools in another city and make your plans Don't let anything or anyone stop you. From the tone of your letter it's your only chance to escape from your mother's neurotic clutches

Knack of Knits

Fashions come and go, but knit fashions are always go-go Teeming with fresh ideas, fall knits are at the ready for immediate wear Anywhere and everywhere!

There's a weight, shape and shade of knit to meet every individual requirement By way of example, consider the modern classics well-tailored suits with pleated skirts and vests in great plaids sweaterv dresses, loosely belted, in newsy chocolate brown or black costumes of a cape and jumper in subtle color combinations like grape and pink

For mini fans, knits go medieval as a page in Arthur's Court The idea is a brief tunic over tights, worn with long vinyl leggings In this group, too, are pants suits, short in the leg and long in the jacket, sweaters, the minnest, skinniest ever

That brings us to the midi — the voluminous calf-length coats and capes posed over short-short dresses and pants dresses, and also the at-home dress falling slim as a test tube to mid-leg

In addition to diversity and versatility, knits have an affinity for accessories that make the fashion look It starts at the foot with deep tones often opaque at the leg A hat, designed in the vein of the costume, signs off with enormous flourish

That about sums up the knit-knack, a total fashion

Here's an effortless way to trim off heavy spots All you do is lie down or sit down, and flex your muscles If that's for you, send for Lazy Girl's Exercises Based on the isometric principle of exercise, routines trim head-to-toe figure Write Mary Sue Miller in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin

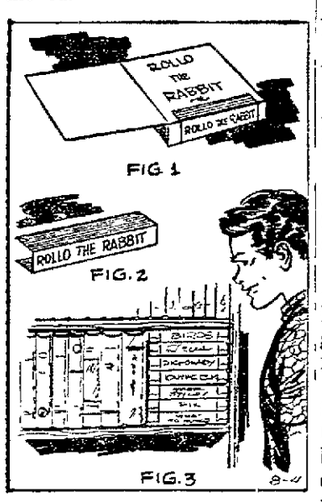
Title Tabs for Books Will Help You to Identify Them

BY CAPPY DICK

When books are stacked on a crowded shelf as in Figure 3, the titles may be concealed. This makes it difficult to select a desired book from the stack unless the whole pile is removed.



Stacked Volumes

To overcome this problem, the simple identification system illustrated in Figures 1 and 2 has been developed.

The only materials required are some pieces of white construction paper and a felt-tipped marking pen to use in printing the titles on the papers.

Fold each piece of paper as in Figure 2 so it will fit snugly around the pages of a book as in Figure 1. The covers of the book will hold it in place.

Use the marking pen to print the title of the book on the front of the folded paper as in Figure 2.

Make one of these identification tabs for each book to be stacked on the shelf. Pile the books in such a way that the identifying tabs face forward. It then will be easy to tell one book from another without disturbing the whole stack.

Words Often Misused: The adjective IDENTICAL is followed by WITH, while SIMILAR is followed by TO. Thus: "My plan is identical WITH yours," and "His manuscript is similar TO the others."

Often Mispronounced: Positively Accent first syllable, not the third.

Often Misspelled: Reverend (title for clergymen). Reverent (characterized by respect, sacredness).

Synonyms: Collect, gather, amass, accumulate, aggregate, hoard, collate, glean, sum, congregate, assemble, convene, muster, garner.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: FERVENT; warm in feeling, earnest; zealous. "It was his fervent desire to promote happiness among his neighbors."

Arteriosclerosis May Affect Work Efficiency

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I work for an organization whose boss is in his 70's. In the last two years he has progressively shown signs of senility and on two occasions had what seemed to be mild strokes.

His memory is failing, his speech at times halting and incoherent. He is often irritable. (He has always been a mild man.)

He is prominent in the community and has done much good work over the years, but those of us who are associated closely with him fear he will slowly destroy his good image. He avoids any talk of retirement and works more passionately now than he has ever worked, as far as hours go.

How can we tell if he has arteriosclerosis? How can we deal with this situation with charity and concern for him? We feel it would be best for all concerned if he would retire, but are afraid he will think we are trying to get him "out of the way."

Would you discuss this in general terms? We wish to do what is best for him and the organization. Is it ethical to speak to his doctor about this? — M.A.M.

Arteriosclerosis can be well advanced by the 70's. We all experience gradual hardening of the arteries, but the rate varies a good deal from person to person.

It could produce all the symptoms you say your boss has. The "mild strokes" could be part of the process, as well as leaving the residual effects you have mentioned.

But the real question isn't whether he "has arteriosclerosis." The real reason for any of us to get out of the driver's seat is that we no longer can do as good a job as needs to be done.

A physician can examine this man and make an accurate estimate of the condition of his arteries, but keep this in mind: There is no sharp line between the person who "has arteriosclerosis" and the person who does not. This is a progressive thing, and natural.

We start "getting old" the day we are born. Call it maturing, developing, ripening, aging, or what you will.

You must decide business matters on a business basis, health matters on a health basis.

You don't say whether the boss is president, sole owner, director, manager or what, but unless he is sole owner, it would seem to me that the decision is up to the board of directors, the executive committee, or whatever group is the ultimate authority.

No, I do not think you should go to his doctor. If the conditions and circumstances warrant it, you might go to the boss' family (wife or children) and tell them the situation. They then could talk to his doctor.

There is a place in the world for kindness and a humane regard for another's feelings. This applies to the boss who is coming to the end of his career, and I hope ways can be found to have him let go of the reins gently and willingly.

But I don't think the decision should be made on the basis that he "has arteriosclerosis." That has a bearing, of course, but the real question is whether he is still the right man for the top job.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 58 The veins in my face and head, especially around the temple, have become very pronounced. Blood pressure is normal. What would cause this? — Mrs. M.C.L.

This is not unusual. It is likely to result from loss of fat, or be more noticeable because of relaxed skin as we grow older.

Note to A.C.: Propantheline bromide (Pro Banthine) is not a "bile substitute." It is a relaxant, reducing spasm, and for that reason gives you relief.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Live Within Your Income

Uniform Gift to Minors Act Explains Support of Child

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Mary Feeley:

We have a problem in our family on which we get varying advice. Doubtless you can straighten us out.

Several years ago my husband wisely started investing money in stock in each of the children's names, with me as custodian, under the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act. The purpose was to have funds for their educations. The funds have grown until they are quite adequate to pay their entire college fees. This fall our daughter will enter college and our son will enter preparatory school.

The question is: How much of their money can be used toward school expenses and how much must we pay? Inasmuch as we desperately want to retire within the next three to five years and travel while we're young enough — my husband is 55 and I'm 51, with an annual income around $13,000 — we would prefer to use as much of the children's funds as possible so that ours may be reinvested to grow.

If, as we have been told, we do have to provide 51 per cent of their incomes in order to continue taking them as deductions, how in the world do we arrive at how much 51 per cent is? Would this involve detailed bookkeeping?

Or, perhaps, might we come out better by not taking the children as deductions and letting them pay all of their expenses? If so, could we later — if need be — start again taking one or both of them as deductions?

B. R. W., Hickory, N. C.

Dear B. W.:

As the custodian of the children's funds, you're entitled to spend on them — and only on them — whatever you deem advisable for support, maintenance, and education.

Considering this action from a tax standpoint: Technically, you're quite right that, to get the exemptions, the Internal Revenue Service will require proof that you and your husband, as parents, provided more than half of the children's support. Estimated costs of room and board at college and prep school, in addition to tuition, would help you determine whether it would pay you to contribute 51 per cent of their support. Minute details of support aren't really necessary for the IRS, as you could estimate their school costs plus clothing, plus medical and arrive at a fair figure.

As to whether it's worth your while to claim the children as tax exemptions, talk it over with your accountant. As you know, the ruling for each exemption reduces your taxable income by $600 — but the tax you would have to pay would depend on your tax bracket. You may find you'd do better by letting the children pay all their own expenses. You could claim one or both of them later on if you like.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I wish to start a savings account for a grandchild only 8 years old now. I want the account to stay intact, with dividends, until the child needs the money for educational or marriage purposes.

As I do not wish the account to be considered as part of my estate when I die, would I be able to have some control over it while I'm living? I have been advised that I can be a custodian with the parents.

Mrs. B. B., San Antonio, Tex.

Dear Mrs. B.:

I'm not sure just what you mean by having "some control" over such an account. If it's set up under the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act, all money in the account may be used only for the child, at the discretion of the custodian.

Only one person may be custodian of the same property at any one time, so you would have to decide whether it should be the mother, father, or you. Recently there has been legal comment on recent court cases indicating that it is best if the donor does not also become custodian. I suggest you talk to your lawyer before making this decision.

Residency for Executive Tried By University

American Can Co. Vice President First to Volunteer

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There are writers in residence, musicians in residence, artists and poets in residence on America's campuses, so why not a business executive in residence"

Dean Ossian MacKenzie, who heads the business college at Pennsylvania State University, asked himself why not Now Penn State has an executive in residence and the program is being studied and copied by other schools

Bruce Wiesley, vice president of American Can Co was the first He was followed by James Victor Jones of Armstrong Cork Co. A third executive may be named shortly

"It takes a lot of doing, a lot of organizing " said MacKenzie, "but this is one of the most stimulating things we've ever done "

Division Makers

The companies which provide the executives also must be stimulated because, as MacKenzie says, ' the men we want are in operating positions They must be in decision making capacities, on the firing line "

Says Wiesley, "It was damned interesting It was pleasant, but it was hard work They like to get the most out of you there, so they double the classes when you're on campus to get more milage out of you But that's just good business "

MacKenzie feels the same way It is imperative, he believes, for business to get the most out of the nation's business schools But the schools also must establish better rapport with business.

The choice of Wiesley, whose boss at American Can is among the university's visiting counsel, was especially timely. Wiesley is a marketing man, and so he and the faculty of the College of Business Administration developed a course in marketing procedures at the very time that truth in packaging legislation was being debated in Congress

Graduate Students

"I had 20 graduate students in my group," Wiesley explained. "We agreed on a selected list of topics with the faculty I met with the professors and we decided on subject material and developed a bibliography "

According to MacKenzie, Wiesley did a lot more too.

"The days Bruce spent here may have been among his hardest," said MacKenzie "He worked from 8 in the morning until 10 30 at night

"Our term is 10 weeks and he spent about three of those here on campus, a week at the beginning of the course, a week in the middle and then a week at the end " The third week was devoted largely to term papers

"In addition," said MacKenzie, "he spoke before some undergraduate honor students He also was a consultant to the faculty, which met in seminars of four or five persons "

American Can

During this time Wiesley was responsible for his position back at American Can, which approved highly of the program and which, Wiesley believes, would send another executive if asked

"This is a good way of bridging the gap between modern business, industrial life and the academic community " he says

Sometimes this gap is an abyss Time after time the business community is reported to be unhappy with business schools and to be seeking recruits from the liberal arts colleges

"But when they come to recruit they come to the business schools," MacKenzie says

"Business must be encouraged to support schools of business " he continues But he feels that some businessmen today believe that business schools are turning out bookkeepers as some of them did 25 years ago

The concept of a business school has changed markedly in recent years MacKenzie feels

Managerial Jobs

"Our objective is to educate men for managerial jobs Not bookkeepers Some will reach the top many will be in middle management many at junior levels "

The computer has advanced this change the dean says With it has come the development of information and organizational systems During this time management science also has been developing

Wiesley, at least came away impressed with both the school and students He is impressed with the fact that other companies also think highly of the business school product

Asked if he had attempted to recruit any student while he was there he replied "Yes, and I missed all three of them "

Reagan to Leave Hospital Saturday

SANTA MONICA Calif (AP — Gov Ronald Reagan recuperating from surgery is expected to leave St John's Hospital sometime Saturday

Reagan underwent surgery Monday that removed small bladder stones and a small "spot on his lower hp An aide said a biopsy taken on the tissue removed from the hp was ' totally negative ' showing no evidence of malignancy

Reagan plans to spend the weekend at his home in nearby Pacific Palisades

OBSERVING FIRST ANNIVERSARY — The Wisconsin Beef Capital, 2708 N Richmond St , and its two principals, Layne Carlson left and Larry Zander are holding two big fun days in observance of the first anniversary of the business in Appleton. The affair, slated for Saturday and Sunday on the company's grounds, is open to the public The firm has sold three quarters of a million pounds of beef in the Fox Cities (Adv.)

Service and Quality Equals Success in Span of One Year

A year ago two enterprising meat purveyors arrived in Appleton to open a unique meat sales business

In that span of a year the pair, Layne Carlson and Larry C Zander, with 22 years of experience in the meat business, under the business label of Wisconsin Beef Capital, 2708 N Richmond St , has sold three quarters of a million pounds of beef to customers in the Fox Cities

"We have removed all questions from purchasing meat, a major part of the family food budget," Zander explained "Every customer gets a first hand lesson in how to tell good beef, how it should be cut, how it can be used best on the dining table, and how it can be stored to best fit into the monthly family budget Every customer sees and checks his beef before it is cut Every step from cutting to flash freezing is done before the buyer's eyes He knows exactly how much he has to pay before the purchase "

"Our 'open-door' policy of permitting the buyer to see each individual step in the processing has been extremely successful in bringing us repeat business," Carlson said

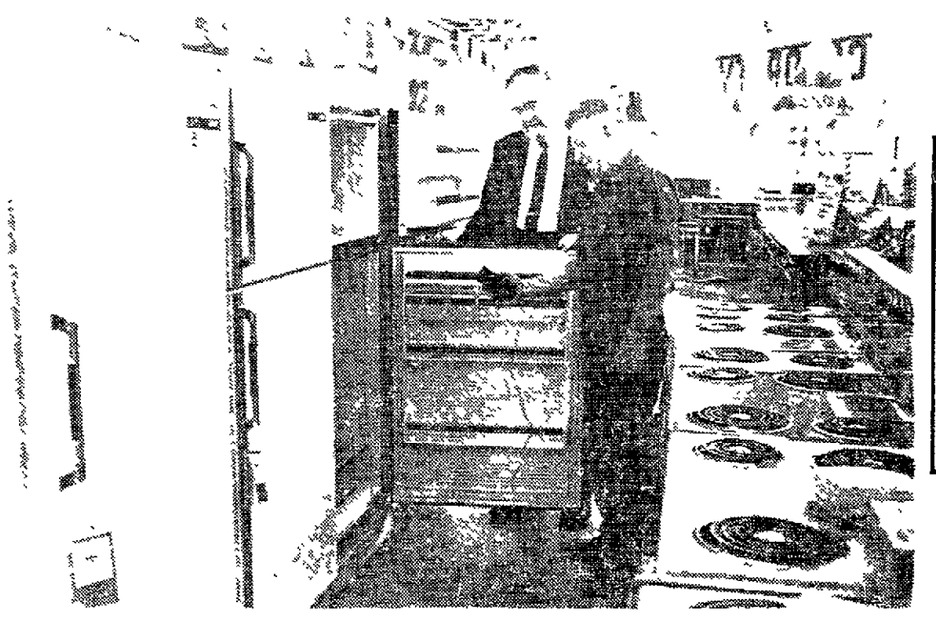
The Wisconsin Beef Capital is observing its first anniversary with two big fun days Saturday and Sunday on its grounds at 2708 N Richmond St , with games, prizes, refreshments, free pony rides for the little buckaroos and prizes for kiddies with the best western outfits, Zander said

There will be bar-b-que contests for the dads, winners getting a steak dinner for two Some lucky youngster will win one of several live ducks

Five prizes of twenty pounds of T-bone steaks each will be awarded during the two-day celebration Families attending may barbeque free for all members There will be street dancing at 8 30 Saturday night along with square dance exhibitions and lesson

A romantic touch is being added to the occasion with a mid-night wiener roast and sing-around

The entire affair is open to the public without charge (Adv.)



Gambles' Professional Serviceman, Paul Johnson, adjusts the temperature meter on a new Coronado refrigerator as Al Tank, Gambles' appliance manager, watches The Coronado refrigerator-freezer combination is equipped with the True-Zero freezer that freezes food as solid as all freezer units. The temperature in the freezer hovers between 0 and 10 degrees below zero Johnson, of Johnson's Appliance and Refrigerator Repair is always available for immediate service on all appliances Johnson has handled Gambles' service work for 12 years Appliances he services are refrigerators, freezers, electric and gas ranges, dryers, air conditioners, ringer and automatic washers, and others Gambles guarantees every appliance will be serviced immediately and expertly (Adv)

Oshkosh Votes to Join Council of Governments

Unanimous Ballot Makes City First Non-Fox Cities Member Of Former Valley Plan Group

BY EDITH BOCK
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Oshkosh will join the Fox Valley Council of Governments effective Jan. 1, the Oshkosh City council decided Thursday by a unanimous vote.

The city becomes the 13th member of the new council, which is the successor of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, organized in 1956. It is the first member municipality not in the Fox Cities.

City Manager Angus Crawford said Oshkosh's elective representative to the council. Council President William Manske, will attend meetings of the council between now and Jan. 1.

A motion by councilman Wallace Zahn to delay the decision for several weeks was quashed by a 5-1 vote. Councilman Robert Moser, one of the strongest advocates of membership, was delayed and missed voting on the measure.

"Nothing Stands Still'

Councilman Leonard Wright, who moved to join, said he generally opposes multiplicity of governments, but "nothing stands still." He said, "This city will soon be no more than three miles from Neenah. There are no municipal boundaries to air and water pollution and many other problems."

"We not only need assistance, we want it," he said.

Eugene Franchett, executive director of the council, told The Post-Crescent this morning that he was "very pleased" by the Oshkosh vote. "It is well that Oshkosh and the other members recognize the mutual advantages of Oshkosh's membership," he said.

He added that it was to Oshkosh's advantage to join at this time, because it will be part of a Fox Valley Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area after 1970.

Formed by Bureau

Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas are formed by the U.S. Census Bureau based on census tracting information. Members of councils of governments which belong to the same area are eligible for 20 per cent bonuses in federal funds for most capital improvements projects.

Franchett said representatives of Oshkosh and the council will meet to dovetail plans of the city and the council.

Oshkosh's membership in the council was first discussed publicly in early May, when Crawford recommended the city consider joining. A copy of his recommendation was sent to Franchett.

After the council was formed in June, it discussed membership by Oshkosh and invited the city to join.

Franchett appeared before the Oshkosh Council July 14 to describe the organization's structure and activities.

He said that Oshkosh's assessed valuation would amount to about 26 per cent of the total assessed valuation of member municipalities, and thus it would pay about 26 per cent of the budget, he estimated.

Oshkosh's membership extends the scope of the council to the south. The city is the first member not part of the metropolitan area of the Fox Cities, which runs from Neenah to Kaukauna. Crawford has suggested to Franchett that the towns of Vinland and Oshkosh, which lie between Oshkosh and Neenah, be invited to join.

Telephone Firm Will Expand Facilities

1,600 New Phone Numbers Added To Services

The Wisconsin Telephone Company announced today that facilities for placing local as well as long distance telephone calls will be expanded with equipment additions totaling almost $300,000.

Richard C. Van Sistine, local community relations manager, said that the bulk of the work will consist of installing complex switching equipment in the central office, located 126 N. Superior St. Included in the plans is some additional air conditioning equipment.

Van Sistine also reported that work is nearing completion on a $49,000 cable constraction project along Bennett and Richmond Streets on the city's north side.

The largest equipment addition is valued at $197,300 and will be used to expand facilities for placing local telephone calls.

1,400 New Lines

Van Sistine said, "This equipment will provide 1,400 new subscriber lines and 1,600 new telephone numbers. The Appleton switching center serves almost 39,000 telephones and handles an average of 185,000 originating calls a day."

Facilities for placing DDD (direct distance dailing) calls also will be expanded with the addition of two Automatic Number Identification (ANI) frames. "These frames are used for mounting the equipment which automatically records the number of the party making a direct distance dialed call," Van Sistine explained. "ANI equipment, which is associated with one and two-party service, eliminates the need of an operator

Work Will Begin On Interchange at College, U.S. 41

Work will begin Monday morning on the $1.6 million College Avenue-U.S. 41 traffic interchange project.

Kenneth Nelson, an engineering official with the Wisconsin Highway Commission's Green Bay district office, and Outagamie County Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson made the announcement today.

The first item of the construction program will be a temporary bypass road to skirt the interchange site.

Along with the bypass road, construction crews also will begin laying sewers for drainage of what will be the Spencer Street underpass of U.S. 41.

The bypass road will leave U.S. 41 south of Spencer and will move northbound traffic to the east along the highway's present route. Nelson said the bypass road probably will be put into use right after the Labor Day weekend.

Bypass Routes

Once the bypass goes into use, northbound U.S. 41 traffic will travel that route, while southbound U.S. 41 traffic will use regular lanes. During that time the W. College Avenue (State 125) bridge and underpass will be constructed for the regular northbound traffic lanes. When that work is finished, southbound traffic will move to the newly-constructed northbound lanes so that underpass and bridge work can be undertaken for the new southbound lanes.

Until the project reaches its late stages near the fall of 1968, College Avenue traffic will be able to intersect directly with U.S. 41. A detour route has been prepared for later.

"This starting hits our schedule practically right on the head," Nelson said.

Holder of the prime $1,634,626 contract for the project is Courtney and Plummer of Neenah.

Brownson's county highway department construction crews are now at work on a related project. They are extending W. College Avenue (County Trunk CA) from the interchange site west to Two Mile Road near the Outagamie County Airport.

Appleton Bid Denied by HUD

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) early this afternoon announced rejection of the City of Appleton's request for a $1.5 million water expansion program grant.

HUD officials, who had previously indicated the city's year-old application had met all technical criteria and was being considered for funding, said the proposed addition to the water treatment plant did not fall within scope of the federal aid program.

They also indicated that funds would not be made available for a pipeline because the Fox Valley Regional Plan Commission has indicated Appleton has a 4 million gallon reserve capacity.

Federal officials added that monies would be made available at a time when Appleton, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and other Fox Valley communities decided to enter into a regional water program.

WERC Rules School Board Committed No Unfair Practice

Argue Refusal to Grant Release To Unionized Appleton Teachers

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

In precedent-setting action today, the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC) said the Appleton Public School District Board did not commit unfair labor practices against unionized teachers.

The commission, formerly a board (WERB) before the Kellett Plan reorganization, ruled against the Wisconsin Federation of Teachers AFL-CIO.

Dating back to last year, the dispute centered on the school board's refusal to grant members of the teachers union time off to attend the annual Federation parley at Milwaukee.

Members of the Appleton Education Association, which is the recognized bargaining representative for all public school teachers, were allowed to attend the Wisconsin Education Association, with which AEA is affiliated, conference without being docked.

Different Dates

Until last year, both the Wisconsin Education Association and State Teachers Federation held separate annual meetings at Milwaukee on the same dates. Schools were closed to permit teachers to attend the conferences.

But this arrangement came to a halt when the teachers' union decided to hold its convention on different dates.

Supt. William Spears and the Appleton Board of Education then informed the unionized teachers they would not receive pay for their absence in attending the Federation of Teachers conference.

Union representatives countered that they were entitled to the same treatment as that accorded members of the American Education Association.

City Atty. David Geenen represented the joint Appleton School District in all actions before the WERC, the latest hearing held at Madison recently.

Geenen held that teacher convention dates had been negotiable and set through an agreement with the AEA and school board.

One of the key points in the WERC decision was that it had been a historical practice of the Wisconsin Education Association and Wisconsin Federation of Teachers in holding their annual convention on the first Thursday and Friday in November of each year.

And the state labor board cited that teacher convention dates included in the school calendar adopted by the board of education on Dec. 13, 1965 were deemed satisfactory to presidents of both the local teacher association and Appleton Teachers' Union.

No Interference

The WERC determined that when the school board did not pay teachers who attended the union convention Oct. 6 and 7 last year, it "did not interfere, restrain or coerce any of the teachers in its employ, with regard to their right to engage in any concerted activity on behalf of the WFT, the FTU, or any other employe organization of their choosing."

One member of the three-man WERC commission — Zel S. Rice II — noted that while he concurred in the decision to dismiss the complaint, he did so only for the reason that the Appleton Teachers Union agreed to the dates established in the teacher calendar convention dates.

Rice said had the union not done so he would have dissented.

While the cases were tried separately, today's decision by the WERC also had the same effect on similar actions involving the Fond du Lac, West Bend, Kenosha, Two Rivers, Milwaukee and Madison school systems.

Set Bond at $200 for Trying to Elude Officer

Bonds totaling $200 were set this morning for Susan Love, 207 S. Memorial Drive, who was charged by Appleton police with attempting to elude an officer and speeding 48 miles per hour in a 25 zone.

Miss Love, who appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, filed an affidavit of prejudice against Judge Gustave J. Keller and the case was continued for assignment to another judge.

Appleton police said the alleged offenses occurred about 7:30 p.m. July 20 on W. College Avenue.

Passenger Hospitalized After 2-Car Accident

Mrs. Bernard Hinc, 120 N. Story St., suffered bumps and bruises when the car she was in collided with another auto about 2:40 p.m. Thursday at Harris and Story streets.

Mrs. Hinc was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital. She was in a car driven by Anne M. Hoffman, route 1, DePere, which was northbound on Story when it collided with an eastbound car driven by Alvera A. Stoegbauer, 406 N. State St.

What Would He Have Done Had He Seen More?

DeWayne Wilken, 609½ W. College Ave., found a wallet in the alley behind his home Wednesday night.

He took the wallet to the police station, and police found identification inside showing it belonged to a Menasha man. Also inside where seven checks ranging in amounts from $109 to $133. There was no money.

Or so they thought until the owner's wife came to the station to claim her husband's wallet.

She made a quick check and found that the $1,000 bill was still "wadded up" in the bottom of the same compartment that contained the checks.

Pint-Size Swim Classes Scheduled at YMCA

A pint-size swim program for children 4 to 6 years of age will be offered Aug. 7 through Aug. 24 by the Appleton Family YMCA.

The class schedule is 9 to 9:45 a.m. for the first class; 9:45 to 10:40 a.m., second class; 10:30 to 11:15 a.m. third class; 2 to 2:45 p.m. fourth class and 2:45 to 3:30 p.m. for the fifth class. Parents can register their children for Mondays and Wednesdays or Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Children must be accompanied by parents. The fee is $5 per child.

Law Committee Asks Change In Process Server Proposal

Enforcement Group Backs Own Plan to Hire on Contract Basis

Members of the Outagamie County Board's law enforcement committee will support their proposed regulations for a process server at the monthly board meeting Tuesday.

The decision Thursday afternoon means the committee will oppose another set of regulations proposed by the personnel committee and adopted Wednesday by the executive committee.

"Their own resolution says that our committee has made 'intensive and careful study'," Supv. John Schrieter (Appleton 7th) said.

"But they're going to try to tell us what to do," he complained.

"If they want to do a high caliber job, they've got to believe that we've heard all the facts," Supv. Eugne Kloes (Appleton 5th), added.

The resolution which will go before the county board provides for a salary under Civil Service, starting at Grade 14.

The new member of the sheriff's department would be limited to serving official papers, and would furnish a car, with expenses of 10 cents per mile being paid on papers served.

The law enforcement committee had recommended that the process server be contracted by the county, with a car being furnished.

Committee members indicated they will attempt to amend the executive committee resolutions. That measure passed the executive committee by a 10-1 vote.

The lone dissenting vote was cast by Supv. George Gresich (Appleton 4th), a member of both committees.

In other action, the committee instructed Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath to draw up a resolution on the mutual aid compact. The compact is a reciprocal agreement between law enforcement agencies of counties to provide for the exchange of policemen in emergenries.

Committee members said the resolution should specify that the county will pay for such services and will expect to be paid if it sends men to another county.

Rev. D. A. Manker

Cleric Named President of State Group

The Rev. Dayton A. Manker, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist Church for the past four years, has been elected president of the Wisconsin Conference, Wesleyan Methodist Church of America.

In his new capacity he will serve as administrative consultant to 26 Wesleyan churches in the state. The minister has not yet selected his headquarters but has announced that he is considering either Appleton or Eau Claire.

Before coming to Appleton, Pastor Manker served a parish in Miltonvale, Kan., and was president of the North Michigan Conference for 19 years.

He is an author, lecturer and evangelist. Recent tours have included Australia and the Orient.

Man Pays for Keeping Junked Auto in Yard

Julius N. Cumber Sr., 64, 1438 E. Pauline St., was fined $50 and costs or 24 days in jail this morning after he pleaded guilty of keeping a junked car in his yard.

Appleton police arrested Cumber July 28. The man appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Beer, Pop Missing From Kaukauna Trailer

KAUKAUNA — A case of beer and two cans of pop were taken sometime after 10 p.m. Thursday from the camping trailer in the driveway of the Charles Bodde home, 137 Garfield St.

Bodde reported the theft early today.

Appleton Tot Sustains Head Laceration in Fall

Jeffrey Priebe, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Priebe, 1319 E. Gunn St. was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital about 4:30 p.m. Thursday when he fell against a phonograph in his home.

Appleton police said the boy suffered a head laceration.

Dog Law Violations Charged to Three

Three Appleton residents were fined in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 this morning on dog law violation charges brought by Appleton police.

Arlo Callahan, 53, 733 W. Third St., was fined $15 and costs or eight days in jail for allowing his dog to run at large. The arrest was made July 29.

Mrs. Floyd Kiefer, 915 N. Badger Ave., and Virginia Lemke, 1807 N. Meade St., forfeited $24 bonds each this morning on charges of failing to have their dogs licensed.

Rescue Suad Called

The Appleton Fire Department rescue squad was called at about 2:15 p.m. Thursday to assist Melissa Littlefield, two-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Littlefield, 531 N. Lawe St., when the infant began choking on strained baby food.

Firemen said the baby had recovered by the time they arrived.

Broken Sprinkler Head Results in False Alarm

A broken sprinkler head caused an alarm which brought seven units of the Appleton Fire Department to Telulah Mill, 515 S. Lawe St. at 8:20 a.m. today.

Firemen said that a tow motor was carrying a high load, which hit the sprinkler pipe, causing the false alarm.

Return of Overcharges?

Price Investigations May Benefit Appleton

The City of Appleton stands to benefit considerably from any settlements or judgments arising out of a price-rigging investigation of the copper, brass tubing, pipe and plumbing fixture industries.

This indication came today in a letter to City Clerk Elden Broehm from Bronson LaFollette, attorney general, whose office has launched "an all-out investigation" of alleged overcharges.

Appleton, along with other municipalities in the state, is cooperating with the attorney general's investigation by supplying information of purchases made since 1955.

During the past year, Appleton has received more than $12,000 in rebates in settlements of other anti-trust suits instituted by the state against various industries.

More Construction

LaFollette reminded local officials he previously sent them one questionnaire but since then his office received information the city constructed major sanitation facilities since 1955 and requested detailed information on the projects.

Finance Director Henry Schreve, who compiles the information for the state, said he was "still running some past projects down."

Schreve said Appleton had well over $10 million worth of projects in which copper, brass, piping and plumbing fixtures were purchased and installed.

Cost Millions

Among them are multi-million dollar sewage treatment plant additions, construction of new public schools and a new municipal garage.

A considerable amount of sewer work has also been undertaken by the city over the past decade using special types of piping.

"Since the projects involve large expenditures, we are sure that a significant amount of copper and brass tubing and piping is incorporated within them," LaFollette wrote.

He said the investigation was progressing rapidly and complete information was needed as soon as possible, including quantity or dollar value of purchases made, and the names of contractors who installed plumbing or other related facilities.

The city presently is completing about $7 million dollars worth of school buildings, including senior high and elementary facilities.

Union Backs Social Security Change

Byrnes Warns of Tax Impact of UAW Proposal

On the eve of a scheduled United Auto Workers Union-sponsored Social Security rally in Green Bay, Eighth District Republican Rep. John Byrnes has issued a statement in which he warns about the tax impact the UAW-proposed Social Security legislation would bring.

In separate letters to Gordon Van Der Wyst, Appleton, representative of UAW Local 1335 in Appleton, and Andy Gilling, Green Bay, from UAW Local 1102, Byrnes said that while it's important that consideration be given to the desirability of improved benefits, "you will also want to discuss the problem of how they are to be paid for."

Democratic U.S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin will speak at the 2 p.m. Saturday rally in the Brown County Arena. The meeting is being sponsored by Appleton and Green Bay UAW locals.

Cost is One Factor

"While cost is not the only factor," Byrnes said in the letter which he wrote from Washington Wednesday, "it must necessarily enter into any responsible attempt to amend the Social Security laws, since added benefits can only be paid for by our people through additional taxes."

Byrnes said he has questioned Robert Myers, chief actuary of the Social Security Administration, about the cost of tax impact of Social Security changes advocated by the UAW, and was provided with these figures:

"First, the combined employe-employer tax rate to finance the additional benefits proposed would eventually rise from the presently-scheduled 11.3 per cent to 18 per cent; wages subject to tax would rise from the $6,600 to $15,000 and the maximum combined tax would rise from $746 to $2,592, or over 300 per cent.

"(Walter Reuther, president of the UAW, pointed out before our committee that it was his opinion that the wage earner ultimately absorbs the entire cost of the Combined Social Security tax. To a man earning $7,500, this would mean absorbing an annual cost of $1,242, for example.)

"Second, the UAW has suggested that part of the increased cost be paid for from the general funds of the Treasury. If this is done, the cost to the Treasury for old age and disability insurance would be $20.1 billion annually by 1973 and, for the health insurance programs, $3.7 billion. This $24 billion additional expenditure yearly must be considered in the light of the current $20-$30 billion deficit facing the Treasury.

"Third, the UAW proposal would require an increase from $3 to $10.63 a month in the premium paid by our retired citizens for the supplemental medical program."

Byrnes is the ranking Republican member of the House Ways and Means Committee which Wednesday, after over five months of deliberation, reported out a bill providing for a $3.2 billion increase in Social Security benefits, about $1.2 billion less than proposed by President Johnson.

Major points of the House bill, which probably will come up for consideration within two weeks, are:

Provide at least a 12½ per cent increase in benefits for Social Security recipients, effective the second month after enactment.

Raise Social Security taxes beginning with a maximum $44 hike next year, to pay the cost of the increases and try to keep pace with still-soaring hospital and medical costs.

Make a number of changes in the conditions for federal participation in state welfare and medicaid programs, generally in the direction of limiting the extension of medicaid eligibility and of encouraging work training and job requirements for some categories of welfare recipients.

Referring to the Ways and Means bill, Byrnes said that while it does not embody most of the UAW proposals, "I hope you will be able to agree to support it as serving the best interests of all of our citizens."

Buckley Veto Usual

Out-of-State Conclaves Get City Council Push

Mayor George Buckley, usually quick on the draw when it comes to vetoing out-of-state convention trips, admitted Thursday he has mixed emotions about the American Public Works Congress at Boston Oct. 1-5.

By a 15 to 5 vote, the city council Wednesday night authorized the director of public works and two members of the city's street-sanitation committee to attend the congress at city expense

Last year it was at Chicago, and in 1965 in Detroit, with the city having representation at both.

Some strong words were spoken in defense of sending municipal employes and aldermen to national events, along with criticism that the mayor for the past two years has not attended the National Congress of Cities — leaving Appleton without any representation.

Ald. James Bethke (9th) set the stage for debate when he asked for a separate vote on the portion of the committee report authorizing three local representatives to go to Boston. He was one of five aldermen voting against it.

Groh Levels Blast

The main blast leveled at the mayor's policy of vetoing trips when they cover more distance than Chicago came from Ald. R. P. Groh (8th), who said the national public works congress had always proven worthwhile.

"I would say some of the national meetings attended by municipal personnel have been most fruitful, eventually resulting in improved services and economies on the part of the city in some of its operations," Groh said.

Groh said it was time for the council and others in the community to "rebel against staying within the cloister of the city limits."

"Appleton just can't afford to put up a wall and not know what's going on outside of the region," Groh exclaimed.

Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), committee chairman and a main force in helping guide the College Avenue reconstruction project, listed several areas in which the city benefitted — and in instances reduced costs — as result of information received at last year's public works congress. He said the results came either through meetings or contacts with other municipal officials from other parts of the country.

Buckley has asked the finance director for a written report by Monday on whether funds have been budgeted for the Boston trip.

File Petition For Manager

Neenah Citizens Force Balloting On Proposed Change

NEENAH — The first step in putting the council-manager question before the public was taken late this morning when petitions, bearing 1,093 signatures, were filed with Clerk-Comptroller R. V. Hauser.

Mowry Smith Jr. and Gordon Spice, two of the 10-member committee of Citizens for City Manager, made the presentation at 11 a.m. today.

Hauser said the petitions would be presented to the council at the Aug. 16 meeting and then the signatures would have to be certified to make the request effective.

The number of signers gives the committee more than 100 over the necessary amount to put the question before the public at the next election.

Election

Although no special election has yet been called in Neenah, the CCM and several aldermen feel the matter should be settled this November to determine the status of the candidates at the regular April 2 balloting.

The citizens committee had announced a goal of 2,000 signatures when the petitions went into circulation on June 2. However, members pointed out vacations and the limited political activity during the summer had lowered the final count.

Trading Active On Wall Street

Stocks Advance To New Highs This Afternoon

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced toward new peaks for the year early this afternoon. Trading was active.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.30 at 925.28.

This topped the 1967 closing high of 922.27 made on Wednesday and Wall Street waited to see whether market strength would last long enough to make a new high at the close.

Gainers outnumbered losers more than 2 to 1.

Blue chips were somewhat laggard at the start when the overall market was doing better than key stocks in the average. As the session continued, the high-quality stocks performed better.

The initial shock of President Johnson's request for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes seemed to have worn off completely. Most of the loss taken on first news of Johnson's message was recouped in late trading Thursday.

AP Average Up

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 at 342.3 with industrials up 1.5, rails up 6 and utilities off .2.

Du Pont, continuing its latest upsurge from the start of trading, was up another 3 points or so

Among other blue chips, Montgomery Ward rose more than a point along with Johns-Manville and Procter & Gamble.

Gains of about a point were posted also for Lorillard, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Eastern Air Lines, Xerox, Boeing, Raytheon and General Dynamics.

All Big Three autos took fractional losses. Most of the top steelmakers performed similarly

Gulf & Western Industries was the volume pacemaker, advancing well over a point.

Among other actively traded issues, Motorola gained more than 2 while advances of a point or more were made by Allis-Chalmers, Studebaker, Eastern Air Lines and Fairchild Camera

Prices rose on the American Stock Exchange

Chicago Produce

CHICAGO (AP) — (USDA) — Potatoes arrivals 42, on track 128, total U S shipments 122, supplies light, demand good, market for long whites slightly stronger, for round reds firm; carlot track sales: California long whites 4 00-4 35; Texas round reds 4.25.

New Waste Containers Distributed

City officials have taken action to help litterbugs help themselves.

Waste containers for general public use are being stationed in various parts of the city.

They are being distributed by the municipal sanitation division with the requests of the aldermen being given preference.

It was felt the aldermen knew the main areas in their wards where the cast aluminum receptacles would do the most good.

The white with green lettering "Waste Only" containers are on College Avenue, Wisconsin and on each side of city hall.

Only 30 were ordered under budget limitations of the street-sanitation committee but officials hope to purchase several additional containers.

'Litter Catchers'

Action Postponed One Year

Joint NM Plans Post Considered

NEENAH — The possibility of engaging a planner to coordinate redevelopment efforts in both Neenah and Menasha was introduced to members of the Redevelopment Authority of the City of Neenah (RACON) Thursday.

However, commissioners felt the need hadn't yet arisen for such a joint planner on a full-time basis and decided to hold off action until next year.

The staff of the Fox Valley Council of Governments offered its services on a "limited basis" until a full-time planner for both cities became a necessity.

Arno Haering Jr., of the FVCOG, said staff members would serve as liaisons between the two redevelopment authorities and could provide some secretarial work for the authorities.

Abbott Byfield, RACON chairman, said he had spoken with officials of the state Department of Resource Development in Madison who suggested Neenah engage part-time staff assistance.

Neenah and Menasha both had the same needs, a planner They pointed out that since could be split between the two communities.

Haering noted the FVCOG could be the "umbrella agency" which could handle the hiring of a planner for the two cities when the need arises.

Wayne Bryan, public works director and a RACON commissioner, noted the authority should find out what a half-time planner would cost, as well as the salary of a legal counsel, in order to submit requests for the 1968 municipal budget.

Bryan said the formal RACON budget should be in the hands of the city clerk by Oct. 15.

Timetable Calls For Substation Within Year

MENASHA — The special fire department substation committee has agreed on a price range of $60,000 to $75,000 and a rough timetable ending a year from now for the opening of headquarters for fire protection of the northern edge of the city.

Committeemen also agreed prompt action is needed if a new pumper truck is to be delivered by then.

Committeeman Richard Hansen explained plans for the stationhouse from rough drawings prepared in the city engineering department and volunteered during a meeting Thursday night to draft a letter inviting architects to take on the job.

Mayor Kenneth Holmes was to send out invitations to local firms. The committee agreed to interview architects in about two weeks.

Meanwhile, the mayor said he would add the topic to the agenda of a special meeting of the common council scheduled for Monday evening. The committee agreed that there is less urgency about hiring an architect and pressing ahead with the project itself than there is need for prompt council action to issue bonds to borrow funds for the substation and other pending projects

Wisconsin Cheese

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin cheddar cheese prices were ¼ cent higher on the barrel style but were otherwise unchanged this week, the agricultural marketing service said today.

Demand was mostly fair with supplies ranging from adequate to excessive, the service noted. The demand lacked the aggressiveness of several weeks ago. Hot and dry weather continued to cause a seasonal drop in production.

American cheese production in the nation for the week ending July 27 was down 4 per cent from the previous week at 26.5 million pounds.

However, this output was 12 per cent above the five-year average and 8 per cent ahead of this time last year.

The state's Swiss cheese market was steady on top grades but unsettled to weak on the lower offerings. Supplies of grade A block were generally adequate, grades B and C were fully ample and grade D was termed plentiful with a few sales as low as 39 cents.

Demand on top grades of Swiss was mostly fair. Buying activity was seasonally slow and unaggressive.

Weekly Winners In Trap Shooting Test Announced

TUSTIN — Winners of individual and team matches of trap shooting sponsored by the Poygan Restoration Association have been announced by publicity chairman Arthur Hepburne.

Al's Red Owl Store, New London, for the fourth consecutive week remains in first place followed by the "Bridge" team and Brasch's House of Cheese.

C. Hagen of Illinois took first place in the men's individual shoot with a perfect score of 25.

Mrs. Ronald Abbott placed first in women's competition. The William Hildebrand family, Medina, gave a family marksmanship exhibition

Matches are staged each Thursday evening and Sunday afternoon at the range on County Trunk HH, two miles east of Bloomfield.

Green Bay Cheese

GREEN BAY (AP) — Fairly active trading at the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange Friday saw trading levels reduced on some selected styles.

At close, sales were five cars state brand barrel 40¾; three cars state brand barrel 40½ (including last sale).

Bids not filled—none.

Offers not covered—six cars state brand barrel 40¾; two cars state brand, 60-lb. blocks, white, 42½; three cars state brand 40-lb blocks, white, 42½; one car state brand pasteurized single daisies 46; one car equivalent Wisconsin "C" Swiss 41 and one car equivalent Wisconsin "D" Swiss 39.

Chicago Mercantile

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Mercantile Exchange — Butter 93 score AA 66; 92 A 66; 90 B 64¼; 89 C 59¼; Cars 90 B 65; 89 C 60¾.

Eggs 75 per cent or better mediums 26; standards 25.

July Rambler Sales Above Those in 1966

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. said Wednesday car sales in July were 4 per cent higher than for July of 1966. Deliveries in July were 19,442, compared with 18,678 for the same period last year.

Dealers in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan boosted their July sales 77 per cent over the same month a year ago.

Trophy, Ribbon, Cash Awards

Quarter Horse Events Scheduled in Manawa

MANAWA — Horse enthusiasts will converge here for two registered quarter horse shows scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at the rodeo arena.

The Rodeo City Riders Saddle Club, Manawa is sponsoring the Saturday show and the Tri-County Saddle Association, Appleton is in charge of Sunday's show.

Each show will have 14 halter classes beginning at 8:30 a.m. They include yearling, two-year, three-year, and four-year and older horses in the mare, stallion and gelding divisions, plus weanling filly and colt classes.

Select Champions

In addition, a grand champion and reserve champion will be selected in each sex group. A youth showmanship class is also scheduled.

The afternoon performance classes will begin at 1:00 p.m. each day and include junior western pleasure, junior reining, pole bending, senior western pleasure, senior reining, barrel racing, western riding, and working cow horse. There will also be three youth activity western horsemanship and reining, with the latter replaced by barrel racing in the Sunday program The Sunday show will have one additional class, open western horsemanship for riders age 19 and over.

The awards on Saturday include a trophy halter and six ribbons in each class, lettered blankets to the three grand champions and prize money in the performance classes. A trophy belt buckle and six ribbons will be awarded in all classes on Sunday, plus a trophy desk set to the grand champions and money in the performance classes.

High Point Trophy

In addition, a high point trophy and $25 cash will go to the horse earning the most points at the two shows in both halter and performance classes.

Jack Brainard, a quarter horse breeder from Rochester, Minn., will judge the Saturday show and Kenneth R. Eckar, Argos, Ind., will be judging Sunday.

Both shows are approved as official point shows by the American Quarter Horse Association, the Wisconsin Quarter Horse Association and the Badger Quarter Horse Association.

Stabling Provided

Stabling for the horses will be provided at the fair grounds at Weyauwega and in private barns in the Manawa area.

A dance will be held at the rodeo grounds Saturday evening featuring country and western music. A lunch and refreshment stand will be serving throughout the weekend.

Mary Simons, New London and Carol Woldt, Appleton are secretaries for the Saturday and Sunday shows respectively. Lyle Spiegelberg, Manawa is general chairman.

Burning Cross Placed In Bear Creek Lawn

Outagamie County police were called to the Paul Downs home on State 76 in Bear Creek early today when a wooden cross was discovered burning in his front lawn.

Police said the cross, which was partially burned, was about four by three feet in size. Investigation is continuing.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton J. Arps

PROSPECTOR DAYS DRAWING PAYS OFF

At a recent Prospector Days Drawing held at Empire Realty's Florida Division office at 215 Main Street, Menasha, Mrs. Milton J. Arps was selected the winner of Empire's Trip to Florida Award.

Milt and Marge Arps are well known in the Valley for their outstanding restaurants. The Manor House is located in downtown Appleton while the Edgewater is on the River at Menasha. "The Crown" is a beautiful newly remodeled restaurant located on South Oneida Street in Appleton.

"The Crown" has been a lifetime goal for Milt, who even while serving in the Marine Corps had dreams of some day offering the finest, most interesting restaurant in the state.

The "Alex's" story is one of third and fourth generation family participation. In addition to Milt and Marge, their two sons John and Jim have studied extensively and now contribute their experience to the "Alex's" operation at both "The Crown" and the "Edgewater".

Milt says that though his 28 years of restaurant experience has helped, still he had to wait for his crew to "grow" to make his lifetime dream a reality.

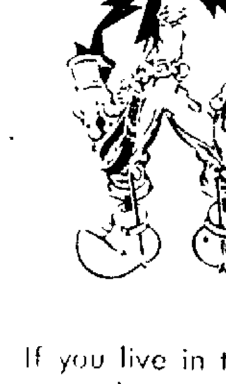
The dedication of the family has been recognized by six first prize Culinary Awards from The Wisconsin Restaurant Association, three first prize Menu Awards from the National Restaurant Association, and a recent award for having one of the Outstanding Wine Lists and Services in the United States.

The Arps will be accompanying Empire's trip to Florida on August 19th and will visit Marco Island while there.

Empire Realty Co. of Wisconsin, Ltd., in addition to selling local real estate in the Fox River Valley, also is franchised representative for the famous Mackle Bros., developers of Spring Hill, Marco Island and Deltona, Florida.

First and second runnerups were Mr. Robert Allen, Menasha, and Mr. George Wenzel of Menasha. Mrs. Gertrude Parker of Menasha won a similar trip last year.

TOWN OF HARRISON



residents within 2 miles of County Trunk N will have a temporary interruption

OF ELECTRIC SERVICE

Early Saturday Morning, August 5
2:30 a.m. to 5 a.m.

If you live in the Town of Harrison within two miles of County Trunk N, your electricity will be temporarily turned off early tomorrow morning from 2:30 a.m. to 5 a.m.

Service will be restored sooner, if possible.

This interruption is necessary so Wisconsin Michigan Power Company crews can safely make permanent repairs to a line recently damaged by lightning. To cause the least inconvenience, this work is scheduled at night when most people will be asleep.

After electric service is restored, please reset your electric clocks and other automatic equipment.

Consider Plan For Improved Refuse Pick-Up

Weekly Combined Service May be Begun in Fall

A broad plan calling for weekly combined garbage-rubbish collections throughout Appleton—a major improvement over the present system — is being considered by the city's 20 aldermen.

It was submitted by the street-sanitation committee to the Appleton Council earlier in the week, and contained a complete outline of the new program to be carried out by the department of public works

"The proposed new system of collection garbage and trash in residential and commercial areas of the city will reduce the total cost of operations and provide improved service," commented Roy Pointer (14th), committee chairman.

Appleton now has every-other-week trash collection and twice-a week garbage pickup service. Garbage and trash must be separated under the existing system, which was put into operation about two years ago and has proven successful, according to city officials.

Up until the early 1960's Appleton had a once-a-month trash collection program.

Improved Service Possible

Long-range studies conducted by the department of public works at the request of the street-sanitation committee have revealed that improved service can be given in the community.

The high points of the proposed combined garbage-trash pickup call for containers to be put at the curb by 7 a.m. of the day to be collected, and the matter to be picked up will not have to be in separate containers.

However, one stipulation will be that loose material be put into containers not exceeding a 50 pound or 30 gallon capacity, and having handles and tight-fitting covers.

The regulation is to combat the possibility of trash blowing about neighborhoods when put at the curb for collection the night before.

Other specifications, which will be subject to amendment by aldermen if they see fit at the next council meeting, are that:

—Paper boxes, cartons or crates must be broken down and tied in small bundles.

—Newspapers not in covered containers will not be accepted unless tied in bundles.

—Tree limbs and brush must be cut and tied in bundles not over four feet long and two feet in diameter.

No Hot Ashes

—Hot ashes will not be accepted, nor will material resulting from building or remodeling of structures, including masonry or concrete.

The new combined collection plan was worked out by Public Works Director Frank Keuler with the assistance of Hollis Brousard, sanitation division superintendent.

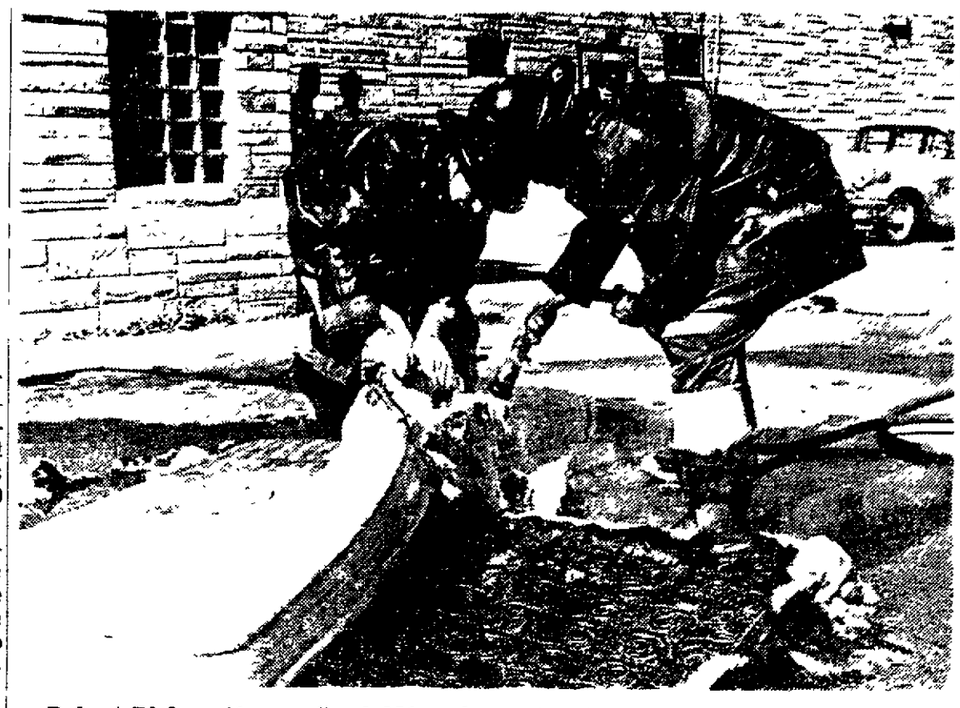
If given council approval, the program could result in a cutback in expenditures for departmental equipment required to handle the city's garbage-trash collection load.

Bins would be used in the commercial areas, resulting in a streamlined collection system.

Officials visited other cities in Wisconsin and Michigan where similar programs are in effect when they compiled their report on what could be done locally.

Pointer explained the committee wanted to get the proposed plan in the hands of aldermen to give them at least two weeks to study it and come up with constructive recommendations.

The target date for putting the combined collection program into operation is Sept. 1.



Robert Blohm, 41, was fined $50 and costs in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 this morning as a result of this mattress fire which he caused by smoking in bed in his apartment at 317 N. Appleton St. about 4 p.m. Thursday. A bartender in the tavern below Blohm's apartment had the burning mattress outside when firemen arrived. There also was damage to the walls and bed in Blohm's room. The man told police he fell asleep while smoking.

Village Board Refuses Zone Change Bid

Unanimous Vote Shows Fear of Landslide in Area

COMBINED LOCKS — A proposal to rezone the Michael Gostas property on Pump Street from residential to heavy industrial was unaminously rejected Tuesday night by the village board.

Although the zoning change was recommended by the village plan commission, board members voted it down because of a danger of landslide on the adjacent Karl Piepenburg property. Also rejected as part of the request was a petition to vacate a portion of Pump Street.

The rezoning request was submitted this spring by Kampo Southern Warehousing, Inc. of Neenah. The Kampo firm has a building permit to construct a 100 by 600-foot warehouse on the Edward J. Lindberg property north of the Piepenburg property and adjacent to County Trunk Z and Pump Street.

Build Warehouse

Kampo wants to build a second warehouse on the Gostas property. Before the property is rezoned and a building permit issued, the board wants the property improved to prevent any earthslide.

In other action, the board voted 4-3, with president Dan Williams casting the deciding ballot, not to purchase the Robert Berghuis property for an addition to Lindberg Park.

Berghuis wants $10,000 for the land, while it has been appraised for $6,000. A 45-minute debate ensued over whether the board should buy the land for the amount asked.

Voting in favor of the purchase were Gene Schuh, Donald Ourada and Marvin Schumacher. Voting against it were Carl Nagan, Eugene Schwaller, Eugene Schulz and Williams.

The board also discussed a junked car ordinance, but no action was taken pending the revision of some details.

Memorable Visit

British Library Expert Ends Year in Fox Valley

When affable Britisher Norman W. Beswick recalls his year in Appleton, he won't forget his wife's encounter with a local housewife.

The Appleton lady and Mrs. Beswick met in a beauty parlor. Once it had been established that Mrs. Beswick hailed from Britain, the local matron gushed:

"My, you do speak English well! One doesn't usually find foreigners who can."

Mrs. Beswick only nodded.

For the past year Mr. and Mrs. Beswick have lived in Appleton while Beswick served as librarian at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center, Menasha. They'll head back to England, Aug 11 where Beswick will resume duties as senior lecturer-librarian at Brentwood College of Education in Essex.

During his stay in this country, Beswick has traveled widely, both in Wisconsin and around the country, to study technological innovations in Amer-ican libraries. His findings have been reported in articles in British library journals, and he plans further articles on his return to Britain.

More Visual Aids

U.W. libraries have far outstripped their British counterparts in making use of audio-visual aids, Beswick believes.

"I was particularly impressed with study carrels set up for using a wide variety of audio-visual aids, including tape recorders and a central tape library,'" Beswick said. "Such carrels allow students to work at their own pace."

"There is a temptation to rely too much on gimmicks, but generally speaking the machinery has been used wisely."

American librarians seem to have a broader interpretation of what their stock of audio-visual materials should include, Beswick said He feels that the idea of the instructional materials center, where all books and other instructional materials are kept, is a good one that might well be adopted by British libraries. At present British students on the elementary and high school levels do not have access to such centers.

Advanced Research

"My impression is that the British higher educational system requires more use of the library materials than does the American," Beswick said. "British university students generally do more advanced library research than is done here."

One reason for this emphasis is the way in which British higher education tends to concentrate on one subject, Beswick explained.

"The typical British University graduate is much more of a specialist than the American," Beswick said. "For example, we can turn out a research physicist at 22, while here he would just be getting started.

"I would like to see an expansion in Britain of general liberal arts education. I also wonder that if, in America, there would not be some people who would benefit from a more subject-oriented approach."

Greenville Area Churches Slate Sunday Services

GREENVILLE — Area churches have announced their schedules for Sunday services.

The Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church will hold worship at 8:30 a. m., with the Rev. Orvin Sommer officiating.

The Evangelical United Brethern Church, with the Rev. Jerry A. Cline officiating, will not hold services this week, because of the Forest Junction Assembly Camp meeting and the Youth Fellowship camping session.

St. Mary Catholic Church will have masses at 7 a.m., 9 a.m., and 11 a.m. The Rev. Joseph Lutheran will officiate.

Masses will be at 8 and 10 a.m. at St. Patrick Catholic Church, Stephensville, with the Rev. Msgr. John B. Gehl celebrating the mass. Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Stephensville, will have Sunday school at 9 a.m. and church services at 8:15 a.m St Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, also in Stephensville, will have services at 9:30 a.m., with the Rev. Robert Carter, pastor.

Man Fined on Charge Of Public Intoxication

George Koepsel, 42, 324 E. Winnebago St., was fined $25 and costs or 12 days in jail this morning after he pleaded guilty in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 to an intoxication charge brought by Appleton police.

Koepsel was arrested about 8 p.m. Thursday in the 200 block of W. College Avenue.

15-Year-Old Youth Jailed After Beer-Drinking Incident

A 15-year-old Appleton boy, whom police said fell down at Wisconsin Avenue and Oneida Street about midnight Thursday, was placed in juvenile detention in the Outagamie County Jail after investigation revealed he had been drinking.

The boy was one of three youths brought to the police station by patrolmen who saw the 15-year-old fall when he began running. The other two youths were released after questioning when police said it did not appear they had been drinking

The other youth reportedly became belligerent, telling police that his parents would charge them with false arrest. He told police that what they thought was the odor of alcohol on him, actually was his shaving lotion

Police said a breathalyzer test, to which he consented, showed the youth had been drinking considerably.

He then admitted that he had purchased a case of beer from a "16 or 17-year-old boy" for $2.59. He said he got the beer from under a trestle near Oneida Street, in the Flats area. The youth explained that he drank half the case of beer, then threw the rest, including the case, into the river.

Investigation by juvenile authorities is continuing.

Darbov Church Plans Schedule for Services

DARBOY — The Holy Angels Catholic Church has set its mass schedule for Sunday services. Mass will be at 6:45, 8, 9:30, and 11 a.m., with the Rev. Donald Schneider officiating.

The church's St. Anne's Altar Society will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the school hall to make final preparations for the parish picnic Aug. 20.

Woman Dies of Burns After Self-Immolation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 24-year-old woman who set herself afire July 4 at a Los Angeles gas station died early Wednesday with third-degree burns over 99 per cent of her body. Doctors at the University of California Medical Center said Nancy Moore refused drugs during her hospitalization, telling them if she died with narcotics in her body she would suffer eternal damnation. The woman's father blamed her death on the hallucinatory drug LSD.

Baptist Rally Of State Youth Begins Tonight

Two-Day Program Planned at Baptist Church in Appleton

More than 100 Baptist youths from all over the state are expected to attend a weekend rally at Valley Baptist Church beginning tonight.

The program is being planned and will be conducted by college students from four states and the District of Columbia, centering on the theme, "A Whole Christ for a Broken World."

Vocal and instrumental music, preaching and religious drama will be part of services set for 7:30 p.m. tonight and Saturday.

There will be fellowship activities after the service Friday and a campfire Saturday night.

An all-day outing in Menominee County is planned for Saturday. Youth-group will conduct the 10:40 a.m. and 5:45 p.m. services Sunday. A nursery will be provided for all services.

Leading the special activities are eight students appointed by the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention and state Baptist Student Unions to spend the summer in Wisconsin assisting local churches in programs of recreation, vacation Bible school and camp.

More than 700 students are giving their summer to this type of work in 50 states and several foreign countries. Serving in Wisconsin are students from California, Arkansas, Georgia, Virginia and Texas.

Last week the students served as counselors and staff members at the Wisconsin Area (Southern) Baptist Youth Camp, attended by 226 youths near Pembine. The Rev. Byron Epps of the Valley Baptist Church served as business administrator.

Next week two of the students will assist with a vacation Bible school in Green Bay and the others will lead a Christian day camp at the South Park pavilion in Oshkosh, under joint sponsorship of Valley Baptist Church and the Southern Baptist Convention.

Marion Advertiser Purchased

Employe Buys Long-Time Family Firm

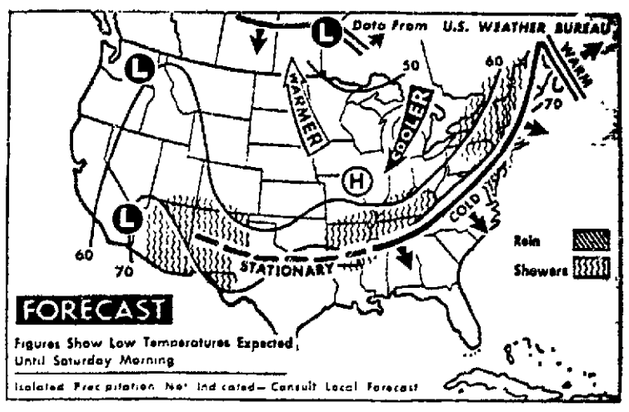
MARION — The Marion Advertiser, a family-run business for 72 years, was sold this week to Leland (Korny) Krueger a long-time employee.

Francis Byers, editor since 1946, made the announcement this week. The business was started in 1895 by Stephen L. Perry who was succeeded after his death by his nephew Elmer Byers in 1906. Byers was succeeded by his son Francis.

Krueger came to work at the advertiser as as a printer's devil in 1940 at the age of 11. He worked as a "devil" for two years and then moved with his parents to the Bonduel area. He applied for a job at the Advertiser the day after his graduation from Bonduel High School and worked there until September of 1950 when he enlisted in the U.S Navy.

Krueger served as a printer in the Navy and finished his stint in 1954 as a petty officer third class in the printing field. He was employed by the Shawano Journal Printing Co. until March, 1956 when he returned to Marion and the Advertiser where he has been since.

Byers has stated that he and his family will remain in Marion but his future plans are indefinite at this time.



Showers Are Forecast tonight for the southern Plateau region, lower Ohio and Tennessee valleys, the Northeast and Arkansas. It will be warmer over the northern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley and cooler through the Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley, and the mid-Mississippi Valley. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Over 167,000 Civil Defense Questionnaires Are Returned

Over 167,000 questionnaires for the home fallout protection survey being conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau in conjunction with the Wisconsin Department of Civil Defense have been returned to the Census Bureau office at Jeffersonville, Ind., as of Aug. 1, it has been announced.

This is a 27 per cent return of the slightly over 600,000 forms that were mailed since the start of the program July 25.

Bruce Bishop, administrator for the State Division of Emergency Government (formerly the Bureau of Civil Defense and Disaster Control), said large numbers of questionnaires are being returned daily to the office.

Mail areas comprise cities of 10,000 population or more and metropolitan Madison and Milwaukee. Some areas in Madison previously slated for direct mail coverage are now being visited by interviewers due to incomplete mailing lists.

Residents supplying information on the construction of their home, either by mail or personal interview, will receive a confidential report from the Census Bureau on the fallout protection their home provides and how it may be improved.

Bishop urged everyone receiving the questionnaire to return it completely filled out as soon as possible in the return postage-free envelope provided coming on the line and asking for the number of the calling party."

Various types of carrier equipment for long distance calls will be installed at a cost of $82,400, according to Van Sistine.

He said, "This carrier equipment will give us extra circuits for calls between Appleton and Clintonville, New London, Fremont, Green Bay, Black Creek, Manawa and Weyauwega."

Underground Cable

About 11,000 feet of underground cable is being installed along College Avenue to Bennett Street, along Bennett Street to Richmond Street, and along Richmond Street to existing aerial facilities.

The project is designed to relieve existing facilities which serve numerous suburban home developments and the communities of Black Creek, Shiocton and Nichols. These facilities also will be used in association with the telephone company's rural improvement program.

The cable project should be completed near the end of August.

Hippie Waiters To Don Hairnets

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Hairnets for long-tressed male waiters in the hippie Haight-Ashbury district were ordered Thursday as a sanitary precaution by the city Health Department.

Present law makes only specific references to female restaurant employes, said Public Health Director Ellis D. Sox, but the present situation presents a problem the legislature didn't count on.

"Any person with long hair is likely to get some of the strands in food," Sox said. "We will require nets or some other confining method irrespective of the sex of the individual."

Hunter Drives in 7 Runs as Foxes Rip Cedar Rapids, 14-3

Appleton Increases Lead Behind Ken Frailing's 7-Hit Pitching

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia. — Ken Frailing would be happy if the Appleton Foxes could find a happy medium in run production while he is pitching.

The Marion southpaw's four losses this year have all been 1-run decisions while in his three wins the Foxes have gotten a surplus of runs, having hit the 14-run mark twice. Last night was one of those times as the

George Hunter

Foxes posted a 14-3 victory over Cedar Rapids.

The triumph, Appleton's ninth in 11 games with Cedar Rapids, boosted the Foxes one game ahead of Decatur in the Midwest League race as the Commodores were rained out. Tonight Appleton will conclude its week-long road trip and attempt to gain the advantage in the 3-game set with Cedar Rapids.

George Hunter gave Frailing all the support he needed at the plate with two home runs and a triple to drive in seven runs. The 6-foot, 190-pound California native has been a consistent cog in the Foxes' second half pennant drive. After playing with the Foxes last year, Hunter joined the team at the beginning of the second half. He has batted over .300 since then, having hit safely in all but nine of the Foxes' 36 games. He ran his extra base hit total to 16 with the three last night.

Has 5-0 Lead

Before Frailing even threw his first pitch he had been staked to a 5-0 lead. Jose Ortiz singled, went to second on a sacrifice and stole third. "Deacon" Jones walked and Hunter powered his first drive 350 feet out of the park. Art Kusnyer was hit by a pitch, Chuck Brinkman walked and Stu Singleton tripled to right center to plate both runners. Singleton was forced to leave the game when he was spiked sliding into third.

Appleton added a run in the third on a double by Kusnyer and Brinkman's single. In the inning, Hunter backed the right fielder against the fence to make a catch of his drive.

While the Foxes were jumping off to a 6-0 lead, Frailing sent down the first nine men he faced.

Hunter got the Foxes three more runs in the fourth as he parked another ball over the right field fence after Jeff Kolb had walked and Deacon Jones singled.

Cedar Rapids finally got to Frailing in the bottom of the inning on a double by Bobby Cox, a triple by Rogers Robinson and a single by Ted Simmons.

Jones Doubles

Appleton countered with two in the fifth when Jones doubled after singles by Frailing and Kolb.

The Cardinals added an unearned marker in the bottom of the frame on a single, walk and an error.

Hunter's triple and an error on the play produced two Appleton runs in the seventh and

Packers Are Rated 2-TD Favorites Over All-Stars

Collegians Boast Huge Defensive Line for Tonight's Contest; Gillingham Starts for Bays

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

CHICAGO — "This is the same situation we faced in the Super Bowl — we have everything to lose and nothing to gain."

It was massive Jerry Kramer, candidly summing up the potentially treacherous task which confronts him and his fellow world champions tonight in the dim reaches of Soldier Field, where the Packers deploy against the College All-Stars for the fourth time in six years.

There can be little quarrel with the longtime "guardian angel's" assessment of the 8:30 (Channel 11) assignment. In that baptismal Super Bowl, the Packers — representing the veneral National Football League — were expected to handle the youthful American Football League's Kansas City Chiefs with ease.

And they did — after a somewhat traumatic first half — a performance which most of the nation's pro football fans had freely forecast. Had they failed, however, the NFL's aura of re-eminence would have been severely damaged, perhaps irreparably.

Tonight, they also are figured to dispose of the collegians, handpicked though they may be, with even greater apathy. But, if they do, it obviously will not add appreciably to the Packers' artistic stature, since they will only be doing the expected.

A Stunning Blow

If, however, they should lose (and they have the haunting memory of 1963 to prove that it can happen), it could not help but be a stunning blow to not only their considerable prestige, but that of pro football as well.

There is no indication, of course, that they intend to permit such a misadventure to befall them in this 34th annual midsummer spectacle, expected to be witnessed by about 65,000 "live" viewers and millions more via national television.

And, certainly, there is no disposition on the part of most experts to predict an upset. As the professional principals, the Packers reportedly are rated 2-touchdown favorites over the All-Stars, coached by John Sauer, sometime TV sportscaster and former coaching colleague of Packer headmaster Vince Lombardi at Army.

As far as can be determined in the windy city, this forecast has not been affected by the announcement that fullback Jim Grabowski, called to duty with the Wisconsin National guard in riot-torn Milwaukee Wednesday, undoubtedly will not be available to the Pack.

Tonight's match also will be historic in that, for the first time since 1957, neither Paul Hornung nor Jim Taylor will be in evidence when the Packers take to the field. Both, of course, are now with the fledgling New Orleans Saints, Hornung as an assistant coach.

In fact, with Grabowski expected to be among the missing, Elijah Pitts and sophomore Donny Anderson will be the only members of last year's running

Yastrzemski's Hitting, Throwing Keep Bosox In Fight for Flag

BY HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The shotgun Carl Yastrzemski calls an arm has claimed another victim and that makes five base runners in 10 days who've learned the hard way that the Boston slugger can field and throw as well as he can hit.

Yaz threw out Mike Hershberger trying to score in the sixth inning Thursday and then the Red Sox rallied for three runs in their half and a 5-3 victory over Kansas City. That cut one-half game off Chicago's American League lead and left the Red Sox two games behind.

Dave Morehead hurled five shutout innings to pick up the victory.

Hershberger, who had doubled with two out, tried to score on Dick Green's hit but Yastrzemski nailed him. It was the ninth assist this season for Yaz and his fifth in Boston's 12-game home stand which ended Thursday.

Dislikes Opportunity

"I'd rather not have the opportunity to make them," Yastrzemski said. "It only means there are runners on base, trying to score."

In the only other American League game Thursday, Detroit blanked Baltimore 5-0 on Denny McLain's three-hitter. In the only National League game played, Atlanta bombed Chicago with seven homers and ripped the Cubs 10-3.

Three RBIs

Yastrzemski, who leads the league in runs batted in with 78, upped his batting average to .321—third best in the league—with two hits. He doubled in the third and came in on George Scott's single as Boston pecked

Trio Deadlocks For 'Western' Lead With 66s

Labron Harris Has Nine Consecutive 1-Putt Greens

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Stanton was on the practice tee until nightfall sharpening up for Friday's second round of the $102,000 Western Open.

The lanky, 21-year-old Sydney, Australia, pro is in the heat of a par-shattering battle to hold on to his share of the lead in a chase for a $20,000 first prize.

He and Bob Verwey, 26, of Johannesburg, South Africa and Labron Harris, 25, son of Oklahoma State's golf coach, headed the first round Thursday on Beverly Country Club's par 71 battleground with 66s.

Verwey, brother-in-law of Gary Player and runner-up in last week's Minnesota Classic, credited a new putting grip in a 27-putt performance

Stanton, whose best finish on the PGA tour so far has been a tie for seventh in the Flint Open, said "I just putted well and was rewarded." He required 28 taps on the greens.

Sets Putting Mark

Harris, the 1962 National Amateur champion who never has been better than a fifth-place finished on the tour, set a PGA putting record for this year. He had nine successive one-putt greens and totalled 25 putts for the distance

Steve Oppermann, like Stanton, seeking his first tourney victory, came in with a 67 while veterans Julius Boros and Don January had 68s.

The eight 69-shooters included amateur Marty Fleckman who led the first and third rounds of the recent National Open before folding with a final 80.

Defending champion Billy Casper slipped to 74 National Open winner Jack Nicklaus bogeyed the last three holes for a 72. Arnie Palmer lost a ball in a giant oak tree on the 18th fairway to finish with a double bogey seven for a 72.

Hot Pennant Race Moves Here

Old-Timer's Game Will Precede Start of Foxes' 6-Game Home Stand

The red-hot second-round Midwest League pennant race moves to Goodland Field at 8 p.m. Saturday, as the Appleton Foxes open a 6-game home stand by entertaining Decatur.

The Alex Cosmidis managed Foxes and the Dennis Sommers-piloted Commodores are the 1-2 teams in the circuit. Sommers, a Hortonville native, is a veteran player-manager in the San Francisco farm system.

In a special pre-Foxes game attraction the Fox Valley Old-Timers will battle the Milwaukee Old-Timers. The exhibition game will start at 6 p.m.

Decatur will also be at Goodland Field at 8 p.m. Sunday and Monday. "Ladies Night" and "Family Bleacher Night" will be observed Monday.

Quincy's Cubs move in for three games in two days — a single game at 8 p.m. Tuesday and a doubleheader, starting at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

"St. Thomas More Booster Night" will be observed Tuesday. The parish will use its proceeds for a special project. Tickets have been mailed to all parishioners, and a number of youngsters have also been selling tickets. The top salesmen will win tickets to an Aug. 30 circus.

The Fox Valley Old-timers will be directed by manager Howard Bowers and coach Marty Lamers. Players on the roster include pitchers Don De Long, George VanderLoop, "Bud" Koehnke, Earl Furlow, "Lefty" VanderZanden, Joe Petcka, Phil Haas, "Dago" Schuler and "Tuffy" Horn; catchers Leo Murphy, C. O. Baetz, Don Boya, "Darky" Ristau, Elmer Schabo and Herb Koslo; infielders "Baldy" Eggert, Bob Felix, "Lefty" Diedrich, Jim VandeWettering, Jim Nirschl, Bill Fitzpatrick, Dick Faas, "Shorty" Bayer and Clarence Radtke; outfielders Roger VanderWyst, Phil Condu, Floyd Hammen, Leo Lamers, Arnie Hillman and Stu Locklin; and utilitymen Cliff Hagan and Tom Hinton.

Bowers has requested members of the team to report by 4 p.m. Saturday for practice.

Among the players on the Milwaukee team are Bert Thiel, Fabian Gaffke, Ray Werra, Jess Jeske, Bob Petzold, Gillie Luderus, Clary Hackbarth, "Lefty" Smith, Jerry Fisher, Danny Fields and Norm Blieding. Harvey Kuenn and Johnny Logan are other possibilities.

Among the Green Bay Packers' offensive threats for tonight's game against the College All-Stars will be end Max McGee (upper photo) and halfback Donnie Anderson. The veteran McGee was a pass-catching standout in several key games last season. Anderson is expected to see considerable action this season after playing on a limited scale in his rookie year. Fond du Lac's Legion Team Tips Menasha

MENASHA — The Fond du Lac American Legion baseball team overcame a 5-run deficit in the late innings to defeat Menasha, 10-7, in 10 innings in their regional tournament game here Thursday night.

The victory leveled the best-of-3 set at one apiece with the "rubber" game scheduled here at 2 p.m. Saturday. The winner will earn a berth in the state Legion tournament at Clintonville next week.

Menasha appeared to have the victory clinched when Mark Hinske slammed a 3-run homer in the seventh, boosting the score to 7-2.

Fondy netted four runs in the eighth, tied the score in the ninth and came up with three in the 10th

Don Eiring hurled the distance for the winners. Marc Haberman started for Menasha, gave way to Mike Heroux, who pitched to three hitters in the eighth, and returned for the ninth and 10th

Rams' Bedsole Won't Play in 1967 Season

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hal Bedsole, the tight end acquired by the Los Angeles Rams in a winter trade, will not play football this season on advice of physicians

Elroy Hirsch, assistant to the Rams' president, announced on Thursday that a team of doctors recommended continued therapy and rehabilitation for Bedsole's right knee.

The former University of Southern California star underwent surgery for the knee injury in 1966. Doctors said the knee is not strong enough to permit play this season but his chances of returning to action for 1968 remain excellent.

Bedsole and Tommy Mason came to the Rams from Minnesota in trade for tight end Marlin McKeever after the 1966 campaign.

Howard Could be Delayed Payment in Babe Ruth Deal

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP)—Nearly a half century ago the Boston Red Sox pulled one of baseball's biggest boners—peddling George Herman "Babe" Ruth to the New York Yankees.

Ruth, employed mainly as a pitcher with the Red Sox, became a full-time outfielder with New York and went on to become the greatest home run slugger in history

Elston Howard

The Red Sox never could forget the infamous deal. Even after Tom Yawkey bought the club in 1933, the Boston front office feared trades with the Yankees

However, time and changing personnel have mellowed feelings.

Put on Waivers

Back in 1952, when virtually eliminated from the American League pennant fight, the Red Sox sent right-hander pitcher Ray Scarborough, then 35, on waivers to the Yankees.

Although past his prime, Scarborough turned in several fine performances and helped New York win the pennant

A young catcher, Elston Howard, came along three years later and helped the Yankees to a flock of championships. Now the Red Sox hope the Yankees have reciprocated by dealing them Howard during Boston's pennant drive

The Yankees, buried deep in the second division while on a rebuilding kick, sent Howard, now 38, to the Red Sox Thursday for the $20,000 waiver price and two players to be named after the season.

Howard, who is drawing an estimated $50,000 salary, has seen limited action this season, hitting only 197

'Cold Shoulder' at Weigh-In

Terrell's Silence Riles Spencer, His Opponent

HOUSTON (AP) — Thad Spencer, one of four heavyweights who will participate in an Astrodome boxing doubleheader Saturday says he is upset by the silent treatment given him by his opponent, Ernie Terrell.

In addition to the Terrell-Spencer bout, Loetis Martin will fight Jimmy Ellis in the other 12-round nationally televised match.

The bouts are part of an eight man elimination tournament set up by the World Boxing Association to select a champion to succeed Cassius Clay. The WBA stripped Clay of his title when he refused to be inducted into the Armed Forces.

In the other quarter-finals of the tournament later this year in Germany and Los Angeles, Karl Mildenberger meets Oscar Bonavena and Floyd Patterson fights Jerry Quarry

Terrell, a former WBA champion, gave Spencer the cold shoulder at an informal weigh-in for the four Astrodome fighters Wednesday.

"When I first met him," said Spencer, "he was an all right guy. Now he's walking around like he's king of the walk."

"If we speak, I have to speak first," Spencer continued. "He's looking at the rest of us guys like we're hungry fighters — a bunch of ham-'an'-eggers."

"Couldn't Draw Flies"

"He's just lucky to have a guy like Clay around who'd fight him, because he couldn't draw flies by himself," Spencer added. "I can't understand the way he acts either after the beating he took."

Terrell lost a 15-round decision last February to Clay in the Astrodome. Terrell suffered an eye injury that required surgery.

Terrell weighed 219 pounds Wednesday, Spencer 203, Martin 194½ and Ellis 195½.

Spencer, 24, who has won 32 of 35 fights, is a protege of Eddie Machen, who recently retired without having a shot at the championship.

"We were like brothers," Spencer said of Machen. "In my opinion, he was the best defensive fighter of our time."

"He thinks he's going to give me a good whipping," Spencer said

"The way he goes around with his head in the air, you'd think he's got it made and without him there wouldn't be a tournament," Spencer continued. "He ought to know they have to fumigate the joint every time he fights."

Weekend Fishing

Fond du Lac County — Warden Mel Lange: Perch and walleyes continue to bite very good on Lake Winnebago, worms and hellgrammites best. Panfish fair in Kettle Moraine area lakes. Waters normal.

Calumet County — Warden Richard Streng: Walleyes are still being caught on the east shore of Lake Winnebago with artificial lures. Some panfish being caught in lakes on east county line. Other fishing generally slow. Waters normal.

Outagamie County — Wardens Dale Morey and Al Vander Bloemen: Walleyes and sauger are still biting on Lake Winnebago, night crawlers and spinners providing the best success. Panfish generally good with a few jumbo perch being taken. Water normal.

Green Lake County — Warden Gil Voss: Panfish are providing the most action on all waters. Perch and white bass good on Big Green lake. Lake trout have been fair to good. Fish at east and west ends with worms for perch, troll deep with minnows for white bass. Perch, crappies, white bass and some good-sized bullheads are hitting on Lake Puckaway with the west end of the lake producing the most fish. Little Green lake is putting out some nice catches of bass. The Fox river is low with fishing quite slow.

Waupaca County — Wardens Jack Kunath, Lawrence McKevitt, Rex Oatman: Northerns exceptionally good on Chain-O-Lakes, large chub minnows are best bait. Catfish hitting good on the Wolf river in the Weyauwega and Fremont areas. Panfish best on Partridge and Bear lakes. Water normal.

Waushara County — Warden Bill Baier: Bluegills still producing best fishing on most lakes in deeper water with crickets still the best bait. Some largemouth bass being taken in late evening hours. Fishing in area has slowed considerably the past few days. Water levels low.

Winnebago County — Warden Bill Laut: Walleyes and perch fair on Lake Winnebago. Panfish, northerns and bass fair on all waters. Catfish on the Fox river somewhat slower. Fishing pressure greatly reduced. Water low.

Door County — Warden Harland Steinhorst: Bass excellent in Moonlight Bay, Mink river, Weborg point at Fish creek and around small islands in Green Bay waters. Perch fishing improving rapidly, excellent near Sugar creek park, Red river bluff, and good in Little Sturgeon Bay, Sturgeon Bay waters and Detroit harbor and Washington island. Rainbow trout fishing also improving, good in Eagle harbor near Ephraim, off docks in Sister Bay and breakwaters near Sturgeon Bay with most of the fish in the 4- to 5-pound class. Walleyes biting on Clarks and Kangaroo lakes. Lake and trout stream levels normal.

Shawano County — Warden Carl Miersch: Northerns and bass fair with evening bass fishing hours being the most productive. Panfish fair, some catches being made in deep water with minnows and bait. Trout fair with catches being made in the deep holes of the smaller streams. Walleyes generally slow. Waters normal.

Marinette County — Wardens Ken Kazmar, Ralph Richardson, Bob Smith: Fishing is generally good. High Falls flowage producing good catches of bass on surface lures and poppers. Most lakes producing good catches of panfish. Trout fishing good on the Peshtigo river. Northerns slow. Water clear and normal.

Vilas County — Wardens Ben Bendrick, Art Knudtson, Chuck Wranosky: Bass hitting good in Jute, Sime, Allequash, Muskellunge, High and Cisco chain. Musky action picking up with one 41-pound fish taken. Some good action on muskies in Big Arbor Vitae, Twin, Big and Little St. Germain lakes and Eagle chain. Walleyes improving some in Boulder, South Twin, Turtle, Oxbow, Crab, Palmer, Tenderfoot and Long lakes and Cisco chain. Northerns hitting fair in Morton, McCullough, Razorback, Plum, Big St. Germain, Sand, Lac Vieux Desert and Forest lakes. Trout biting fair in Weber, Little John and Plum lakes. Panfish fair in most waters. Waters about normal.

Cager Ray Scott Wants to Help Rebuild Race Relations in Detroit

BALTIMORE (AP) — "I never shot anything in my life, but this war war. . . ."

Those are not the words of a soldier just returned from Vietnam. They are the words of Ray Scott, a forward for the National Basketball Association Baltimore Bullets, who lived through the nightmare of the Detroit racial riots.

He told his story during an interview Thursday.

"I didn't sleep for a week," Scott said, recalling the holocaust that left 38 dead and over 1,000 injured in four days of terror "I was the only protection for my wife and children and I was going to shoot anything that moved near our house."

"I've lived with strong men," he continued, "and fought competitively against 7-foot giants, but for the first time I was in complete fear for my life and my family.

"The block on my right was burned to the ground and two people were killed there the second day of the riots. The following day, the National Guard moved in and destroyed the street on my left," the 6-foot-9 Negro recalled.

Scott said he and his neighbors called a meeting and vowed to band together to protect their street. A doctor who lived in a corner house, fought off a band of arsonists and shots cracked throughout the night, he said. Scott's home escaped.

Loses Job

However, he lost his job with a Detroit brewery and a $1,000 investment in a boxing match He said the brewery let him go because all the stores he serviced had been burned to the ground

Scott says he would like to return to Detroit He played with the Pistons there for five years.

"I have a lot of roots there now"

He adds that he wants "to be a part of helping to rebuild race relations in the city. I've already met with youths of the Black Nationalist movement and tried to turn them into the mainstream of American life instead of becoming race extremists.

"Everybody is busy pointing the finger of guilt at somebody else and talking about backlash They form all kinds of opinions about the Negroes in the ghettoes but can't possibly understand their motivations unless they've lived in a ghetto themselves.

"But it's not the eloquent people we should be listening to. It's more important that we heard from the little guys in the slums and the high school kids who haven't committed themselves as yet."

Tradition Sways Owners

NL Votes Down AL Proposal to Divide Majors by Section

By KEN HARTNETT

CHICAGO (AP)—The American League has failed to get past first base with a proposal for divisonal play—a plan that could have led to the first restructuring of big league baseball since 1901.

Tradition - minded National Legue owners, pleading that they lacked time for study, shunted the proposal aside Thursday at the close of two days of meetings.

"The main objection was that we didn't have notice of this thing," said Warren Giles, president of the National League after the tabling of a proposal unanimously approved by the 10 American League club owners.

Giles listed other objections, including the belief that creation of eastern and western divisions within the major leagues would be too much of a departure from the traditional method of deciding pennant races.

Under the American League plan, Boston, New York, Baltimore, Washington and Cleveland would form an Eastern Division with Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis, California and Kansas City forming the western half.

The Western and Eastern champions would meet in a playoff to decide the league champion under an arrangement similar to professional football's.

The owners discussed the plan in a meeting billed as routine but which lasted for 3½ hours. Giles said the National League would object should the American League try the arrangement on its own.

"I don't think baseball should be put into a position where it is possible for a fourth place club to play a first place club in a World Series," said Giles.

Baseball Commissioner William Eckert said further consideration on the proposal, which was not put to a formal vote at the joint session, was possible.

In other action, Charles Finley of the Kansas City Athletics told fellow owners that he has hired a management consultant firm to make a detailed study of Kansas City, Oakland, Calif., and Seattle, Wash., to help determine the future of the franchise.

The Athletics are in the final year of their lease on Municipal Stadium.

Both leagues voted to ask Eckert to appoint a mixed committee to study expansion. Eckert said the committee would be named soon. "To make a proper study, it will take some time," Giles said.

No cities were mentioned during expansion talk, Eckert said.

The commission said the 1968 All-Star Game will be played in Houston.

American League President Joe Cronin announced that the league would put a 1 a.m. curfew into effect next season. No innings would begin after that time.

Wimot Homers Twice In Mayville Victory

MAYVILLE — Third baseman Terry Wilmot clubbed two home runs, one with a man on, to lead the Mayville American Legion team to a 10-1 romp over Sheboygan in a Southern Division Valley Legion make-up game Thursday.

Hansen Double Winner

Medina's Smith Wins Outagamie Feature

Medina's race driving star, Jerry Smith, took the lead at the start of the 25-lap feature race and was never headed as he sped to victory in the Outagamie Speedway's top stock car attraction Thursday night.

Smith, who had the pole position beat out second-place finisher Willy Schoppenhorst of Berlin and Appleton's Lyle Schultz, who garnered the third spot. The race had to be restarted twice after pile-ups on the first two green flags.

Clark Hansen, Sister Bay, became a double winner after picking up a victory in the second heat and tacking on first place in the 15-lap semi-feature race. Navarino's Lyle Diemel took second in the semi and Cliff Hanagan, Kaukauna, was third.

Jerry Meyer captured a first in the opening heat race of the card, beating Bob Schroeder of Medina and Bill Kempf, of Freedom, who got second and third, respectively.

Hansen's triumph in the second heat came over Hanagan and Jerry Reichenberger, Appleton. Another Appleton racer, Bryce Spoehr, out-dueled Bob Kleinschmidt, Oshkosh, and Randy Whitney, Pickett, for honors in the third race.

The final heat race was won by Dave Fassenbender, Hollandtown. Schoppenhorst finished runner-up and Bob Austin, Oshkosh, wound up third.

Mary Roberts of Green Bay came home the victor in a special "Powderpuff" race, in which 12 ladies participated.

North Survives in Junior Golf Test

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Andy North of Madison, Wis., survived the second round of the National Junior Golf championships Thursday defeating Craig Armstrong of Sacramento, Calif., 7 and 6.

In the first round, North defeated Mike Killian of St. Petersburg, Fla., 4 and 3. Killian had been among pre-tourney favorites.

Four Planes Downed Put Total at 635

SAIGON (AP)—American warplanes hammered North Vietnam with 197 strike missions Thursday, 22 more than were ever flown in a single day during the 2½ years of bombing the Communist North, the U. S. Command said today.

U. S. headquarters also announced that 635 combat planes have been lost over North Vietnam, including an Air Force F105 Thunderchief downed by ground fire Thursday and four losses not previously disclosed.

The ground war continued in one of its periodic lulls and two major operations ended.

One was the massive sweep by an estimated 10,000 U. S. and South Vietnamese troops in the Mekong Delta 45 miles south of Saigon, the biggest allied operation staged so far in the delta.

Commander Killed

In the same delta area, South Vietnamese troops reported killing the commander of a hard-core Viet Cong battalion and capturing his assistant.

The air attacks Thursday ranged from deep in North Vietnam's heartland to the country's southern panhandle.

Navy pilots reported destroying or damaging 72 supply boats or barges along the coast. Other Navy fliers reported setting off a secondary explosion among a cluster of buildings at the Quang Nap storage area three miles southwest of Thanh Hoa, in the panhandle. The pilots said dense smoke towered up 5,000 feet.

Navy pilots also reported damaging railroad facilities at the Dong Khe railroad siding 28 miles northwest of Vinh and the Ly Nhan siding 27 miles northeast of Thanh Hoa.

Damage Assessment

Pilots from the carrier Oriskany pounded a warehouse eight miles northwest of Haiphong, but heavy smoke prevented assessment of damage.

Air Force pilots attacked a 100-foot concrete and steel bridge 14 miles northeast of the port city and "the bridge completely disappeared," said Lt. Col. Harry W. Schurr, 39, of Indina, Pa., one of the fliers.

The 197 missions flown Thursday broke a record that had stood for nearly 10 months—175 missions last Oct. 14. Although the total number of planes is not disclosed for security reasons, missions usually average about three planes each.

A U.S. military spokesman attributed the record to ideal weather and the planes being available. Air Force pilots from South Vietnam and Thailand flew 87 missions. Navy fliers from the three carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin flew 74 and Marine pilots flew 36, an unusually high number for the Leathernecks.

In the ground war, briefing officers said the big delta sweep ended at midnight Thursday with 285 Communists dead but only 19 weapons captured. U.S. casualties were eight dead and 33 wounded, while South Vietnamese casualties were reported light.

The U.S. Marines also ended Operation Pike, a sweep by several battalions 22 miles southeast of the big Marine base at Da Nang. The Marines said during the three-day operation 100 Red troops were killed, many of them by air and artillery, but only four enemy weapons were captured.

Eight Marines were reported killed and 60 wounded.

A delayed report from South Vietnamese officials said a Viet Cong squad invaded a village near Da Nang July 29, assassinated 14 civilians and injured two children. All the victims were refugees, and the officials said they did not know why the Viet Cong killed them.

UW Alumni to Honor Out-Going Chancellor

MADISON (AP)— University of Wisconsin alumni will honor outgoing Chancellor Robben Fleming at a special reception on campus Wednesday. Fleming is leaving next month to become president of the University of Michigan.

Negroes, Some Wearing T-shirts on which "Black Power" is written, gather on the porch at the home of Clifford McKissick in Milwaukee's Inner Core Thursday. McKissick, an 18-year-old student at Wisconsin State University-Whitewater, was fatally shot Wednesday, police said, while fleeing from a firebombing scene. The group, including Father James Groppi, center, NAACP Youth Council adviser, seek a meeting with Mayor Henry Maier. (AP Wirephoto)

Memoirs Published

Svetlana's Recollections of Father Called Delightful

By RODNEY PINDER

LONDON (AP) — Joseph Stalin's daughter, Svetlana Alliluyeva, claims in her memoirs that Lavrenty P. Beria, Soviet secret police chief, dominated her father for the last 20 years of his life.

Mrs. Alliluyeva claims that Beria became the dominating influence over her father after he was rocked by her mother's suicide in 1932 and maintained that influence until the dictator died in his country home outside Moscow in 1953

Beria, "always repulsive," brooded over Stalin at the end, posing as "the most loyal, the most faithful," while the aged dictator died in agony after a cerebral hemorrhage, Mrs. Alliluyeva writes.

October Publication

Hutchinson & Co., Mrs. Alliluyeva's authorized British publisher, issued a Russian-language edition of her memoirs, "Twenty Letters to a Friend," on Thursday. The English-language edition is to appear in October.

The day after Stalin's death, his daughter writes, Beria summarily dismissed and exiled aides and members of the household staff, but not before some of them committed suicide in the hysteria following the death.

Beria was jailed on treason charges by Stalin's successors and put to death nine months after the dictator's death. Nikita S. Khrushchev, in the recent NBC television program "Khrushchev in Exile," also blamed Beria for Stalin's misdeeds.

English Reviewers

Mrs. Alliluyeva's book was reviewed by Olga Franklin, Russian-language expert for the Daily Mail and Evening News, and John Cruesemann of the Daily Express.

Mrs. Franklin described it as "a masterpiece, written with a power worthy of Tolstoy." Cruesemann said Stalin's daughter makes him "at once fearful, funny and credible."

The book largely sidesteps politics and concentrates on the writer's life with her father.

Mrs. Alliluyeva said her father believed there was a doctors' plot against him and permitted no physicians in his home for several months before he died. He took pills and iodide occasionally, she wrote, and the day before his fatal stroke took a steam bath, which the author said a doctor would never have permitted.

Doctors' Efforts

When the end approached, she said, frantic efforts were made to save the old man. Leeches were put to his head and neck and he was given cardiograms, X-rays and continuous injections.

Mrs. Alliluyeva begins her book: "All unhappy families resemble each other. Each unhappy family is unhappy in its own way."

She gives personal glimpses of the dictator, revealing his dislike of sitting in the sun, his love of a loaded table though he ate sparingly, his parental indulgence, his kindness to the few he liked and his cruelty to others.

It was her mother — who shot herself when the daughter was six — who was strict. She also defied the dictator.

One day at a banquet, Stalin ordered his wife: "Hey, you, drink." She retorted: "Don't you 'hey' me," — and left the table in front of all the guests.

Mrs. Alliluyeva describes her secret walks with boy friends through the cold Moscow streets looking for a sheltered place to kiss — "How sweet kisses could be—to stand together for several hours, clasped together, kissing and touching."

But all the while she was trailed by her father's detective who was too afraid to report to Stalin what he saw.

At Least Three Dead

Beloved Mountains Killed Young Climber

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — One climbed mountains "to look at the sky and the rock and the snow and the flowers."

"For the past 10 years my first love has been climbing," another wrote.

"I won't let life pass me by, and when my tide comes I will be ready to take it at the flood," wrote Stephen Taylor, 22, of Chicago

Taylor's tide engulfed him on the icy slopes of Alaska's Mt. McKinley before he had a chance to conquer the 20,320-foot peak.

Two of his companions also are dead. Four others are missing, and probably lie buried, perhaps forever, under a 10-foot blanket of snow left by a two-day storm this week.

Taylor's body was found at a 17,900-foot camp where he had been forced to stay because of altitude sickness when the six others began their successful ascent July 18. Their radioed "all's well" from the summit was the last word heard from them.

The bodies of two of them, still unidentified, were found a few hundred feet from Taylor's on a ridge. All three will remain on the mountain since the terrain makes removal too hazardous.

In additin to Taylor the climbers were Jerry Clark, 31, Mark McLaughlin, 23, and John Russell, 22, all of Eugene Ore, Henry Janes, 25, Lafayette, Ind., and Portland, Ore., Dennis Luchterhand, 23, Scarsdale, N. Y., and Walter Taylor, 24 Lafayette, Ind.

Avoid Costly Armament Race

U.S. Urging Europeans to Not Sell Arms to Latin American Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States reportedly has urged Western European countries to not sell to Latin American countries modern armaments, such as jet aircraft, which might set off a new Latin arms race and burden Latin economies.

Officials said two major U.S. policies are involved in the effort which has been made over a period of months:

—To try to suppress arms races all over the world.

—To promote economic development and higher living standards in underdeveloped countries.

The State Department said Thursday the United States vetoed the sale by Britain to Peru of six Canberra jet bombers which the British Royal Air Force no longer uses. The planes are an early type of jet attack aircraft, essentially the same as the U.S. B57.

Jet Fighters

At the same time State Department officials said the United States advised Peru and several other Latin-American countries that Washington is not interested in supplying them with modern F5 jet fighter planes about which they have made inquiries.

Since 1962, however, the United States has supplied $45-million worth of less sophisticated arms and munitions to Peru, including F80 and F86 fighter planes. This equipment was mostly of World War II and Korean War vintage.

Officials fear that supplying newer equipment would force Latin arms competition—criticized in Congress earlier this year—to a new level.

At Rookie Chalks Up First Midwife Score

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Rookie policeman John Blake was on his first shift Wednesday night when called into action.

Assisted by two other officers, Blake was credited with his first delivery — a 7-pound, 5¾-ounce girl. Mother, baby and Blake were reported doing fine Thursday.

Navy Cmdr. M. Scott Carpenter, the second American to orbit the earth, resigned Thursday from the space program to return to the Navy. He will be in charge of training aquanauts in the Navy's underwater Sealab project and said he plans to take an oceanography post with a private firm next year. (AP Wirephoto)

Curfew Decreases Rate of Burglaries

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The curfew imposed by Milwaukee and its suburbs to control rioting this week has also cut down considerably on the rate of burglaries and other more-routine acts of crime.

"We stop everything that moves during the curfew," a Wauwatosa police official said. "Criminals would be foolish to be out under those circumstances."

"Although the crime picture is better with the curfew," he added, "I think I'd welcome the other way of life."

"You can bet when this is over," a Milwaukee policeman said, "things will be back to normal."

Negro Youths Prevent Trouble

'Partners' Patrol for Peace

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (AP) —When the sun goes down and the lights come on in this suburban community just north of New York City, 50 Negroes 15 to 25 years old fan out through the streets on a mission of peace.

They are "police partners," paid $2.25 an hour to patrol the business districts and low income neighborhoods, talking to youngsters and stopping trouble before it starts.

"We go over there and disperse the crowd, without calling the police," says one partner, Jerry Calnek, 19. "When the police come, there's trouble."

"The cops," says Roy Tucker, also 19, "kind of take a negative attitude toward some of the kids. They come from home. They had a few arguments with their wife. They take it out on the kids."

The police partners come from the same kind of neighborhoods that they patrol in this community of 83,000—including 13,000 Negroes—and they say they "know how kids feel."

"They're like average kids today. They don't want to take orders from nobody," says Mark Briley, 20.

Briley says, "We're not here to be tough guys. If you talk to people rough, they're going to want to hurt you."

Instead, he says, "If I would see a group of youths fighting, I'd say, 'Look here fellows it doesn't make any sense to be here fighting. You're just going to be arrested.'"

"They don't want to listen at first," says Tucker. "They call you a 'Tom' and other nicknames. But after you talk to them, it's okay."

The police partners went into operation July 27, and that night they helped put down a disturbance when a group of youngsters poured out of a Community Action program dance, breaking windows and setting trash baskets afire.

Police Commissioner Edward F Carey says the idea "has great possibilities if handled properly."

The police, he said, are supervising the program. "This may add to the communication between the teen-agers and the police. They'll probably understand each other's problems a little better after they've worked together."

back complement on the Soldier Field scene.

Lombardi, who indicated he had expected to have "Grabo" in his starting backfield, announced that Ben Wilson will open at fullback. Pitts, who blossomed into one of the NFL's premier backs last season after assuming the injured Hornung's mantle, will be Wilson's running mate at halfback.

Nurses Injury

The tight end assignment is uncertain because Marv Fleming, who finishing the 1966 season at that position has been nursing a shoulder injury. Lombardi has tentatively listed Fleming's understudy, Allen Brown, as the starter. The balance of the opening format, both offensively and defensively, will be the same as that which started the Super Bowl last January — with one exception. That will find Gale Gillingham, the swift, strong Minnesotan, at left guard in place of veteran Fuzzy Thurston, who has been troubled with a knee injury. Thurston, however, is expected to see action.

The offensive wall's primary problem will be fending off the All-Stars' huge defensive line, anchored by 290-pound Bubba Smith of Michigan State. It also will include 267-pound Dave Rowe of Penn State and Alan Page of Notre Dame and San Diego state's Leo Carroll, both 250.

Peerless Bart Starr, the NFL's player of the year in 1966 and holder of the All-Star game record for touchdown passes (he threw five in the '62 classic), will be at the offensive controls as the Packers bid for a fifth victory in seven All-Star appearances.

Elsewhere, it will be Boyd Dowler at split end, Carroll Dale at flanker; Bob Skoronski and Forrest Gregg at tackle, Ken Bowman at center and Kramer at right guard

To Provide Relief

Defensively, Willie Davis, Henry Jordan, Ron Kostelnik and Lionel Aldridge will man the front four, with anticipated relief from awesome Bob Brown and Jim Weatherwax. They will be supported by, from left to right, Dave Robinson, Ray Nitschke and Lee Roy Caffey at linebacker, who in turn will be backed up by Herb Adderley, and Bob Jeter at cornerback and Willie Wood and Tom Brown at safety.

This proud unit, rated the most miserly in all of pro football, will have the responsibility of containing a potentially potent All-Star attack, spearheaded by Purdue's heralded Bob Griese at quarterback.

Griese's strong right arm, which is likely to give way to that of Florida's Steve Spurrier during the course of the evening, will be firing in the direction of recent Michigan Houston's Tom Beer among others

To complement what looms as a formidable passing attack, Griese has available six highly talented backs — Notre Dame's Nick Eddy, Ray McDonald (Idaho), Clint Jones (Michigan State), Mel Farr (UCLA), Bob Jones (San Diego State) and Floyd Little (Syracuse).

Little, who will be stationed at left half, and McDonald are scheduled to join Griese in the starting backfield, up front, it will be Clancy and Beer at end, Gene Upshaw (Texas A. and I.) at tackle, Davie Rowe (Penn State) and Paul Naumoff (Tennessee) at guard and Jim Lynch (Notre Dame) at center.

Although Lynch has been announced as the All-Star starter, the Packers' prized No. 1 draft choice, Bob Hyland of Boston College, is expected to relieve Lynch early in the evening. Flanigan, the Pittsburgh linebacker who is the Pack's other All-Star representative, likewise is expected to see heavy duty.

away at Kansas City's early 3-0 lead.

Mike Andrews was the Red Sox' other hero. He drove in three runs with a homer and a two-run single.

Third-place Detroit also picked up a half game on the White Sox by whipping Baltimore in a game called by rain in the eighth inning. The Tigers are three games behind.

McLain was in control all the way, notching his 13th victory.

Joe Torre and Clete Boyer led Atlanta's homer spree against the Cubs with two apiece. Hank Aaron, Tito Francona and Denis Menke also connected.

Torre also doubled, singled and walked for a perfect day, scoring three runs and driving in two.

The loss dropped the slumping Cubs six full games back of first-place St. Louis in the National League race.

Social Security Act Will Undergo Changes

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The complex Social Security bill is finally set to move through the house and then through the senate and then in compromise form through the Congress. The weeks of headlines on specific amendments are about to begin, and so are the weeks of mounting confusion about what is being done.

It has now been two years since Congress voted the last package of Social Security benefit boosts. The 1965 amendments to the Social Security Act provided a 7 per cent across-the-board increase, retroactive to January 1965. This was a substantial percentage rise, of course, but it did not even equal the rise in living costs since the previous round of hikes in 1958. The result was that by yearend of 1965, the quickening pace of inflation had completely offset the buying power of the new benefits.

Important To All

What's to be done now, therefore, is of extraordinary bread-and-butter importance to the 22,000,000 beneficiaries of Social Security in our nation, as well as the tens of millions of us who as employers, employes and self-employed, pay Social Security taxes

What will the final package of Social Security benefits look like? Will benefits be raised before 1968? What's the range of increases? Will we who are now working be hit by higher Social Security taxes again — and if so, how much higher, and when?

The news stories during the weeks ahead are bound to be befuddling because changes in the House Ways and Means bill will now be made in public and much of the bargaining will be in the open. But here is the current betting in highly informed circles on the answers to key questions.

Voted in Fall

Q Will Social Security benefit boosts be voted this year by Congress?

A. Yes, but probably not until autumn.

Q How much will the benefit boost be?

A Not as much as 15 per cent across-the-board, as suggested by the President in his January message. But the increase will be at least 8 per cent, the amount of raise which would be possible without necessitating any raise in our Social Security taxes. A percentage in the middle would be a sound guess.

Q. When will the benefit increases go into effect?

A. The timing is under hot debate. If Congress votes an income tax surcharge to become effective Jan. 1, the Social Security benefit increase also could be timed to that date. Earlier effective dates are widely favored, though.

Q. Will the minimum $44 per month benefit for a retired individual be raised?

A. Yes, probably to the $60 range.

Q. Will the "retirement test" be liberalized?

Able to Earn More

A. Yes. You will be able to earn more than the present maximum of $1,500 a year (or $125 a month) without losing any Social Security benefits. The new maximum probably will be $1,680 a year or $140 a month.

Q. Will Social Security benefits be extended to any workers who are not now covered?

A. Yes. One big group likely to be added includes disabled widows under age 60 who have no children under 18 This group probably will become eligible for full widow's benefits. Disabled workers under age 65 also are virtually certain to become eligible for Medicare benefits It has been stressed repeatedly that such individuals have an even greater need for Medicare benefits than many elderly persons.

Q. Will Social Security taxes be raised?

A The tax rate will probably not be changed from today's 8.8 per cent shared by employer and employe, this year or next, although the ultimate rate of 11 30 per cent now scheduled for 1974 may be upped to 11 60 per cent.

However, today's $6,000 wage base," the maximum amount of your annual wages on which Social Security taxes are paid, is likely to go up beginning in 1968, to a new maximum of $7,800

Hunter Hits 2 Homers in Foxes' Win

Frailing drove in the final run in the eighth.

The Foxes' 16 hits represented the second heaviest plate attack of the season. The total of seven extra-base hits also was a season high.

In completing his third game of the season, Frailing scattered seven hits and walked only one while striking out three. Other than the two innings Cedar Rapids scored, it got men on only in the sixth and eighth.

Green Bay '9' Nips Waupaca In 11th Inning

Qualifies for League's Final Title Playoff

GREEN BAY — Shortstop Mike Stier blooped a 2-out single over first base in the 11th inning to score Chuck Ebert and give Green Bay West's American Legion team a 4-3 triumph over Waupaca in a Fox Valley Legion League title playoff game Wednesday.

West, the Northern Division titlist, in beating the Central Division champion, will face either Menasha or Fond du Lac from the Southern Division for the over-all league crown.

Stier's hit came with Ebert on second base and Harry Reichwald on first. Pitcher Jerry Tagge started the West winning rally by walking with one out. The only pass of the game was given up b Waupaca southpaw Ken Tappa. Ebert was safe on a fielder's choice and Reichwald reached safely on an error before Stier came through.

Scores Solberg

Waupaca took a 1-0 lead in the first on Gary Peskie's double that scored Bob Solberg. The visitors missed a chance to score on the same play when Dan Peterson was thrown out at home plate

Wayne Manteufel's single in the fourth accounted for the second Waupaca run and Tappa's sacrifice fly in the seventh tied the game at 3-3.

Reichwald's second-inning double scored West's first marker and Dennis Gutzman walloped a solo homer in the fourth. Eric Halvertson scored the third West run on an error in the fifth.

Tagge struck out nine hitters and didn't walk a man, although yielding 12 hits. Tappa struck out eight, walked one and gave up seven hits.

Elimination Tourney Fair, Says Terrell

Any of Contestants Would be Excellent Champ, Claims Ernie

HOUSTON (AP)—Ernie Terrell, one of the four heavyweight fighters participating in Saturday's Astrodome boxing doubleheader, says any of the contestants would make an excellent champion.

Terrell fights Thad Spencer in one of the 12-round nationally televised bouts. Leotis Martin meets Jimmy Ellis in the other.

The doubleheader kicks off an eight-man elimination tournament to select a World Boxing Association heavyweight king to succeed Cassius Clay.

The WBA stripped Clay of his title when he refused to be inducted into the Armed Services. He was sentenced to five years in prison and is presently free under bond while appealing.

The other quarter-final matches are scheduled later this year, with Karl Mildenberger meeting Oscar Bonavena in Frankfurt, Germany and Floyd Patterson meeting Jerry Quarry in Los Angeles.

"The eight-man tournament is a fair way to decide the championship," said Terrell, former WBA champion, "It should have the blessing of everyone."

"I have no malice against any of these fighters. Any of them would make an excellent champion," he told a news conference Thursday.

Cubs Give Leo 2-Year Pact

Terms Not Revealed; Wrigley Happy With Pilot, Attendance

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs have lost four of their last five games and three in a row but there's no move to fire Manager Leo Durocher.

In fact, Leo was given a new two-year contract Thursday before the Cubs took a 10-3 walloping at the hands of the Atlanta Braves.

The Braves slugged seven home runs as the second place Cubs dropped six games behind the idle St Louis Cardinals

Durocher originally signed a three-year contract when he took the reins last year and had another year to go on that contract The new contract runs through the 1969 season. No salary terms were revealed

The new contract was initiated by owner P K Wrigley. The Cubs are nearing the 700,000 mark in attendance and last Wednesday went past the 642,000 they drew in 1966.

"Both Leo and the club are happy with the terms of the new contract," said Vice President John Holland.

"Mr Wrigley has been wonderful to me and I'll stay around here as long as he wants me," said Durocher. "I believe the ball club has done well but there's still room for improvement."

Chicago Rain Stops After Vince Appears on Field

Post-Crescent News Service

CHICAGO — Wags who watched the Packers Thursday night warm up at Soldier Field for tonight's game with the College All-Stars came away claiming that coach Vince Lombardi, a man with a positive approach to all problems, had interceded with the elements to make the practice possible.

It was pouring rain when the Pack arrived at the stadium approximately 8 p.m. After they had dressed and remained inside the dressing room for a time, Lombardi came out and headed for the field. A rainbow shortly appeared in the skies and the Packers trotted forth to take part in a brief, 15-minute limbering up drill, confined to an area behind the goal post to avoid cutting up the field for the game.

Lombardi and his wife, Marie, have become grandparents for the second time, he revealed at an informal press conference A second son, who has been named John was born to the Lombardi's son, Vincent Junior, and his wife in Minneapolis Thursday The coach's spouse, who customarily accompanies him on all trips, remained behind to baby sit for Vince Thomas Lombardi, first son of Vincent Junior "This is the first time since 1933," Lombardi informed "that Marie has not been on hand to see a game in which I have been involved "

Indians Top Pittsburgh in Exhibition Tilt

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gordon Lund's tie breaking double in the eighth and heavy hitting by Lee Maye and Fran Healy led the Cleveland Indians to a 10-7 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday night in an exhibition game

The Indians collected 18 hits, including Maye's four and Healy's three

Jose Pagan's three-run homer in the fourth and Jim Pagliaroni's three-run blast in the sixth gave Pittsburgh temporary leads A solo homer in the eighth by Andre Rodgers tied the game 7-7.

WANT AD INFORMATION

CLOSING TIME

Want ads accepted to 4:00 p.m. the day before day of publication. For Monday—Before noon Saturdays. For Sundays—Before 10:30 a.m. Saturdays.

CORRECTIONS OR CANCELLATIONS

Want ad corrections or cancellations accepted to 8.30 a.m. for the same day publication. For Sundays—Before 10.30 a.m. Saturday.

IMPORTANT

Composition costs will be charged, if an ordered ad is cancelled before publication.

After an ad is ordered, it cannot be changed before one publication.

When cancelling an ad, demand a "kill number." No claim is recognized on ads cancelled without it. The number of days ad is published determines the rate of such ads.

ADJUSTMENTS

The Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for verbal statements in conflict with its established rules, policies or rates.

All claims for adjustments or refunds must be made within 7 days after expiration of ad.

Errors, not the fault of the advertiser, which make the advertisement less valuable, should be corrected the first day, when one extra corrected insertion will be made without charge. The Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for error after the first insertion.

NOTICE

The Post-Crescent is exercising all precautions to avoid publishing any fraudulent or misleading advertising. However, if any ad appearing in the classified columns of the Post-Crescent can be proven fraudulent or misleading, we would appreciate your informing us immediately.

Harvard Crew Tips Canada

Davenport-McCulloch Hurdles Battle Top Pan-Am Attraction

By WILL GRIMSLEY

WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — Hurdlers Willie Davenport and Earl McCulloch renew their intense rivalry in the 110-meter hurdles as U.S. track and field forces attempt to add to Uncle Sam's harvest of medals today in the fast closing Pan-American Games.

The race, which will take little longer than it does a pedestrian to cross a street, headlines the next-to-last day program at the University of Manitoba. The card includes the appearance of world record-holder Ralph Boston of Nashville, Tenn., in the long jump; the women's high jump finals, in which Eleanor Montgomery of Cleveland is defending champion; the men's hammer throw and the men's 50-kilometer walk.

Davenport, from Warren, Ohio, and Southern University in Baton Rouge, La., had beaten McCulloch seven straight times before the Southern California football flanker won the Pan-Am trials in the world record-tying time of 13.2 seconds. Davenport has been itching to redeem that last defeat.

Stay Unbeaten

With the track and field forces idle Thursday, attention turned to the opening of the rowing competition on the Red River floodway where Harvard's mighty heavyweight eight, unbeaten in three years, turned back the undefeated Canadian crew from the University of British Columbia in a qualifying heat.

Stroked by Ian Gardiner of Topsfield, Mass., the Harvards pulled ahead early and had a 1½-length edge at the finish. They were timed in 6:18 for the 2,000-meter course.

Harvard automatically goes into Saturday's final as the favorite but almost surely will face another showdown with the Canadians, who like other losing crews get a second chance today in the repechage heats.

Revenge

The U.S. baseball team, twice beaten by Cuba, came back to smash the Cubans 8-3 in the opening game of the best-of three final playoff series. Southpaw John Curtis of Smithtown, N.Y., limited the Cubans to four hits through eight innings.

The towering U.S. basketball team smashed Panama 90-44 in its unhindered march toward a gold medal.

The United States won a bronze medal in field hockey, beating Canada 1-0, drove toward a silver medal with a 43-42 victory over Canada in women's basketball and continued to advance in boxing, judo and fencing.

Track and field holds the spotlight today and Saturday, with the closing ceremonies scheduled Sunday along with the traditional equestrian windup.

Boston, Jets Kick Off AFL Slate Tonight

Namath in First Test of Knee After Operation

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — The two "almost" teams of the American football league, the Boston Patriots and New York jets, collide tonight in the first 1967 exhibition game for both clubs.

The Patriots are trying to shore up the defense which let the 1966 Eastern Division title slip away in the final regular season game — against the Jets. New York will try to recreate the devastating offense which steamrollered at the start and finish of 1966 but slumped in midseason.

Buffalo ended up as division champion when New York plastered Boston 38-28 last Dec. 17. Boston fell from the threshold of glory to an 8-4-2 record and second place. The Jets were third in the east at 6-6-2.

John Charles of Purdue, a roving defender picked as the most valuable player in the Purdue Rose Bowl victory was Boston's first pick. But he's a member of the College All-Stars facing the Green Bay Packers in Chicago tonight.

Of those on the Boston roster now, Holovak has given rookie defensive back Leroy Mitchell from Texas Southern the best chance to crack the Patriots lineup.

Won't Change Offense

Holovak isn't fooling with the offense which came of age in 1966, behind veteran quarterback Babe Parilli, fullback Jim Nance and receiver-kicker Gino Cappelletti. Nance set a league rushing record of 1,458 yards and Cappelletti scored 119 points to lead the AFL scoring list for the 4th consecutive season.

Jets coach Weeb Ewbank isn't counting on any particular rookies, although they will be getting a major share of playing time in the exhibitions.

Two rookies hopeful of making the Jets' squad are presently with the All-Star squad. They are guard Paul Seiler of Notre Dame and defensive back Henry King of Utah.

The offense which scuttled Boston is intact, including third-year quarterback Joe Namath, fullback Matt Snell and receiver George Sauer. A post-season operation on Namath's always-taped right knee was proclaimed a success by Namath in training camp.

Drysdale Lost Indefinitely to Dodger Club

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers announced Wednesday night that right-hander Don Drysdale will be sidelined indefinitely with a back injury and a fractured little finger on his left hand.

Drysdale will miss at least the first part of a long road trip the Dodgers start Thursday.

The one-time Cy Young Award winner, who has an 8-11 record and a 2.64 earned run average this year, suffered a severe sprain of the lower back pitching in the third inning of a game against the New York Mets July 27.

Drysdale had to leave the game in the seventh inning when he worsened the injury running to third base.

Don Nicholson Heads Field at Dragaway

UNION GROVE, Wis (AP)— Don Nicholson, a two-time winner this season at the Great Lakes Dragaway, heads a list of highly rated drivers tonight as the Drag News International Open gets underway at the racing strip.

Nicholson, of Atlanta, Ga., is the 1966 national champion and winner of Dragaway events last month. He has won 27 of 35 races this year.

The big nitro-fuel and gas dragsters appear Saturday and Sunday.

Low Butterfat Product Authorized

New Spread Might Compete With Margarine

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Lega obstacles to the manufacture and sale of a low butterfat dairy spread that may compete with the margarine have been removed with the approving signature of Gov. Warren P. Knowles on an enactment of the state legislature.

But there remains some doubt in dairy circles that such a spread will be available soon, and some division of opinion among dairy industry leaders that it would be practicable or wise to market a low butterfat butter.

Several of the best informed dairy industry spokesmen say that while the new law authorizing the use of the words "butter" or "dairy" or "cream" for a 40 per cent butterfat substitute for butter may encourage some experimentation in the field, there may be further legislation ahead.

A characteristic position is that of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation, which has taken a "wait and see" attitude and has asked its members to review the issue in preparation for the 1969 legislature.

Uncertainties Remain

The uncertainties and doubts about the question are shown in the tangled legislative history of the new enactment. The original provision authorizing a low-fat butter product was contained in the act of the legislature removing the ban on the sale of colored margarine in Wisconsin, which represented a long-delayed surrender by lawmakers to the demands of the increasingly important urban consumer vote.

But it also represented an affront to the dairy farmer, worried about a declining market for butter. Thus the lawmakers wrote into the margarine ban repeal a provision designed to encourage the marketing of a low-fat butter product to provide competition in the market.

But Gov. Knowles, hearing the strong protests of the butter industry, vetoed the provision, an act which kept the old law requiring any product sold as butter to have at least 80 per cent butterfat.

Interested in Experimenting

Later the governor and legislators heard from several butter manufacturers that they were interested in experimenting with a 40 per cent butterfat spread, and believed they could compete with fair success with margarine.

The legislature then enacted a

Bureau May Build Outagamie Center

Directors Approve Site Search, Accepting 'Qualified' Offer

Outagamie County Farm Bureau will look for a site on which to build a proposed service center, officials decided Thursday night.

The group's board of directors authorized the executive committee to look for suitable sites, and to accept an offer if it qualifies according to specifications and cost presented by the committee to the board.

"Identify Program"

"All organizations should have a home," Gerald Van Asten, president of the county group, told the directors.

"A service center would identify and promote our programs to members and non-members alike," he said.

The proposed headquarters building was termed a "nerve center" necessary for the Farm Bureau organization.

Van Asten said many Farm Bureau organizations could be served there. Rural Mutual Insurance, the Production Management Research hog program, Farm Service Cooperative and Farm Records Cooperative were mentioned as possible tenants.

Aid Communications

The 20-man board, meeting at the Grand Chute town hall, was told that the headquarters would serve as a communications center between members in the county, as well as between state and local farm groups.

In other action, the Farm Bureau Ladies met to organize a Miss Outagamie County Farm Bureau program for 1967.

New Forester To Supervise In Calumet

Placing Calumet County forestry under the direct supervision of District Forester Jordan Korotev has been approved by the State Department of Conservation.

Harry Porter, assistant district forester in Appleton, said final approval was received just recently, although the move is effective from July 1.

Calumet formerly was supervised by Porter, who also works in Outagamie and Winnebago counties. Korotev, who operates out of Green Bay, has assisted in Calumet in the past.

Porter said the move would give him more time to work in the Winnebago and Outagamie areas. Korotev also serves Brown County.

Calumet 4-H Leaders Will Attend Camp

CHILTON — Junior 4-H leaders from three counties, including a trio from Calumet, will attend a summer camp program today through Sunday at Camp Tapawingo near Mishicot. The camp facilities are designed to promote nature study and the out-of-doors.

Three junior leaders from Calumet County will participate. They are Judy Coffeen, Ritalyn Krueger and Gary Ertl. Other counties involved are Manitowoc and Kewaunee.

Dutch Elm Disease Strikes In Rural Outagamie Areas

Dutch Elm disease has struck severely in rural areas of Outagamie County, with some cases reported in surrounding counties. The difference between healthy trees and those struck by the disease, which often appear dead, can be seen in the center of the upper photo and the left of the lower photo. The trees are in the Town of Black Creek. (Post - Crescent Photos)

Reported in Calumet and Winnebago

Dutch elm disease has struck heavily in rural Outagamie County this summer, with trees hit also in Calumet and Winnebago counties.

The problem in Outagamie is "twice as bad as it has ever been," according to Agricultural Agent Russ Luckow.

"We've had a very large amount of telephone calls on the problem in the last week," he told The Post-Crescent. Luckow added that the disease is spread throughout the rural areas of the county, with no specific area of concentration.

Calumet County Agricultural Agent Orin Meyer predicts that all the elm trees in his county will be wiped out within a decade.

Concentration by Lake

He said about 10 per cent of the elm trees in Calumet have the disease, with a concentration along the shores of Lake Winnebago. He added that officials of the lakeshore towns involved have been notified, but nothing has been done to combat the disease.

The situation in Winnebago County also is worse than in former years, although the northern part of the county seems to be relatively free of the disease.

The lakeshore both north and south of Oshkosh is again plagued, according to Donald Tripp, farm management agent. Newly-reported cases indicate

Fox Valley Guardsmen To Stay for Weekend; Area Mostly Peaceful

MILWAUKEE — National Guard strength has been reduced here following another night of relative civil peace enforced by a curfew and heavy police patrols

Most of the action here Thursday night involved civil rights spokesmen, angered over the fatal shooting by police of a Negro college student, stepping up their demands for a meeting with Mayor Henry Maier.

The National Guard, which had sent 4,800 members of the 32nd Red Arrow Division to help Milwaukee police, withdrew nearly 1,400 men Thursday, mostly from units in the southeastern part of the state, but around 2,800 troops are expected to remain in the area through the weekend.

The 1st Battalion of the 127th Infantry, which includes units from Appleton, Neenah - Menasha, Clintonville, Marinette and Manitowoc, makes up about 25 per cent of the remaining Guard strength

Stay on Duty

An official National Guard source said today the unit, which numbers about 787 men, probably will remain on duty over the weekend He said the 127th Infantry's 1st Battalion has a primary duty of manning roadblock units in the perimeter line which surrounds the blockaded 840-block sector. The troops work on five-hour shifts and maintain roadblocks at 93 perimeter intersections.

What little violence there was Thursday night was mostly confined to firemen who ran into crowds of jeering youths in the city's predominantly Negro north side. Rocks were thrown at firemen while they were attending one small fire

Police also had a few reports of rifles being discharged during an otherwise quiet night.

The Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, sponsor of demonstrations last summer against racial bias in civic club membership rules, asked for a meeting Monday with Maier, who gave no immediate reply

Wants Peace

The mayor met Thursday with 175 businessmen. In tears, he said he was exhausted by the strife that began with rioting Sunday night, and said he wants citizens "living together in peace and harmony."

He denied having known in advance of a meeting which 60 civil rights representatives called off Wednesday when Maier did not arrive.

When told Negroes wanted a meeting concerning the death Wednesday night of Clifford McKissick, a Whitewater State University student who police said was shot while fleeing from a firebomb scene, Maier said he is "willing to meet with anybody and everybody"

McKissick, 18, a youth group worker, died in his home a few doors from a paint store against which firebombs were thrown as four policemen approached. Three other youths were captured, including McKissick's brother

Demand Meeting

About 60 Negroes, some wearing shirts on which "Black Power" was written, gathered Thursday on the lawn of the McKissick home and demanded a meeting be arranged with

Jet Carrying First Lady in Bomb Scare

Mrs. Johnson, 109 Passengers Leave Plane for Search

NEW YORK (AP) — A crank telephone call warning there was a bomb on a Washington shuttle plane delayed Mrs Lyndon B. Johnson's return to the capital Thursday evening after a trip to New York to look at fall fashions

An Eastern Air Lines jet carrying Mrs Johnson and 109 other passengers was on a runway at La Guardia Airport waiting for clearance to take off when the phone call was received by a reservation clerk at 4:48 p.m

The plane, which had been scheduled to leave at 5 p.m., was taken back to the airline's gate. After the passengers were removed, the plane was searched by Eastern employes and airport police.

Others Searched

Three other Eastern planes used in the shuttle service also were searched. No bomb was found

It was not clear whether the male phone caller knew that Mrs. Johnson was aboard the shuttle.

The First Lady left on another shuttle flight at 6:23 p.m.

Jordanians, Israelis Exchange Rifle Fire

TEL AVIV (AP) — Jordanian and Israeli soldiers exchanged rifle fire across the Jordan River near Jericho for the fourth successive day today, the Israeli army reported.

Israeli newspapers said Israel has warned Jordan it will take "strong action" if the shooting incidents continue.

The Israeli army said Jordanian riflemen opened fire briefly in midmorning on Israeli soldiers who shot back. No casualties were reported.

Most of Nation Calm

Shotgun Blast Ignites Kansas Racial Protest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A shotgun blast from a car occupied by white youths aimed at a sheriff and a group of Negro youths touched off a noisy demonstration in Wichita, Kan., early today, marring a night of relative calm in the nation's streets.

Wyandanch, N.Y., a predominantly Negro community on Long Island, suffered through a third night of scattered disorders. Police arrested nine youths after cars were hit by stones and bottles.

But in the rest of the nation the tide of violence continued to ebb. Milwaukee's curfew was eased, and the police chief in Providence, R.I., said he thought racial violence there was "over for this year."

Talking to Negroes

Wichita Sheriff Vern Miller was talking to a group of Negro youths in the city's predominantly Negro northeastern section when a shotgun blast was fired from a car occupied by white youths. Miller and four Negroes were struck by pellets, but none was seriously injured.

Miller pursued the white youths across Wichita at speeds reaching 110 miles an hour, but lost them at a railroad crossing.

Later, 20 to 25 young Negroes demonstrated outside the hospital where the injured were treated, and still later a group of about 70 demonstrated outside police headquarters over the arrest of a Negro alleged to have assaulted three whites.

In Providence, Mayor Joseph A Doorley Jr. said he would make day-to-day decisions on retaining a "selective," curfew in South Providence, troubled by several nights of disorder.

'Storm Troopers'

In Newark, N. J., charging that state police "acted like Nazi storm troopers" during Newark's riots, the head of the city's antipoverty agency has joined a colleague in advocating that Negroes arm themselves for self defense.

Timothy Still, president of the United Community Corp., said Thursday, "I think that the philosophy of this country is that every man should be able to protect his home and family."

Still, a Negro, joined Willie Wright a UCC director, in advocating that Negroes arm themselves.

The Office of Economic Opportunity, which funds UCC, had asked that Wright be suspended pending investigation of his statements.

"Willie and I have disagreed about many things, but I agree with him about that. I agree with him about Plainfield."

Wright had said he would shoot at state police and National Guardsmen who searched homes in riot-torn Plainfield recently for 46 stolen rifles The searchers, acting under a declaration of emergency, did not have search warrants.

"I would not fight the National Guard because they have tanks out there, but I would sure try to get back at them some other way," Still said. "They went into people's homes out there and broke up furniture."

The UCC executive committee said Wright was not speaking for the UCC and would have to bear personal responsibility for his statements. The committee said only UCC's board of directors has the authority to suspend Wright.

Federal Funds for Negroes

Senators Told of School Teaching Hatred of Whites

NASHVILLE, Tenn (AP) — A Negro official's exclusion of whites from a summer antipoverty project which Senate investigators were told teaches "hatred of the white race" may result in loss of federal and local funds, the local director says.

"At the very least, there will be an investigation," said the Rev. J. Paschal Davis, white Episcopal minister who heads Nashville's Metropolitan Action Commission, the local agency through which the Office of Economic Opportunity channels federal antipoverty funds

Davis reacted to the Senate testimony and to the response of Fred Brooks, the project director and chairman of Nashville's Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee

"Historical Fact"

"We teach the historical fact that whites came to Africa and viciously enslaved many of the great African people," said Brooks. "If the history of their Negroes past leads them to hate white people that's not our responsibility."

Asked if a white man could sit in on the classes Brooks said "No, I'm sure the staff would object"

Large pictures of the late Malcolm X, leader of the Black Muslim movement, and SNCC leaders Stokely Carmichael, George Ware and H Rap Brown were in the room where the so-called "liberation school" is conducted by Brooks in St. Anselms Episcopal Chapel, a center for Negro students in North Nashville

Capt John Sorace of Nashville's metropolitan police department told the Senate Judiciary Committee Thursday that the OEO was subsidizing Brooks' project and that it taught Negroes to hate the white man He declined to give the source of his information.

Brooks told a newsman Thursday that the Metropolitan Action Commission had approved $7,700 for the project But Davis denied this.

"We had a contract with St. Anselms for a total of seven summer projects," Davis explained. He said these included the one for which Brooks is listed as director, "but no funds have been paid."

Percy Denies '68 Plans To Run on GOP Ticket

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen Charles H Percy R-Ill., said he will not be a candidate for either president or vice president in 1968

Percy was asked about his interest in the forthcoming national election in an interview for ABC News special. "Who in '68?" taped for showing Aug 17.

"No," he said. "I think my job should be to stay right on the Senate floor, to work right in that job, and I would not be a candidate for either national office"

The freshman senator said he would have no interest in running in primaries even if Michigan Gov George Romney and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon each began winning primaries, balancing off each other.

"I really can't imagine that I would," Percy said. "I think this job of running for national office takes a tremendous amount of time, and I think it would be irresponsible on my part to take that kind of time away from the present job that I have in order to be a serious candidate for any national office. This is simply why I've said I will not be a candidate."

Mercenaries Try to Flee

100 Congolese Soldiers Killed by Rebel Troops

KAMEMBE, Rwanda (AP) — Rebel troops killed about 100 Congolese soldiers in a clash Thursday near Bukavu in the Congo's Kivu Province, a French settler from the area said in Kamembe today.

He said the rebels—white mercenaries and Katanga gendarmes— also captured three of the four armored vehicles supporting the regular Congo troops. There was no word on rebel casualties.

The rebels killed about 50 Congolese soldiers and destroyed three of their armored cars in a four-hour-battle Tuesday. A Congolese government communique said 10 mercenaries were killed and many injured in that fight.

Because of disorder and looting in the Bukavu area, the settler said, his Congolese workers had asked him not to pay their wages for fear the Congolese soldiers would take the money

A rebel force of about 200 white mercenaries and up to 1,300 Katangans had been reported trying to break out of Kivu into the territory of one of the Congo's eastern neighbors, Uganda, Rwanda or Burundi.

They last were reported at Itebero, a village road junction fewer than 70 miles from the Congo's eastern border.

Steel Backs Price Boost For Tinplate

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Big steel threw its weight behind a tinplate price increase Thursday, meeting no immediate government opposition and almost assuring that the rest of the profit-troubled industry will follow suit.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steel producer, joined National and Wheeling Steel corporations, in raising the price of tinplate an average of 2.7 per cent. Bethlehem Steel Corp., second-ranked steel producer, said it was studying the move.

Should Bethlehem and other producers follow, it will be steel's first major price increase since January.

Last week's first-half earnings statements from the steel industry reflected rising costs and declining sales volumes. U.S. Steel reported first-half profits down 44 per cent, Bethlehem was down 38.1, Republic 37.2 and Inland off 39 per cent.

Congressmen See No Easy Passage of LBJ's Tax

Even Democrats Cool to Plan For Surcharge of 10 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional reaction to President Johnson's call for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge generally ranges from lukewarm to chilly, with few members except some Democratic leaders offering unqualified support

Some other Democrats joined in the expected Republican opposition to the long-awaited tax hike request Chairman William Patman (D-Tex) of the Senate-House Economic Committee called it a blunder that would hamper business growth and thus generate little new revenue

And Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark), of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee said only "I'm uncommitted, committed to no one, one way or the other"

Mills, who ranks as perhaps the foremost tax expert in Congress, has remained noncommittal since Johnson first proposed a surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes last January. At that time Johnson urged a 6 per cent surtax

But the Arkansas Democrat revised the Ways and Means Committee's schedule to provide at least two weeks of hearings beginning Aug. 14 The hearings will be interrupted Aug 17 and 18 when the House is scheduled to consider Johnson's bill to increase Social Security benefits and taxes

Higher Draft Calls Likely to Result From Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher draft calls and a possible $2 billion supplemental defense budget request are likely as a result of President Johnson's ordered troop increase for Vietnam, Pentagon sources say.

The President announced Thursday that 45,000 to 50,000 more men will be deployed to the war zone in response to recommendations of top defense and military officials.

At the same time, he said, there is a possibility that because of increased military spending, defense expenditures for fiscal 1968 may exceed the $73 billion budget by up to $4 billion

Exactly how high draft calls will go now is being determined in a Pentagon study of what the newly authorized 525,000-man level for Vietnam next summer will do to overall U. S. military strength.

Announced draft calls for the five months extending through September have risen to an average of about 23,000 a month This reflects, in part, the Pentagon's move to meet its 1966-approved Vietnam manpower ceiling of 480,000

Sources said draft calls during the last quarter of this year likely will exceed 35,000 a month.

As for spending, sources say Defense Secretary Robert S McNamara believes $2 billion in planned spending can be trimmed from the defense budget to offset partially the possible $4 billion overrun mentioned by the President

Defense officials already are in the process of cutting back on fighter aircraft purchases. They say this is possible because of a lower-than-expected rate of losses over North Vietnam.

The level of U.S. forces in Vietnam now stands officially at 454,000 after a 7,000-man "statistical adjustment" by the Pentagon Thursday

In addition to the 454,000 are 35,000 men in Thailand and 40,000 sailors in offshore vessels contributing to the war effort This war force compares with the 472,800 men who served in or near Korea at the peak of that conflict.

The Pentagon said most of the 45,000 new troops will be Army. Sources said there will also be a certain number of Air Force and Navy units, mainly combat support elements

No Reserve callup is expected, the Pentagon said

Pope Reportedly Going to Moscow

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Rumors circulated in Vatican circles today that Pope Paul VI may be considering a trip to Moscow to meet Patriarch Alexis of the Russian Orthodox Church

There was no confirmation

The trip was said to have been suggested to the Pope by Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras during their Christian unity meeting last week in Istanbul The rumors said Athenagoras pointed out to the Pope that Alexis heads the largest Orthodox patriarchate

Dance Hall Noise Prompts Meeting

Chain O' Lakes Association Seeks Additional Deputies

WAUPACA — Waupaca County Sheriff William Mork has requested a meeting with the membership of the Chain O' Lakes Protective Association to answer complaints they have raised about the noise and traffic near the Indian Crossing in the Chain O' Lakes area.

In a letter to Mork, Sylvester Esler, president of the Association has requested a patrolman at the Casino dance hall between the hours of 11 p.m. and 1:30 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights when dances are conducted.

Both Mork and Capt. John Penney, county highway patrol, said not only is one policeman on duty in the area during dance nights but sometimes as many as three are present.

Screaming Crowd

Esler said there is a bedlam of noise and disorder and when the hall closes there is a screaming, yelling crowd that streams out of the hall and residents are afraid to venture out of their cottages. He also said hundreds of cars drag race down County Trunk Q toward King.

Crowds of up to nearly 5,000 teen-agers attend some of the dances at the Casino and there is bound to be some noise and cars on the highway but the drag racing has by no means reached the proportion that Esler charged, Penney said.

Mork said on many of the dance nights he is present in the area to assist in traffic and crowd control. For the number of teen-agers who swarm to the Casino, trouble with the crowd and traffic is held at a minimum, Mork said. There are some parking violations, he said, but added it is legal to park along the roadway where it is not posted and the wheels of the car are off the traveled portion of the road.

Arrest Record

After checking the arrest and accidents records for the summer, Penney said only two accidents involving injuries have occurred in the area. The arrest records show that members of the county traffic patrol have made six arrests for shooting or possession of fireworks, 15 for disorderly conduct, 27 for off premise possession of intoxicants, 14 for open intoxicants in moving vehicles and seven for having intoxicants in a vehicle carrying minors. This is an indication that the county traffic patrol is working in the area on dance nights and are within a few miles of the Casino at all times.

Special emphasis is placed on having policemen in the Casino area during the summer because it is known it is a spot where large crowds of teenagers gather and there is occasional trouble. However, Penney said, when patrolmen are stationed in the area it is necessary to cut down on the police protection in other parts of the county because of a lack of manpower.

In his return letter to Esler, Mork stated he would meet to discuss the problems at the convenience of the association.

Airline Names New Chief Pilot

A new chief pilot and a man for the newly-created post of assistant chief pilot have been named by Air Wisconsin.

Godec Homuth

Capt. Edward J. Godec will take over the post of Chief Pilot, which includes much of the work of an operations manager. Godec served in the Air Force until 1960, when he went into a family business in Sheboygan. He is currently in the Air Force Reserves, flying in the 440th Tactical Airlift Wing. He is married and lives with his wife and three children in Neenah.

Capt. Richard Homuth has been named assistant chief pilot. He served as a charter airlines pilot instructor in West Bend from 1957-66 before coming to Air Wisconsin in March, 1966. He lives with his wife and two sons in Appleton.

Godec has completed 4,000 flying hours and Homuth has a total of 6,500 flying hours.

Fremont Scouts Win Carnival at Week-Long Camp

FREMONT — The waterfront carnival at the Twin Lakes Reservation was won by members of Fremont Boy Scout troop 45 with 35 points out of a possible 40. The 37 area youths under the leadership of Roy Reichenbach, scout master, were also the largest troop at the week-long encampment.

Tapped as candidates for the order of arrow were Charles Abraham, James Biddison, Bruce Kramer, Richard Mathwig, Michael Schafer, Roy Toepke and scoutmaster Roy Reichenbach.

The advancements will be checked at the Aug. 8 meeting when the board of review and the court of honor will be planned. At the fall conclave the youths will be formally initiated into the order of the arrow.

Clintonville Policeman Resigns From Force

CLINTONVILLE — John LeNoble, who has been a member of the city police force for almost nine years, has resigned effective Aug. 31.

He is becoming associated with his brothers, Jerome and Jake, in LeNobles' Lanes, New London.

The LeNoble family is moving to New London next week.

Annual Jaycees Picnic Set in New London

NEW LONDON — The annual Jaycees family picnic will be at the Hatten Park shelter house at 7 p.m. Thursday.

The picnic is the only club-sponsored social event scheduled during the year. Thomas McCormick is chairman of the picnic.

Chilton Valuation Reaches $17,811,910

Total Real Estate Value Jumps $745,195 for Largest Increase

CHILTON — The assessed valuation of real and personal property in the City of Chilton totaled $17,811,910 for the year 1967, according to a report made by City Clerk Arthur T. Pohland. This is an increase of $751,555 over the previous year.

Total real estate value, including all land and improvements, rose from $14,543,290 to the current $15,288,485, an increase of $745,195.

Highlights of the retreat will be the Bible study by Mrs. Kenneth Roufs of Iola, and the mission speaker, Miss Berniece Boyum from Japan.

Other features will be panel discussions, special music, campfires and recreation such as boating, swimming and hiking.

Pre-registrations are to be sent to Mrs. Arthur Larson by Aug. 10.

Schools Set Enrollment at New London

Junior, Senior High Students to Register Aug. 21-23

NEW LONDON — Junior and senior high school students will be registered for school between Aug. 21 and 23.

Joseph Vander Zanden, senior high school principal, said sophomores would register on Aug. 21, juniors would register Aug. 22 and seniors would enroll Aug. 23.

Louis Sheahan, junior high school principal, announced seventh graders would register on Aug. 21, eighth graders on Aug. 22 and freshmen on Aug. 23.

Senior high school students will register at the school's main office, while junior high school students will register at the Washington School office. Registration will be conducted between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. on the scheduled days.

Registration Fee

A $6 registration fee is to be paid by senior high school students at the time of the registration. Junior high school students are to pay a $5 fee.

The fees cover textbook rental, insurance, clean towel service and cost of handbooks.

Vander Zanden said activity books costing $4 would be available to senior high school students at the time of registration. The books contain $20 worth of tickets to athletic and other school-sponsored events.

Families from the rural area may have students register as a group, if it is inconvenient to register them on the scheduled days, Vander Zanden said.

Year's Total at 313

Waupaca County Crashes Match First Seven Month Period of 1966

WAUPACA — A total of 54 accidents on Waupaca County highways during July killed one person and injured 37. The death of a Waupaca businessman in a two-car crash west of Waupaca raised the death toll on the county's highways to six for the year, which is two more than were killed during the first seven months of 1966 in Waupaca County.

The 54 accidents raised the yearly total to 313 which is the same number recorded during the first seven months of 1966. Members of the county traffic patrol investigated 51 of the accidents reported while state police investigated two and one was investigated by another department of the county.

Capt. John Penney reports that members of the traffic patrol made 54 traffic arrests along with 20 criminal arrests during the month. They issued 71 warnings and 41 five-day tickets.

Nineteen blood runs were made for hospitals, 18 funerals were escorted along with 11 other escorts. Members of the patrol assisted at one drowning which occurred at Fremont and directed traffic at 12 fires. Prisoners transported by county patrolmen numbered 18 and 52 motorists in trouble on the highway were assisted.

The seven squad cars operated by the patrol were driven 23,231 miles.

Bonduel OKs School Budget Of $711,054

NAVARINO — A proposed budget of $711,054 was accepted by the voters of the Bonduel Joint School District at a recent meeting. This figure represents an increase over last year's total of $707,535.

The increase is contributed mainly to a hike in teacher's salaries, added bussing costs, and increases in salaries of non-professional employes.

The equalized valuation has increased from the 1967-78 mark of $22,389,900 to $23,848,600. As a result of this increase, Bonduel's share of state aid will total somewhere between $8,000 and $10,000.

School to Sell Surplus Property At New London

NEW LONDON — The annual sale of surplus school district property will be at 9 a.m. Aug. 16 at the Washington School gymnasium.

Property to be sold includes typewriters, gas ranges, floor tile, food trays, electric motors, concrete block, door frames and doors, and fluorescent light fixtures.

Price tags will be placed on the items and they will be sold on a first-come basis.

Rural Manawa Couple Learns Son Is Safe After Forrestal Mishap

MANAWA — Days of wondering ended early Thursday morning for Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thiel, route 1, Manawa, nearly a week after the tragic accident on the U.S.S. Forrestal where their son Don is stationed.

Don, who works nights on the flight deck, was below sleeping at the time of the accident, he told his parents. His telephone call came about 12:15 a.m.

Dedication of the New bridge over the Manitowoc River at Gravesville is scheduled for 8 p.m. today. The new $27,000 span replaces a stone arch bridge that carried traffic across the river for more than 100 years. Officials from the Town of Charlestown, State Highway Commission and the Assembly will be on hand for the dedication. (Connors Photo)

School Unit Asks For Planning Aid

Waupaca to Request State Help in Determining Needs

WAUPACA — Before reaching any definite plans on the construction of a new school in Waupaca, the board of education has decided to call on the State Department of Education for a set of guidelines and a comprehensive plan for both curriculum and building needs.

The decision to ask the state for help on the program was made at a special board of education meeting Thursday.

In addition to discussing a new school for the district the board also voted to close the Sheridan elementary school and absorb the 32 students and four teachers in other schools of the district, primarily city schools.

Little discussion was held on what type of school should be built for the district or when it should be completed but near the end of the meeting, board member Laurie Anderson moved that in addition to requesting the study from the state for a comprehensive plan for a period of 10 to 20 years, a four year high school should be taken into consideration and it be completed within a two year time period.

Information Gathered

Along with the state preparing the plan, Anderson recommended that the administrators of the school gather information on what is needed in a new school and what is now available in present facilities and this report be presented to the board before it is forwarded to the state.

Recently the district purchased a 55 acre site on the southeast side of the city for a building site and although no definite plans have been made, several members of the seven-man board along with some administrators favor a high school for the site.

If a high school is constructed on the site the present high school facilities will be utilized by the junior high school which according to William Williams, elementary school principal, is the area now hardest pressed for space.

It was also recommended that in addition to planning for and building a new school, the present high school building should not be neglected and a yearly improvement program be established.

Forming a citizen committee to study and become acquainted with the building plans was also recommended as a public relations gesture to build public interest in a new school for the city. It was pointed out that a committee made up of citizens not only becomes more familiar with what is being planned but many times valuable sugges-

Miller Ordered To Stand Trial

Charged in $40,000 Coin Theft From Menasha Collector

OSHKOSH — County Judge James V. Sitter this morning ordered Lawrence V. Miller, 23, Oshkosh, to stand trial after Menasha grocer and dealer Irvin Wanserski identified him as one of the three armed men who who stole $40,000 in coins and bills from him March 19.

In a preliminary hearing, Judge Sitter found probable cause to believe that the Menasha grocer was robbed of the money and that Miller, 603 S. Park Ave., took part in the robbery.

Acting Circuit Judge David C. Willis, Green Lake, will try Miller for armed robbery in the third floor courtroom here. Judge Willis has not yet set a trial date.

Only two witnesses, both called by Dist. Atty. Thomas Fink, testified. One of them, Joseph G. Gokey, 1104 Hobbs Ave., an Oshkosh food distributor, refused to testify on the grounds that his answers to Fink's questions might incriminate him. Fink did not indicate why he had called Gokey.

Fink's second witness was Wanserski, who described what happened at his home at 4284 Sixth St. on the night of March 19. He said it took three men from 9 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. to carry all of the stolen coins in his basement upstairs and outside.

Wanserski said he did not see the third man until all the coins were packed in bank bags, pop cases and grocery boxes. One of the men then called to "Willie" to come and help Wanserski up the basement stairs with the load of coins, Wanserski testified.

Wanserski said the man called "Willie" was armed with what seemed to be a .45 caliber automatic pistol tucked in his belt.

When Fink asked Wanserski whether the man who helped him carry the coins was in the courtroom, Wanserski said "yes" and pointed to Miller.

Milwaukee Man Found Innocent of Driving After License Revoked

WAUPACA — James J. Gaetz, 23, Milwaukee, charged March 23 by state police with operating a car after his drivers' license had been revoked, was found innocent Thursday by Municipal Justice George Whalen.

Gaetz entered an innocent plea to the charge July 29 when he was arraigned in Municipal Justice Court and a trial without jury had been set for Thursday. He was arrested on U.S. 10 in the Town of Weyauwega.

Group Achievement Project

Mosquito Hill 4-H Club Develop New Wayside

NEW LONDON — A wayside has been developed by the Mosquito Hill 4-H Club on a site about four miles east of here on Outagamie County Trunk S.

The club undertook the project as its annual group achievement program for the year. The site is located at the Town of Liberty hall and at the junction of S and Sleepy Hollow Road.

Sleepy Hollow School was once located at the site and the wayside has been named "Sleepy Hollow Wayside" by the 4-H club.

A card party was held early in the spring to raise money for the project. After money had been raised the town board was approached for authorization to develop the recreational facility.

Rows of pine trees were pruned and tall dead grass was burned over the spring as a preparatory step for development. Several bushes, dead branches and weeds were removed.

Picnic tables have been constructed, a flower garden planted, a sign erected and a baseball diamond and backstop have been installed.

Existing facilities, toilets, flagpole, swings and seesaws, were painted and restored.

The club will continue to maintain and improve on the project over the years.

Planning the project were Willard Laabs, Mrs. Harold Morack, David Laabs, Wayne Morack and Betty Glasenapp.

Court Cases Top 200 Mark

Waupaca Justice Collects $6,222 In Fines, Fees

WAUPACA — Cases handled by the Waupaca Municipal Justice Court topped the 200 mark for the fourth straight month according to a report prepared by Justice George Whalen.

During July 203 cases were processed through the court. Of these, 82 were from arrests made by the state traffic patrol, 46 by the county traffic patrol, 23 each by the Conservation Department and City of Waupaca, 19 by the Sheriff's Department, six by the City of Weyauwega and four by the City of Manawa.

Fines, forfeitures and fees collected during the month totaled $6,222. Of the total amount $2,115 was collected from persons arrested by the state patrol, $1,779 from the county traffic patrol, $350 for those arrested for Conservation Department violations, and $175 from those arrested by the Sheriff's Department.

Justice fees earned by the Municipal Court for the city of Waupaca totaled $894.

Red Sox Take 5-4 Victory Over Braves

Earn First-Week Win in Tourney In New London

NEW LONDON — The first week of tournament play in the Boys Baseball League came to an exciting windup Wednesday.

The Red Sox won a 10-inning marathon from the Braves by a 5-4 score. The Braves took a 4-1 lead in the top of the inning by pushing across three runs, but the Red Sox rallied for four in the bottom of the frame for the victory. The game was called after seven innings Tuesday because of darkness.

The Red Sox held a slim 3-2 lead going into the sixth inning against the league champion White Sox, but a five run rally capped by a grand slam home run by Lyle Hilker earned the league champions the victory.

In an extra-inning game Wednesday, the Orioles exploded for six runs in the seventh inning to beat the Dodgers 7-1. Dan Stern powered a bases-loaded home run for the victors. Stern struck out 15 Dodgers in six innings before giving way to Bob Meyer in the seventh. Greg Baehman fanned all 18 batters to make an out in the regulation game before giving way to Rick Kaepernick.

Randy Scheid homered to pace the Colts to a narrow 5-3 win over the Hawks and the Bears downed the Tigers 13-7 in the minor league.

Sons Defeat Fathers in Marion Game

Baseball Squads Battle Parents On Ball Diamond

MARION — Fathers were no match for their sons Wednesday night as six squads of dads were defeated in baseball competition by teams composed of their offsprings.

Four intramural teams each played an inning against their fathers. Winning were the Yankees, 4-0; White Sox, 3-0; Giants 3-1, and Tigers, 3-1.

Txhe three-out rule was waived so that each boy batted at least once.

Wins 8-0

The American League entry in the Central Wisconsin Boys Baseball League defeated its fathers in a two-inning contest, 8-0. The National League team won 6-5 in five innings.

Prizes for ticket sales were awarded between games. Top salesmen and their ticket sale totals were Mark Brandenburg, $32; Mark Meyer, $25.75; Rusty Schider, $19, Tim Dieck, $14.75, and Mike Robenolt, $13.

Winning baseballs were Dave Bertram, Doug Egdorf, Bruce Romberg and Dennis Pietz.

Pays for Program

Proceeds from the ticket sales and concession stand are used to pay umpires, purchase equipment and provide bus transportation to away games.

The summer recreation program, which began in June, ends this week John Bartelt was in charge of baseball and James Rowan swimming.

Summer School in Wittenberg Ends 6-Week Session

WITTENBERG — The Title I summer school session, which has been operating for the past six weeks, closed Friday with an outing for the pupils at the Elderon Park.

The pupils participated in softball, used playground equipment at the park, and took hikes on the trails around the lakes.

Certificates of participation were awarded with special recognition to those who had perfect attendance, and to those having regular attendance.

Perfect attendance award winners were Cheryl Dettmering, Daniel Hanke, Jayne Klinner, Nancy Koskey, Brent Schoenick, Allan Sprangers, David and Dennis Stewart, Theresa Sews, Joe Wendler, Elaine Wierzba, Marvin Wierzba, James Wojciehowski, James Woolwine, Mary Sue and Joel Yaeger.

Thirty-eight awards were given for regular attendance.

The attendance was somewhat hampered by bouts with chicken pox, mumps and various types of flu.

Teachers are at present making out reports which are to be sent to parents of the pupils, copies of which will also be sent to the State Department of Education.

Weekly Winners In Trap Shooting Test Announced

TUSTIN — Winners of individual and team matches of trap shooting sponsored by the Poygan Restoration Association have been announced by publicity chairman Arthur Hepburne.

Al's Red Owl Store, New London, for the fourth consecutive week remains in first place followed by the "Bridge" team and Brasch's House of Cheese.

C. Hagen of Illinois took first place in the men's individual shoot with a perfect score of 25. Mrs. Ronald Abbott placed first in women's competition. The William Hildebrand family, Medina, gave a family marksmanship exhibition.

Matches are staged each Thursday evening and Sunday afternoon at the range on County Trunk HH, two miles east of Bloomfield.

Wisconsin Cheese

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin cheddar cheese prices were ¼ cent higher on the barrel style but were otherwise unchanged this week, the agricultural marketing service said today.

Demand was mostly fair with supplies ranging from adequate to excessive, the service noted. The demand lacked the aggressiveness of several weeks ago Hot and dry weather continued to cause a seasonal drop in production.

American cheese production in the nation for the week ending July 27 was down 4 per cent from the previous week at 26.5 million pounds.

However, this output was 12 per cent above the five-year average and 8 per cent ahead of this time last year.

The state's Swiss cheese market was steady on top grades but unsettled to weak on the lower offerings Supplies of grade A block were generally adequate, grades B and C were fully ample and grade D was termed plentiful with a few sales as low as 39 cents.

Demand on top grades of Swiss was mostly fair Buying activity was seasonally slow and unaggressive

Quarter Horse Events Scheduled in Manawa

MANAWA — Horse enthusiasts will converge here for two registered quarter horse shows scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at the rodeo arena.

The Rodeo City Riders Saddle Club, Manawa is sponsoring the Saturday show and the Tri-County Saddle Association, Appleton is in charge of Sunday's show.

Each show will have 14 halter classes beginning at 8:30 a.m. They include yearling, two-year, three-year, and four-year and older horses in the mare, stallion and gelding divisions, plus weanling filly and colt classes.

Select Champions

In addition, a grand champion and reserve champion will be selected in each sex group. A youth showmanship class is also scheduled.

The afternoon performance classes will begin at 1:00 p.m. each day and include junior western pleasure, junior reining, pole bending, senior western pleasure, senior reining, barrel racing, western riding, and working cow horse. There will also be three youth activity western horsemanship and reining, with the latter replaced by barrel racing in the Sunday program. The Sunday show will have one additional class, open western horsemanship for riders age 19 and over.

The awards on Saturday include a trophy halter and six ribbons in each class, lettered blankets to the three grand champions and prize money in the performance classes. A trophy belt buckle and six ribbons will be awarded in all classes on Sunday, plus a trophy desk set to the grand champions and money in the performance classes.

High Point Trophy

In addition, a high point trophy and $25 cash will go to the horse earning the most points at the two shows in both halter and performance classes.

Jack Brainard, a quarter horse breeder from Rochester, Minn., will judge the Saturday show and Kenneth R. Eckar, Argos, Ind., will be judging Sunday.

Both shows are approved as official point shows by the American Quarter Horse Association, the Wisconsin Quarter Horse Association and the Badger Quarter Horse Association.

Stabling Provided

Stabling for the horses will be provided at the fair grounds at Weyauwega and in private barns in the Manawa area.

A dance will be held at the rodeo grounds Saturday evening featuring country and western music. A lunch and refreshment stand will be serving throughout the weekend.

Mary Simons, New London and Carol Woldt, Appleton are secretaries for the Saturday and Sunday shows respectively. Lyle Spiegelberg, Manawa is general chairman.

residents within 2 miles of County Trunk N will have a temporary interruption

OF ELECTRIC SERVICE

Early Saturday Morning, August 5

2:30 a.m. to 5 a.m.

If you live in the Town of Harrison within two miles of County Trunk N, your electricity will be temporarily turned off early tomorrow morning from 2:30 a.m. to 5 a.m.

Service will be restored sooner, if possible.

This interruption is necessary so Wisconsin Michigan Power Company crews can safely make permanent repairs to a line recently damaged by lightning. To cause the least inconvenience, this work is scheduled at night when most people will be asleep.

After electric service is restored, please reset your electric clocks and other automatic equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton J. Arps

PROSPECTOR DAYS DRAWING PAYS OFF

At a recent Prospector Days Drawing held at Empire Realty's Florida Division office at 215 Main Street, Menasha, Mrs. Milton J. Arps was selected the winner of Empire's Trip to Florida Award.

Milt and Marge Arps are well known in the Valley for their outstanding restaurants. The Manor House is located in downtown Appleton while the Edgewater is on the River at Menasha. "The Crown" is a beautiful newly remodeled restaurant located on South Oneida Street in Appleton.

"The Crown" has been a lifetime goal for Milt, who even while serving in the Marine Corps had dreams of some day offering the finest, most interesting restaurant in the state.

The "Alex's" story is one of third and fourth generation family participation. In addition to Milt and Marge, their two sons John and Jim have studied extensively and now contribute their experience to the "Alex's" operation at both "The Crown" and the "Edgewater".

Milt says that though his 28 years of restaurant experience has helped, still he had to wait for his crew to "grow" to make his lifetime dream a reality.

The dedication of the family has been recognized by six first prize Culinary Awards from The Wisconsin Restaurant Association, three first prize Menu Awards from the National Restaurant Association, and a recent award for having one of the Outstanding Wine Lists and Services in the United States.

The Arps will be accompanying Empire's trip to Florida on August 19th and will visit Marco Island while there.

Empire Realty Co. of Wisconsin, Ltd., in addition to selling local real estate in the Fox River Valley, also is franchised representative for the famous Mackle Bros., developers of Spring Hill, Marco Island and Deltona, Florida.

First and second runner-ups were Mr. Robert Allen, Menasha, and Mr. George Wenzel of Menasha. Mrs. Gertrude Parker of Menasha won a similar trip last year.

Telephone Firm Will Expand Facilities

1,600 New Phone Numbers Added To Services

The Wisconsin Telephone Company announced today that facilities for placing local as well as long distance telephone calls will be expanded with equipment additions totaling almost $300,000

Richard C. Van Sistine, local community relations manager, said that the bulk of the work will consist of installing complex switching equipment in the central office, located 126 N. Superior St. Included in the plans is some additional air conditioning equipment.

Van Sistine also reported that work is nearing completion on a $49,000 cable constraction project along Bennett and Richmond Streets on the city's north side.

The largest equipment addition is valued at $197,300 and will be used to expand facilities for placing local telephone calls.

1,400 New Lines

Van Sistine said, "This equipment will provide 1,400 new subscriber lines and 1,600 new telephone numbers. The Appleton switching center serves almost 39,000 telephones and handles an average of 185,000 originating calls a day."

Facilities for placing DDD (direct distance dailing) calls also will be expanded with the addition of two Automatic Number Identification (ANI) frames. "These frames are used for mounting the equipment which automatically records the number of the party making a direct distance dialed call," Van Sistine explained. "ANI equipment, which is associated with one and two-party service, eliminates the need of an operator coming on the line and asking for the number of the calling party."

Various types of carrier equipment for long distance calls will be installed at a cost of $82,400, according to Van Sistine.

He said, "This carrier equipment will give us extra circuits for calls between Appleton and Clintonville. New London, Fremont, Green Bay, Black Creek, Manawa and Weyauwega."

Underground Cable

About 11,000 feet of underground cable is being installed along College Avenue to Bennett Street, along Bennett Street to Richmond Street, and along Richmond Street to existing aerial facilities.

The project is designed to relieve existing facilities which serve numerous suburban home developments and the communities of Black Creek, Shiocton and Nichols. These facilities also will be used in association with the telephone company's rural improvement program.

The cable project should be completed near the end of August.

School Recommended

Fred Mannel, a former board of education member, was the only citizen present at the meeting and recommended the construction of a school for grades six through nine. It was explained that it is now the feeling of the board that a high school on the new site would be a greater advantage because of the site location and that the present gymnasium would be utilized by the new school if possible.

When a new school is constructed, whether it be a junior high or senior high, most of the rural area schools will be phased out with the exception of perhaps Gards Corners school. Williams, along with the board, agreed that students of the rural area schools are not obtaining the same educational advantages that the students in the city schools are.

By phasing out Sheridan School for the 1967-68 school year the need to hire two extra teachers which had been planned for this year will be eliminated. An early proposal was to take grades four, five and six out of Sheridan, leaving grades one through three for the coming school year. After it was learned that the entire student body could be absorbed in other schools without overtaxing the class load, it was decided to close the school. The move will be in the best interest of the students, Williams said.

Mother, Daughter Win Week Trip To Mexico City

Miss Mary LeFevre and her mother, Mrs. John LeFevre, 1870 S. Mohawk St., Appleton, are headed for an exciting week in Mexico City. Mary won the trip for two in a Mexican promotion sponsored by the H. C. Prange Co. She will be a senior at St. Norbert College this fall.

The pair will leave Appleton at 4 p.m. Aug. 12 via Air Wisconsin for Chicago, where they will connect with an American Airlines jet flight to Mexico City.

A full week of sightseeing is scheduled for the LeFevres by their hosts, Amigo Tours. Included in the itinerary are visits to the Mexico City Palace of Fine Arts where they will see the Folkloric Ballet, ride in a flower-decorated trajinera down the Floating Gardens of Xochimilco and see bull fights at the Plaza Mexico.

The pair will also visit the Historical National Palace, famed for picturesque murals by Mexico's celebrated artist Diego Rivera, and other historic and scenic spots in and around Mexico City.

Return flight is set for Aug. 19.

Appleton Gets Award for Safety Work

Appleton Mayor George Buckley and Police Chief E. O. Wolff attended a noon luncheon in Madison today, honoring Appleton as one of 12 Wisconsin cities with outstanding pedestrian safety programs in 1966. The cities are being cited by the American Automobile Association (AAA).

Presentations at the meeting held at the Park Motor Inn were made by Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

The villages of Kimberly and Little Chute will receive similar recognition for pedestrian safety programs next week.

AAA safety director Francis J. Eckerman will visit the Little Chute police department at 1 p.m. Monday and the Kimberly police department at 2 p.m. that day to present the awards to the villages.

Baseball League Starts Windup At New London

NEW LONDON — Final elimination games in the Boys Baseball League tournament will be played Monday, with the remaining teams squaring off about 7 p.m. Thursday for the championships.

In the Minor League, the Colts (9-5) will play the Foxes (11-2) and the league champion Cats (13-0) battle the Bears (10-4). The minor division championship game will begin the champion class twin bill.

The major league champion White Sox (13-4) must play the Cardinals (12-5) Monday for the right to meet the Orioles (11-7) in the championship final about 9 p.m. Thursday.

New London Band Schedules Concert as State Fair Warmup

NEW LONDON — The first summer band concert of the season will be presented at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Washington School.

Senior high school band members will perform in front of the school while seating will be available on the lawn. Don Griebenow, director, said persons can bring lawn chairs or blankets, but folding chairs would be available.

This will be a form of rehearsal for the 92-member band consisting of sophomores, juniors and seniors. The band will perform at the Wisconsin State Fair at 4:45 p.m. Aug. 12.

Tuesday's concert will last about an hour.

Air Force Thunderbirds Will Dedicate Air Show To Late Major Liethen

The Air Force Thunderbirds will dedicate a flying show to the late Maj. Frank Liethen, Appleton pilot who was killed while flying with the Thunderbirds last June. The show will be held at the Dodge County Airport, a half-mile north of Juneau Sunday afternoon.

An air medal has been awarded posthumously to Liethen, and it will be presented to his family at 4:25 p.m. ceremonies preceding the flying exhibition.

Negro Support Not Sought

'Liberal' Dirty Word to Men Who Wear Mississippi Democrat Label

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The men campaigning for governor of Mississippi stand on decorated flat-bed trucks in courthouse squares from Sullivan's Hollow to Piney Ridge and call each other names—"liberals" "Kennedy men" and "Washington pawns."

These are Democrats, striving to win nomination in the party's Aug. 8 primary. The Republicans already have their candidate for the November election, and interest now centers entirely on the "Mississippi Democrats."

"You sure better not label me as a plain Democrat," one candidate warned a newsman. "I'm a Southern or Mississippi Democrat, and you better spell it right."

Concentrated Effort

Despite 185,000 registered Negroes among the 700,000 voters the candidates are not openly soliciting Negro support. Civil rights organizations are concentrating on county and district races in selected areas.

There are seven gubernatorial candidates wearing the "Mississippi Democrat" label: ex-Gov. Ross R. Barnett, Rep. John Bell Williams, State Treasurer William Winter, Bill Waller, Jimmy Swan, Vernon Brown and C.L. McKinley.

The winner will face Rubel Phillipps, a Jackson attorney who won 38 per cent of the vote in 1963 as Republican candidate against Democrat Paul B. Johnson Jr., ineligible by law to succeed himself.

Ross Barnett was governor from 1960 to 1964 and made national news in 1962 when James H. Meredith, a Negro, was enrolled in the University of Mississippi.

Opponents are using the incident against Barnett, 69. John Bell Williams calls Barnett the "secret-deal candidate," claiming he agreed with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to allow Meredith to enter school if Kennedy would make a show of force from federal officers.

Barnett has denied the charge, but Kennedy on a recent trip to the state said such a deal was made.

Barnett is also on the defensive because of his age.

"We should elevate 'Ole Ross' to the post of senior statesman or governor-emeritus," gibes Williams.

The congressman stings Barnett with charges of being "a silk-stocking man who, if elected, would have to move into the governor's mansion, and that would mean moving into a smaller house."

Barnett is campaigning on a platform of states rights, support of ex-Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama for president, and increased state welfare benefits for the aged and disabled. He has promised a $75-a-month old age pension, now $50 a month.

"I'd rather see the elderly people of Mississippi get 80 per cent of the federal money rather than the Head Start and the Great Society programs," he says.

Barnett attacks his opponents as "liberals and middle-of-the-roaders."

He implies that funds raised by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., for the Young Democrats of Mississippi are being funneled into William Winter's campaign.

"He's been running around with Hodding Carter III (Greenville newspaper editor and co-chairman of the Young Democrats) and a Negro boy in the Young Democrats," Barnett charges.

"When this summer is over, Winter will be gone," says Barnett, "and I think we'll just send Johnny Bell Williams back up there to Congress."

Williams has served 21 years in Congress and says, "That's enough time for any man to have to live in Washington. I want to come back to the Bible Belt which the liberals make so much fun of."

He says he stands for states rights and law and order and never fails to remind listeners that it was he who lost his party seniority in the House for supporting Republican Barry Goldwater against President Johnson in the 1964 election.

Return Seniority

"They offered me that seniority back last year," Williams says, "with the only condition that I suport Lyndon Johnson or any other candidate they might select and endorse the national platform, whatever that might be."

His stump crowds bellow, "Give 'em hell, John Bell!"

Winter, 44, a lawyer from Grenada, served in the Legislature and was state tax collector before winning election as treasurer.

Williams and Barnett both charge that Winter is a liberal. Winter says he is a "responsible conservative" and accused the other candidates of spouting claptrap."

"Mississippi simply cannot endure leadership that carries us into blind alleys and confuses and disillusions our people," Winter says. "I offer a simple choice of responsible conservatism versus reckless reaction, of good government versus second-rate politics."

Business and industrial leaders have rallied behind Winter with large sums of money, and most political observers think he's the leading candidate.

Jimmy Swan, a Hattiesburg radio executive, has the state's ultraconservative vote. Robed Ku Klux Klansmen have, on occasion, appeared at highway intersections handing out his campaign literature.

Swan advocates a "free, private school system" for every white child in the state.

"In this school system," Swan said, "not only will our children receive a better education and have Bible reading and prayer, but our teachers will teach in the high moral and segregated atmosphere that befits the character of true Southern womanhood."

Bill Waller is the district attorney who twice tried, but failed, to convict Byron De La Beckwith of the sniper murder of civil rights leader Medgar W. Evers.

Beckwith is a candidate for lieutenant governor, but the trial is not a campaign issue.

Waller bills himself as "a true conservative" and advocates lower taxes and "more for your dollar."

Vernon Brown, 66, is running his first statewide race after 28 years in county government. He admits he has few financial backers and his campaign lacks news releases or advertisements.

C. L. McKinley is an employe of a shipyard on the Gulf Coast. He has yet to appear at a major political rally.

Marion Advertiser Purchased

Employe Buys Long-Time Family Firm

MARION — The Marion Advertiser, a family-run business for 72 years, was sold this week to Leland (Korny) Krueger a long-time employee.

Francis Byers, editor since 1946, made the announcement this week. The business was started in 1895 by Stephen L. Perry who was succeeded after his death by his nephew Elmer Byers in 1906. Byers was succeeded by his son Francis.

Krueger came to work at the advertiser as as a printer's devil in 1940 at the age of 11. He worked as a "devil" for two years and then moved with his parents to the Bonduel area. He applied for a job at the Advertiser the day after his graduation from Bonduel High School and worked there until September of 1950 when he enlisted in the U.S. Navy.

Krueger served as a printer in the Navy and finished his stint in 1954 as a petty officer third class in the printing field. He was employed by the Shawano Journal Printing Co. until March, 1956 when he returned to Marion and the Advertiser where he has been since.

Byers has stated that he and his family will remain in Marion but his future plans are indefinite at this time.

Conservationist 'Acting Secretary'

Voigt Leads Race for Resources Command

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Lester P. Voigt, a veteran of 12 years as director of the state Conservation Department, has taken a long lead in the race for command of the new and consolidated state Department of Natural Resources created by the legislature a month ago.

The board of directors of the new department, after considerable sparring at a first formal meeting here Thursday, announced that it will consider other qualified candidates for the top job later, but chose Voigt as administrative officer with the title of acting secretary."

The action was an obvious setback for Freeman Holmer, the director of the state Department of Resource Development, the other major unit to be merged into the natural resources department under the legislative mandate for the first functional administration of all conservation and resource programs in state history.

The Voigt selection, although attended by seeming harmony, carried audible undertones of interservice rivalry and ambition.

It was a clear victory for the members of the conservation commission, who were given a majority status of four to three when the leguslature, after a long and bitter fight about the conservation administration provisions of the Kellett reorganization act wrote a compromise amendment to reassure the conservation department and its politically potent allies among "red shirt" sportsmen.

The board also elected as its chairman Russell Lynch, a retired Milwaukee newspaperman, who has been a member of the board of resource development agency. He was elected over John Potter, Wisconsin Rapids lawyer, who is the chairman of the resource department board

The vote on Voigt was unanimous, but only after considerable discussion and some obvious reservations among several members that were evidently removed when the word "acting" was added to Voigt's title as secretary.

Yet the fact that he will be the top administrative officer of the merged department for an indefinite period will give him an advantage in the later competition with other possible candidates, notably including Holmer. D. K. Tyler of Phillips, a member of the conservation commission and the new board, objected early in the discussion that it would be an "unfair advantage."

Immediate Powers

His immediate powers will be considerable, and will include the right to give final approval to all personnel appointments in any of the constitutent agencies of the consolidated department He will prepare the agenda for the meetings of the new board.

Glen Pommerening of the state Department of Administration, who had been assigned by Gov. Warren Knowles to attend meetings of the new board as a consultant on legislative intent and other details, was evidently surprised by the members' determination to choose an administrative officer so quickly. Under the law, the mergers of the several conservation agencies won't become fully effective for nearly a year.

Voigt is a civil service professional who rose through the ranks of the state conservation department personnel division, and has now served longer as conservation director than any of his predecessors.

The conservation commission and the conservation department which Voigt heads fought the merger legislation bitterly, and provoked the legislature into an investigation which brought a formal committee finding that their lobbying was improper.

Teen Driver Escapes With Minor Injuries But Automobile Burns

Ann Bohman, 17, route 2, Hortonville, escaped with a minor neck injury when the car she was driving crashed into a stone water tank and burned about 8:50 a.m. today on Outagamie County Trunk S, a half mile west of State 76.

County police said the 1962 car was destroyed by fire. The Hortonville Fire Department was called.

Police said Miss Bohman was on her way to work and was driving a car owned by Tim Menning, route 1, Appleton.

She reportedly was westbound on S when the car got onto a shoulder on a curve, went out of control, skidded sideways into a ditch, struck the water tank and burst into flames.

Parish Plans Annual Picnic At Sherwood

Square Dancers Will Highlight Fete Of Sacred Heart

SHERWOOD — About 100 square dancers from clubs in the mid-west will highlight the Sacred Heart parish picnic here Sunday. Dancers will appear in costume, performing throughout the afternoon and evening.

A beef and ham country-style dinner will be served by the Christian Mothers Society beginning at 11 a.m. A cafeteria-style supper will start at 4 p.m.

Country-style music with community singing will be heard in the old-time palm garden and a teenage band will perform from 7 to 11 p.m.

Osmond Amusements, Whitelaw, have been engaged to provide mechanical rides for the midway. There also will be pony rides for the children.

The Milwaukee Racial Problem

The quick action of Mayor Henry Maier in establishing a curfew certainly was instrumental in slowing down the riots in Milwaukee. The restoration of something resembling law and order was the first order of business.

But it begins to appear that the Milwaukee mayor is making a big mistake in not trying to work with Milwaukee civil rights leaders and in opposing the work of Joseph Fagan, state industrial commission chairman, who is representing Governor Knowles in Milwaukee.

Fagan gave out letters of identification to several civil rights leaders, including Father James Groppi and CORE leader Cecil Brown. Both men presumably were anxious to try to help restore order. The action should have been cleared with city authorities in all probability or with Governor Knowles. But Mayor Maier's claim that the letters were being handed out to Fagan's "friends" is unwarranted.

Studies around the nation indicate that, while outside agitators may be instrumental in the explosions that are rocking our cities and while the actual rioters are only a handful of the Negro community, there is some measure of support for the violence among many middle class Negroes at least at the beginning of the riots. These are the people who must work strenuously to prevent and put down the violence. These are the people whose support must be sought unless we want to have our cities in perpetual states of siege. And these are people who quite obviously are not being reached by city authorities in Milwaukee. "The communications gap is enormous," said one federal official when commenting on the political dilemma for Mayor Maier.

Some city officials were quoted as saying that the Milwaukee riots were unexpected but there had been warnings for months that they could come.

The conflicts over the last few years with the Milwaukee Board of Education, the demonstrations in front of homes of white members of the Eagles Club, the charges of police harassment of civil rights workers, all have added up to an explosive situation however mistaken some of the Negro leaders may be. Clearly there is a lack of liaison between Milwaukee city officials and the civil rights leaders who might be able to reduce the tensions.

In Detroit, national partisan politics appeared to be playing a large and unnecessary role in efforts to stop the violence. In Milwaukee, the failure of the white leaders may become increasingly apparent. Force is necessary to quell the violence but force alone is not the answer.

Mayor Maier says that he is now deciding "who will be helpful and who won't be." But Milwaukee needs far more contact between city officials and those representing the inner core than it has had in the past and the riots indicate the width of the gap.

'Young Man, You've Got Nothing There but Weeds!'

Support for a 'Dove'

So-called outspoken "peace candidates" failed to get anywhere in last fall's national elections. But part of the reason may have been the fact most of them were unknowns with no obvious qualifications for office beyond being against the war in Vietnam.

Senator Frank Church, one of the Senate's leading doves, has been faced with a recall movement in his home state of Idaho. The effort was made primarily by conservatives who opposed his war stand as well as his more liberal views on other matters. But the movement has collapsed and reportedly Senator Church has come through it with added political prestige.

Actually the collapse of the recall effort cannot entirely be laid to backing for Senator Church's point of view on Vietnam. Some hard thinking conservatives like the editors of National Review opposed it from the beginning. There was growing conflict among its supporters. The original idea came from an Idaho handyman, Gene Mileck, last May but it was picked up and expanded by Ronald Rankin and William Patrick of California who gave considerable financial support. Mileck fired Rankin some time ago because of a disagreement on strategy and Patrick has announced that his support has been withdrawn on the advice of conservative California Senator George Murphy.

Nevertheless the collapse of the recall gives some indication that there may be some quiet support for a dove and serious doubts about our current policy in Vietnam among a lot of voters It's a hopeful sign.

Bigger and Faster Airplanes

It has been only a little over 40 years since Charles Lindbergh crossed the Atlantic in the Spirit of St. Louis. But the advances in air travel are something few would have believed at the time. The progress was demonstrated at the 27th International Air and Space Show in Paris, the largest such event in its history.

The United States still is far and away the leader in air flight and construction. A whopping 82.6 per cent of the 3,042 jet aircraft in service or on order are American built. Next are the British and then the French. But the Soviet Union, offering long term credits, interest rates as low as 1.5 per cent and attractive terms for all sorts of services, is clearly making a bid for the world's business. This is one of the new looks in Soviet industry where profit gradually has assumed a more important place and foreign exchange has been recognized as a healthy thing. The Russians, of course, are not overlooking the prestige that comes with selling jets abroad.

The Russians have claimed that they would have their supersonic transport, the TU-144, ready for its first flight this fall. The TU-144 is not as ambitious a project as the United States Boeing 2707, expected to be in the air by 1974 That will carry 300 passengers at 1,780 miles an hour. The Anglo-French Concorde should be ready in 1971 but will go only (only?) 1,450 miles an hour with 130 passengers. And of course the United States already has the mammoth 251 passenger Douglas 8-61 which took a load of Americans to the air show.

To most of us, the prospective speeds are beyond our imagination although we will adjust to them. But the ever faster speeds, the increase especially in small planes and feeder lines to reach the massive jets, and the always increasing number of people in the air at the same time mean there must be a comparable effort to find the best safety methods. After the recent crash of a transport and a small plane 12 miles off course, it was reported that there had been some 270 near misses in the last year. This does not include suspected ones unreported. Clearly the tremendous speed of the supersonic transports means a strict limitation of air space in areas of takeoff and landing.

The progress in space exploration has caught the imagination of the public in the last few years. But in a way air transportation, which involves the general public, has been even more spectacular.

Looking Backward

Notice to Would-Be Burglars

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Aug. 3. 1867.

On Thursday night last, the ticket office of the Chicago and North Western Railway in this city was broken into, and the lock of the common safe therein for the safe keeping of papers, change, etc., was blown to pieces without access being gained to the contents of the safe.

Only some $30 in change being in the safe, there was little accomplished

Three suspicious looking characters were hanging around during the day, by whom it is supposed the bungling attempt at burglary was made. They took the early morning train north, the noise of their operations not having been heard, and the passenger depot not being open at that hour (3:55 a.m.). Green Bay would do well to look out for these characters.

The station issued the following card yesterday, signed by John Goodland, Agent:

NOTICE: The parties who attempted to open the safe in the Ticket Office, last night, are informed that what money there is on hand is kept in the safe on the other side. A good revolver and somebody to use it is kept constantly on hand!

Friday, July 31, 1942.

One of Symco's most historic structures, a dance pavilion erected in 1892 in the Waupaca County village, was being razed Erected by Julius Krause on the old Feitzer farm, the building was moved in 1917 to its location north of the business district on the Little Wolf River It was a popular place for young and old before the days of the automobile

Capt Orville J Muenster was commanding officer of Company B, Appleton unit of the Wisconsin State Guard

Gerhard K Willecke, Stevens Point, was named instructor in physics at Lawrence College for the coming year. He had been teaching in Wisconsin high schools for the past nine years

10 YEARS AGO

Friday, Aug. 2, 1957.

Three Appleton fishermen took 84 pounds of muskellunge in little more than a half hour of fast action on the Chippewa Flowage near Hayward Winton "Windy" Glaser brought in a 36-pounder, Robert Vander Velden, of route 2, Appleton boated a 27-pounder, and Jerry "Tiny" Clark brought in a 21-pounder

Special trophies went to three Kaukauna boys for being top ball players in the senior hardball league at the Kaukauna playground that summer. Director Robert Vanevenhoven presented trophies to Leroy Weyenberg, best pitcher, Ken Kavanaugh, top hitter, and John Esler, second best hitter

Rosary College alumnae in the Fox Cities area were planning a picnic at the Zuehlke cottage on Lake Winnebago. The committee in charge included Mrs. Roger Sellingo, Mrs. Joseph Fieweger, Mrs. Richard Stack and Mrs. A. T. Schuch.

Fans Aren't Meant to Raise 'Cool' Corn

URBANA, Ill (AP) — University of Illinois researchers are trying to determine if fans in a cornfield will boost the harvest yield

They want to know whether more air, and consequently more carbon dioxide would increase corn production over plants in the same field not enjoying the fans.

Last season, researchers turned the fans on when the corn tasseled and ran them day and night during the critical ear-filling period. No conclusions yet.

Washington Insight —

Quality Government Needed; How It's Done Matters Little

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — Leaving for another trip abroad, I find myself musing on an American phenomenon I call the Quality Debate — the widespread discussion of how to impart higher quality to our institutions.

Kraft

It is a latent discussion It rarely breaks through the surface, or takes on an explicit focus But it underlies all the most familiar and heated themes of argument in the country.

Consider, for example, the well-worn hassle about centralization versus decentralization of government. Like it or not, the decentralizers have to admit that most state and local governments are unequal to the demands of the modern world

Similarly, many of us who have in the past not been averse to control from Washington now have second thoughts. The Federal bureaucracy is much too top-heavy, much too devoted to outworn routine, to be successfully guided from above in delicate tasks that reach into families and neighborhoods

Quality Government

With this much admitted, the debate becomes transformed. It is not really centralization against decentralization at all The subject up for discussion is how to impart quality to units of government working at the local level.

The same kind of transformation, I think, affects all the usual subjects of argument. The fight between the private sector of the economy and the public sector, for example, turns out to be a question of how to make institutions which provide goods and services to masses of people work well Even the exceedingly complicated matter of race relations turns largely on importing institutions into the ghettos which foster high standards

Because the quality debate is only now emerging, there are no fixed rules as to what makes for high-grade performance But I think we do know enough to set out certain tentative conditions.

Wealth and size, to begin with. It takes money to train and retain competent people — whether to run space programs or to man a police department Most important tasks usually require a large number of specialists in different disciplines — a number beyond the reach of small institutions. Thus it happens, despite the sentimental prejudice for the little fellow, that the biggest corporations, the biggest universities, the biggest governments tend to be the best ones

Routines Unchanged

A second critical factor is newness, or exposure to rapidly changing technology. Institutions which have lived for years by old routines, tend to develop vested interests and ways of doing things which cannot be changed. One of the reasons that the railroads and shipping lines tend to be so bad is that there has been almost no basic change in their technology for decades The same seems to go for government agencies. Relative youth probably explains why the Central Intelligence Agency tends to perform more effectively than the State Department

A third factor of great importance is sensitivity to criticism The modern world changes so rapidly that any formula right for yesterday is likely to be wrong for tomorrow. Adjustment to change is essential. But how do large institutions, institutions which are usually proof against competition, bring themselves to change?

The answer, I think, is by being sensitive to criticism. Criticism, in other words, does for the large institution, what competition does for the individual or the small business

A couple of cases in point are the Harvard Corporation and the telephone company They have no monopoly on wisdom, neither are they exactly under severe competitive pressure to keep bettering themselves. But they are out in front, and they feel exposed not to say guilty They are supremely sensitive to criticism, and it is this sensitivity which leads to their disposition for steady change and improvement

Governments, being large and little exposed to competition, also need to be responsive to criticism And I go broad feeling that the supreme weakness of the present administration, the reason it is so unloved despite great achievements, is that in the presence of criticism it shows at all times a meaness of spirit

People's Forum

Tells Why He Voted for Larsen Farm

Editor, Post-Crescent

It has been brought to my attention that some of the news media in the Fox Valley area reported that many Democrats voted to change the site of the new university simply to 'embarrass Governor Knowles' or to 'gain positions on different committees' The Democrats voted on the merits of this bill and it was not to embarrass Governor Knowles

I was astounded to hear that any newspaper would interpret any vote based on these grounds. I, for one voted for the Rogers bill because I was convinced after the debate that the Larsen Farm site would provide for the majority number of students, the commuter type institution at the most reasonable cost to the parent and student

I must say that both Assemblymen, Rogers and Speaker Harold Froehlich presented a case that in my opinion left me with no alternative but to support the Rogers bill I think these should be credit given to them for doing such a fine job in explaining the bill

Wisconsin Report

Schmidt Appointment As Secretary of New Board Commended

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — There is a traditional tendency for puffery among government officials when they talk about each other in public but Dr. William Studley, the chairman of the newly created Board of Health and Social Services, probably had the support of most persons familiar with the state government operations in recent years, when he spoke warmly about Wilbur Schmidt, chosen to be the secretary of the new state department that combines the old Health and Welfare Departments.

Wyngaard

"I believe we have in Mr. Schmidt one of the truly outstanding public servants in the country today," he said.

The Schmidt selection for the command of the combined health and welfare administrations was one of the comparatively rare certainties in upper level state government personnel recruitment That it was unanimously approved by the new board surprised no one Any dissent would have been a headline event.

THE MAN ADMIRED

Since this man of driving energy, keen intelligence and wholesome homeliness took over the direction of the Welfare Department 12 years ago, legislators and governors have marveled at his performance and admired his understanding of the multifarious aspects of his job almost without exception.

To observe him in a presentation of his mammoth budget, for example, is an extraordinary experience for the reporter who becomes accustomed to less skilled and sometimes poorly informed heads of other services who are content to present the data gathered by underlings in a prepared manuscript.

The Welfare Department's programs run the gamut of social problems in Wisconsin. They include probation and parole, operation of correctional institutions, numerous treatment centers for the mentally ill, public assistance programs of half a dozen categories, youth conservation camps, a foster home program for dependent children, institutions for handicapped children, child adoptions, ad infinitum. It spends more money than any other agency represented in the state executive budget and has more employes than any other.

Yet it is rare that Mr. Schmidt is asked a question that he cannot answer promptly, clearly and confidently. Obviously he crams for his appearances and is sensitive to the responsibility of the administrator to the Legislature in providing all of the information that is available and relevant.

ACCOUNTANT TRAINING HELPS

Perhaps his striking ability to grasp and retain a myriad of facts and figures about his huge department reflects his professional training as an accountant. He was the department's chief accountant before he was chosen as director.

Normally such a responsible position would be occupied by a person with professional training in social welfare specialities

As the story is told, Schmidt would not have won his original appointment except through a lucky chance. A predecessor who had professional training in social work had resigned to take a similar position in a larger state at a higher salary The Board of Welfare was prepared to search the country for a successor with similar background and training. But they needed an acting administrator. Somebody mentioned Schmidt, then a comparatively obscure back room man. He was willing, and it didn't require much time for the board to conclude that they wanted him as permanent department commander.

The Schmidt experience as an officer in a vital and sensitive service exemplifies the career opportunities, without benefit of formal tenure rules, that is one of the distinguishing characteristics of the Wisconsin system among the state governments of the country. His job is not protected by law. He could be dismissed tomorrow. But there is no one who doubts that he will remain on the job indefinitely, if he chooses to do so.

Strictly Speaking

Buying Blue or White Shirt Can be Difficult

BY SIDNEY J. HARRIS

Noting in a newspaper ad that some shirts were on sale at a local department store, and needing just the kind being offered, I telephoned the store's shopping service and ordered a half-dozen in my size.

Harris

"What colors do you want them in?" the disembodied voice asked "We have them in maize, pewter, raspberry, and taupe "

"Aren't these regular dress shirts?" I inquired The voice allowed as how they were

"Well, then," I said, "I'll take three in white and three in blue "

'Sorry we don't have those colors," the voice replied "But we can offer you a slightly different style, in a tab collar, in five different shades "

"What are those?" I asked, as though I didn't know

"We have -- lime, salmon, cinnamon, rust, and shocking pink "

"No, I don't think so," I said, falling into the spirit of the game "Tell you what — can you let me have two in fuschia, two in heliotrope, and two in ultramarine?"

She consulted her vast file-book for a moment, then came back metalically, "I'm afraid we don't have them in those shades, sir."

"All right, then," I said, being my most sweetly reasonable. "I'll take three in terra cotta, and three in persimmon "

"Sorry, sir," the voice took on an edge of brusqueness. 'As I said, we have only lime, salmon, cinnamon, rust, and shocking pink."

"Too bad," I murmured soothingly. "I'll try some other time, when you have a wider selection — maybe including white and blue "

End of the non-transaction.

Now I don't mean to imply by all this that I'm against men wearing gay and diverse colors in their shirtings — but first the mere male has to be educated to all the refinements and nuances of tone that seem to come naturally to the feminine mind

I really couldn't describe "taupe" to anyone, even to myself I suppose that "lime" is a shade of green, and "raspberry" a shade of red, but pewter wholly eludes me. I'm always getting it confused with "puce," and I really don't know what either of them looks like

General Grant once said that he could recognize only two tunes — one was "Yankee Doodle," and the other wasn't. Most men are that way about subtle distinctions in colors, and especially in the terminology of colors If they're going to make shirts in salmon, they'd better teach us how to tell it from tuna fish.

SNICK Link With Havana Confirmed

Stokely Carmichael's Appearance With Castro Confirms Old Suspicion

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The sudden appearance of Stokely Carmichael in Havana, rubbing elbows with Fidel Castro and the hemisphere's Communist guerrilla leaders, is an inevitable development in the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee's long evolution.

Novak

Evans

Sentimental white liberals who have consistently blinked away the worst about Snick now attribute Snick's alliance with Castro to deep disillusionment over Vietnam and civil rights. In fact, however, covert links between Snick and Havana stretch back at least to 1964.

The flamboyant Carmichael is merely the outward manifestation of the Snick-Cuban alliance, not its cause. The principal responsibility for moving Snick violently to the left must go to two men who, unlike Carmichael, seldom appear on television or the front page.

Forman and Minnis

One is James Forman, who today holds no formal office in Snick but is still believed to be its most important internal force. When Snick was spawned in the Southern sit-in movement in February, 1960, by idealistic Negro college students, Forman was already a hardened radical and an associate of Negro terrorist Robert Williams (who fled to Cuba to escape Federal prosecution).

The other man is even less familiar to the public than Forman. He is Jack Minnis, a white intellectual radical who, as an instructor at Tulane University in 1961, was a leader in pro-Castro activities in the New Orleans area. With Forman in absolute control of the Snick apparatus, Minnis was named to its central committee and given command of its research operation. Despite Snick's current blacks-only policy, Minnis still wields backstage influence.

Distributed Propaganda

By the time of the Mississippi Summer Project in 1964, Snick's admiration for Castroism was apparent. Snick workers were distributing Castroite propaganda and material printed in Cuba by exile Williams advocating guerrilla warfare by American Negroes and describing how Molotov cocktails could be used in American cities.

The clearest revelation of Snick's link with Havana, however, did not come until 1966 when Snick leader Julian Bond was barred from his seat in the Georgia legislature. His case was being ably handled by white lawyer Charles Morgan of the Atlanta office of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU). Morgan is a civil libertarian but no radical.

Suddenly a new face appeared: Victor Rabinowitz, a Manhattan lawyer long associated with far left causes and a leader in the National Lawyers Guild and the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee, organizations specializing in defending Communists. Rabinowitz served as legal counsel in the U.S. for the Castro government and had intimate contacts in Havana.

Forman insisted that Rabinowitz supplant Morgan as Bond's attorney. In accordance with standard ACLU practice of deferring to other attorneys, Morgan stepped aside.

Money from Cuba?

At about the same time, Snick's treasury — empty since the disaffection of white liberal contributors — suddenly began to fill again. It is believed by many close to Snick that the new money came from Cuba.

Although there is no documentary evidence to support this suspicion, it makes sense. At precisely this time in 1966, Castro abandoned his Moscow-ordered policy of cooperating only with the regular Communist parties throughout the hemisphere. He declared he would support, with arms and money, any revolutionary movements Communist or not. In the U.S., Snick would qualify for such help.

Nor has there been much doubt lately about Snick's revolutionary nature. After this year's Negro riots at Jackson (Miss.) State College, Mississippi Snick leaders met secretly to discuss plans for more effective "guerrilla warfare" in the future. In recent weeks there has been serious discussion inside Snick about how to limit destruction to white property in future rioting and avoid destroying Negro property.

Outsiders who know Snick best disagree in assessing the seriousness of such plans. Some believe Snick has played a part in most of the major riots; others believe Snick is far too disorganized for that. But effective or not, there is no longer any doubt that Snick today is Fidel Castro's arm in the United States.

High Cliff Landmark Scheduled for Razing

Former Tavern to be Demolished Prior To Dedication of New Shelter Building

SHERWOOD — Razing of the former High Cliff Tavern, located at the top of the steep hill in the state park, which during the last few years has been used as the park manager's office and maintenance shop, will take place soon.

The 40-year-old stone structure is scheduled to be attacked by the wreckers' ball and removed by Sept. 15, according to manager Jon Warren.

Demolition is expected to be completed in time for the dedication of the new $144,000 shelter building, being planned by the State Conservation Department and officials of Banta Corporation, Menasha. A donation of $60,000 was given towards the building costs by the Banta Foundation. Date of the dedication has not been announced.

Within two years a new park manager's office, garage and maintenance building will be constructed in the quarry area.

The building to be razed was built by Mike Niessen after a wooden building and dance hall was burned. It contained a restaurant and palm garden during the days the area was an amusement park, when the business only operated during the summer months. Edward Verbrick, Appleton, was the last owner of the popular place, before it was bought by the State Conservation Department.

The new shelter building was completed last year. It features an open center fireplace, as found in ski lodges, and has a fully equipped quick-lunch restaurant. The concession was not operated this season.

Currently the building is being landscaped in preparation for the dedication. Blacktopping of the new parking lot and service road has been completed, as well as more than a mile of road in the new 54-unit campground.

Attendance for July was 123,276, the best month so far this year.

The campground is operating at 35 to 50 per cent capacity and has been filled three times, all on Saturday nights.

We have had raves about the delicious daily Club Car Buffet, and really it is just like a party. Our buffet carts are now complete with a gay striped canopy, and they are handsome! Designed by Mr. Z, of course, and custom-made here. The Oshkosh Tent & Awning did the striking canopy.

Also, our attractive new place mats arrived this week from Hoffmaster Paper. What wonderful color work they did to match the decor of the Bellevue; and in the Caboose they are very dashing and gay—pink and red!!

The style shows on Thursday are now in full swing — you may like to plan a party. Next week, August 10th, Apparel Arts.

Plans are well underway for the ILYA Regatta from August 12th through the 19th. We expect 200 sailboats, and we are inviting one and all to come down for "spectating". Lots of fun and good comradeship! This weekend the Sawyer and Felker Cup Races will be held on Saturday and Sunday. These historic cups are sailed for only on Lake Winnebago.

Also on Saturday and Sunday we welcome the Wisconsin Builders who will have a large exhibit in the Grand Ballroom. You may be interested, so plan on some pleasant viewing, and maybe dinner or brunch in the Bellevue, or steaks or snacks in the Caboose.

TV-11 Special Report on Riot In Milwaukee

15-Minute News Program Set for Two Sunday Shows

"Curfew-Milwaukee," a report on riot-torn Milwaukee, will be presented twice Sunday by the news staff of Channel 11, WLUK.

Air times will be at 12 15 p m and 10:15 p m.

The special 15-minute report is the work of two TV-11 staff members, newsman Gil Nuettner and chief photographer Jerome Horen, who were in Milwaukee from the time trouble started Monday, July 31 Their filmed record will show the deserted streets of the city, the movement of National Guard units into the city, pictures of actual looting and many of the fires as well as interviews with Milwaukee officials and the Negroes themselves, both adults and children

"Curfew-Milwaukee," written and narrated by TV-11 newsman Bob Olson, centers around the effect the curfew had on the disturbance which covered more than 200 city blocks.

Government Asks Dismissal of Suit Over Yule Stamp

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has requested dismissal of a suit aimed at halting production of the 1967 Christmas stamp depicting Hans Memling's painting, "Madonna and Child With Angels"

Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State filed the suit in U S District Court, contending production of the stamp entails spending federal money in an unconstitutional manner.

The Post Office already has produced more than 650 million of the stamps—about half the planned number, and sales are scheduled to begin Nov. 6. The Justice Department argued Monday that if an injunction is granted, the stamp would not be ready by Christmas, even if the government wins the case

'Sole Brother' Requests Sales . . . and Protection

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The words "Soul Brother" scrawled on a shop's display window in a riot area mean that the business is owned by a Negro—a "soul brother" — and should be left unscathed

One tradesman in violence-filled Milwaukee made a business-related change, though.

The Broadway Hit of the late 1920s, "The Front Page," became a classic. The Ben Hecht-Charles MacArthur production returns to the stage at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center this weekend under the direction of Ken Anderson, who also doubles as the sheriff in the fast-moving comedy about a newspaper and murder. Charles Ertl, left, plays Hildy, Fred Hrubecky, center, is seen as Walter, and Max Tungate, right, enacts the role of Louie. The play opens tonight and plays through Sunday at the Center's Fine Arts Theater; curtain time is 8:15 p.m. (Post-Crescent Photo)

'Skunkmobile' Carries Skunks . . . What Else?

BY CHUCK POSNIAK

Traveling around town every few weeks is a big colorful school bus which doesn't look much like a school bus.

There is good reason for its bright colors and painted windows, however It is not a school bus at all. It's a "Skunkmobile"

The Skunkmobile is the vehicle which transports The Skunks all over the state.

You're probably wondering why a bunch of Skunks would be traveling around the state in a bus. If I didn't already know better I would wonder the same thing

White Hair Stripe

The Skunks who travel in the Skunkmobile are not the little animals with the white stripe down their backs They are a rock and roll band with a white stripe in their hair

The idea for the gimmick of the whitened hair first became a reality in 1965. Larry Lynne Ostricki, leader and lead guitarist of The Skunks, thought of the idea while he was searching for musicians to start a band. He found Jack Tappy, bass guitarist, after Jack had moved to Milwaukee, Larry's hometown. After rejecting many drummers they found one who fit in with their personalities. He was a drummer from Milwaukee named Pauli.

After a few months of playing in Wisconsin and Illinois, The Skunks packed their Skunkmobile and went to California While in Anaheim they ran across a rhythm guitarist originally from Milwaukee. This gave the group its fourth member

Night Club Circuit

For the next several months The Skunks' reputation grew on the Hollywood night club circuit One of their most requested numbers was a song called 'Elvira" The song became so popular that the group decided to record it

The boys had more faith in the song than they had in Hollywood managers, so they decided to return to Milwaukee. There, they met Jon Hall, owner of a teen-age club. Jon became manager of The Skunks and signed them to a Chicago record company, which recently released "Elvira" on the national market.

Although The Skunks have a good club sound, the group is able to adapt its sound for teen dances.

Good Harmony

All four members of the band sing, giving the group good four-part vocal harmony. The Skunks play many styles of music, including English, blues, psychedelic and jazz. Also included in their repertoire are a few production numbers for which the group often gets special applause

With the national release of the group's record and with the gimmick, The Skunks soon hope to reach the top, as other forest creatures — The Monkees, The Beatles, The Byrds, and The Turtles — have done before them.

Stores Thank Police For Riot Protection With Check to Fund

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A $1 000 check was presented to the Milwaukee Policemen's Relief Association this week as a token of appreciation for the law enforcement officers' work during Milwaukee's racial disturbances

The National Food Store chain, which has three outlets in the riot-pocked area, made the presentation

Gil Grable, security director for the food store chain, presented the check to Milwaukee Police Chief Harold Breier

Grable said the money was in recognition of "the great bravery and diligence displayed by all Milwaukee policemen at a time when they were exposed to the greatest possible danger"

Packers Vs. All-Stars Tonight

BY TV SCOUT

8:30-Conclusion Channels 11-6-9 — The nation's top amateur football players get their taste of professional competition at the 34th Annual College All-Star Game when the pro champions, the Green Bay Packers, take on the pick of the collegiate players. With coach Vince Lombardi and quarterback Bart Starr calling the play for the Packers, the champs will give a preview of things-to-come to such professional hopefuls as Steve Spurrier (Florida), Bob Griese (Purdue), Nick Eddy, Alan Page and Jim Lynch (Notre Dame), Floyd Little (Syracuse), Mel Farr (UCLA), and Gene Washington, Bubba Smith, Clinton Jones and George Webster (Michigan State). The game will be telecast live from Soldiers' Field, Chicago. (C)

6:30-7:30 Channels 11-6-9 — It's mard to say where the drama ends and the comedy begins in this Time Tunnel episode In one scene Marlin the Magician woefully explains to Tony and Doug that they must now help Arthur become King because the wizard has used up too many miracles and may need what he has left for an emergency. But it's all good fun with Christopher Cary playing a sprightly Merlin and Jim McMullan a youthful Arthur. (C-R)

Three Legislative Vacancies

Borg Quits Senate; Election Expected

MADISON (AP)— Gov. Warren P. Knowles is expected to call a special election before the fall session of the legislature to fill three vacancies in the Senate and Assembly.

The resignation of wealthy, young Sen. George Borg, R-Delavan, created the legislature's second empty seat Thursday, with Assemblyman Kenneth Kunde, R-Sheboygan, due to bow out also.

Knowles said he would call a special election to fill Borg's seat, but would have to wait until receiving a letter of resignation from Kunde, who has been appointed postmaster at Sheboygan.

Manders' Death

The other vacancy was left by the death of Assemblyman Adrian Manders, D-Milwaukee, in June. Knowles said he hoped to have the elections at the same time.

The races are likely to be settled in primary contests preceding the special election. Borg represented a heavily Republican district in the Janesville, Beloit and Lake Geneva area, while the two Assembly seats are in traditionally Democratic areas.

Borg's withdrawal and Kunde's anticipated resignation would leave the Republican margin of control at 20-12 in the Senate and 53-45 in the Assembly.

Personal Reasons

Borg, 32, attributed his unexpected resignation to personal and business reasons. The resignation will take effect next Wednesday.

The wealthy Delavan heir had unseated veteran incumbent Sen. Peter Carr, R - Janesville, in a three-way Republican primary in Rock and Walworth counties last September.

Borg was elected to his four-year term in the November election. He had served in the Assembly in three previous sessions.

The millionaire senator, who has been sued for divorce by his wife, is the grandson of the inventor of the automobile clutch and has widespread financial investments.

Although apparently tapped for future leadership in the Senate when named to the powerful Joint Finance Committee which reviews the budget, he had a record of absences at its session and became a target of frequent criticism by several members.

Maier. Spokesmen for the group said the victim had been sitting on his porch and had not been a party to the nearby firebombing.

The rate of arrests Thursday night dropped about 50 per cent, and involved curfew violations only.

Maier, lifting the night curfew as usual at 5:30 a.m. today, said he would keep it lifted until midnight. It had been restored on previous nights by 9 p.m.

Thousands of persons were kept from jobs when the curfew initially included daylight hours Monday. Industry is still recovering

Breweries returned Thursday to a 24-hour operation, but had to adjust workers' night hours to accommodate their commuting to and from homes before and after the curfew's night ban on travel.

Other industries said Thursday they were just getting back to full operation.

A Guard spokesman estimated the call-up was costing $30,000 a day for pay, food and housing. He said the figures exclude many items such as gasoline and that he could not guess the loss to Guardsmen taken from their jobs.

Soviet Trawler Stopped For Second Time in Alaskan Fishing Zone

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A Soviet trawler, seized last March for violating the 12-mile exclusive fisheries zone off the Alaska coast, was picked up for the same offense Thursday, the Coast Guard reported.

The STRM 8-457, a 180-foot refrigerator vessel, was seized by the Coast Guard cutter Avoyel 10 miles north of Akutan Island in the Aleutians and taken under tow for Dutch harbor.

"I am urging confiscation of this Russian trawler,' Gov. Walter Hickel said.

Broken Main Cuts Water Use At Waupaca

Sprinkling Ban in Effect Until Repairs Are Completed

WAUPACA — Water woes were increased early this morning when the main leading from well No. 2 broke.

Richard Peterson, water department Superintendent, placed water restrictions on the city today calling for no lawn sprinkling or unnecessary water usage.

City crews began working on the break immediately and if no unexpected problems are encountered, they expect the well to be in service late today or early tomorrow.

The break was caused by the settling of the well pumphouse, according to Iver Oerter, city engineer.

The city has been experiencing water problems since last summer when an objectionable taste and odor developed in the water of well No. 3. The well was taken out of service for several months but is now back in operation and complaints of low water quality have been received.

Waupaca has three wells and a fourth is planned With well No. 2 out of operation, the city's entire water supply is coming from well No. 3 and the smaller well No. 1.

Dog Handcuffed, But He Just Naps Through It All

DURHAM, N.C . (AP) — A woman caller pleaded to the police switchboard operator, "We can't get the handcuffs off the dog. Please come and see if you can get the cuffs off "

After some head shaking policeman Haywood Honeycutt was sent to the residence Thursday to investigate. He found a sleeping 4-year-old dachshund with an old pair of handcuffs clamped about his neck and one forepaw.

Honeycutt's handcuff key didn't fit so he called for another policeman with a key to an older set of cuffs. This key worked.

Through it all, a 3-year-old boy whose father once had been a deputy sheriff watched from inside the house. He had been playing cops and robbers with the pup" and the old cuffs

Milwaukee Night Shifts Resuming

MILWAUKEE (AP)— A few Milwaukee industry night shifts were on regular schedules Thursday, but more Milwaukee area factory workers were on the job than at any other time since the city's civil disturbances and curfews began Sunday.

Several large companies returned second and third shift workers to their jobs for the first time this week since curfews began restricting travel.

All three Milwaukee breweries returned to a 24-hour-a-day production schedule. Personnel were shuffled to enable the scheduling of two 12-hour shifts, allowing travel during the hours the curfew was lifted.

Several firms followed that form and still others increased production by calling in second shifts, but allowing workers to leave early and asking third-shift employes to report early and use recreational facilities until starting time.

Democrats Cool to LBJ's Surtax Plan

day agreed that if a tax hike is enacted at all, it won't be by Oct. 1—the date the President asked the surcharge on individual income taxes to start.

And veteran members of the Ways and Means Committee said it never has been willing to make retroactive a tax increase on individuals. Johnson asked the matching 10 per cent increase on corporate income taxes be made retroactive to July 1.

A later date for both seemed likely, if there are to be increases, perhaps Oct. 1 for the corporate tax, the first of next year for the individual.

Johnson's linking of the tax boost request with Vietnam costs and plans to dispatch 45,000 more troops there did not sit well with some members.

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, said, "The President's message is a confession of failure of his so-called 'guns and butter' economic policy."

Noting Johnson's warning that the budget deficit for the current year could reach $29 billion without the tax boost and tighter reins on spending, Miller added:

"His concern that such a deficit would cause inflation and high interest rates should have been shown a year and a half ago when he told the American people that we could afford to fight the war in Vietnam and increase the pace of Great Society domestic programs at the same time."

"I am becoming particularly disturbed by the Johnson administration's policy of blaming every economic ill in this country on the war in Vietnam," said Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, a member of the Senate Finance Committee.

Johnson specified the surcharge would not apply across the board—some 16 million persons in the lowest taxpaying brackets would be exempt.

Thus a single person making no more than $1,900, a couple up to $3,600 or a family with two children up to $5,000 would have no surtax to pay.

But a $10,000 income typically would bear $174 more in taxes for a single person, $134 for a childless couple, $111 for a family of four. At $20,000 the increases would be $492, $348 and $316. All these figures assume standard deductions.

The senior Republican on the Ways and Means Committee, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, said Johnson had given only lip service to economy, and added: "The administration now is on the spot to do something about its spending if it wants Congress and the people to believe it is serious about the deficit and taxes."

14 Injured as Bridge Falls

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Framework at a bridge collapsed today, releasing tons of concrete on some of the workmen. Fourteen men were rushed to hospitals.

Police said extent of the victims' injuries had not been determined.

The bridge, at 103rd and Grandview, was being built as part of Interstate 435 through the southeast part of the city.

Early reports from the scene said at least 11 workmen were hit by the falling concrete.

Harrison Residents Will Have Electricity Temporarily Cut Off

Town of Harrison residents living within two miles of County Trunk N will have their electricity temporarily interrupted from 2:30 to 5 a.m. Saturday. Service will be restored sooner, if possible.

Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. (WMPCO) has announced that crews will be making permanent repairs to a line recently damaged by lightning.

Residents are asked to reset their electric clocks and other automatic equipment after service is restored.

Cliffs Sand Blasted To Remove Lettering

SHERWOOD — Cliffs in the quarry area of High Cliff State Park were sandblasted last week by Parsons Brothers, Stockbridge, to remove black lettering written by three Winnebago youths, in April.

Payment for the work was made by the authors, who were ordered to pay for the removal of their writing when they were brought to court.

Negro Finds Police Pleasant Away From Touchy Inner Core

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A Negro resident of the city's strife-troubled north side said he found a pleasant attitude among policemen on the predominantly white south side, and was arrested only when he was near home.

Cleo J Redmond, 32, charged with violating the city's curfew, spent two nights in jail before appearing Thursday in court The judge expressed sympathy with Redmond's story, and suspended sentence

Redmond said he had gone to Milwaukee's south side House of Corrections late Tuesday to pick up a nephew With a letter of explanation from the institution's officials, Redmond started home toward the heavily patrolled north side where most of the city's Negroes live.

Redmond said he became lost, and drove around the south side for 90 minutes being stopped often by patrolmen and National Guardsmen

Not only were the officers pleasant, he said, they scurried to find him water when his radiator ran dry, and guardsmen later located two garage mechanics when his car broke down.

But, 12 blocks from home, he was arrested on a curfew violation charge

First Chairman

Retired Sports Writer Gets Resources Post

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The first chairman of the new State Board on Natural Resources is a veteran sports writer who late in his career became one of the best known journalistic specialists in the country on natural resources conservation matters.

Russell G. Lynch, 68, Wauwatosa, was chosen Thursday presiding member of the new board which was created under the Kellett reorganization program to direct policy for a new consolidated department of natural resources that will become fully operative next July 1 He spent 48 years as a newspaperman before his retirement from active employment several years ago. Much of his work was with a Milwaukee newspaper as sports editor.

When the department of resource development was formed two years ago to revitalize the state's campaign against water pollution, Lynch was named to its policy board. When the Legislature this year decided the new natural resources board should be composed of members of the resource board and the conservation commission, Gov. Warren P. Knowles named him to the major board.

Some Apprehension

Like other members of his group, Lynch has shown some apprehension that the ferocity of the political battle that accompanied the merger act may affect the operations of the new agency.

In a formal statement, he said he intended to assure the public that there will be no "disruption" of major services of the constituent divisions of the new consolidated agency. He said he would name board committees to write rules of procedure and other organization matters, and suggested his preliminary belief that the natural resources department should operate with at least three major operating divisions, governing water, wildlife management, and forests and parks. Other smaller programs could be attached to those major operating services, he suggested.

Lynch said he favors making all members of the resource board and conservation commission who are not members of the consolidated governing board members of a joint advisory committee, to provide for the smoothest possible implementation of the merger act. He also asked members of the resource board to attend the next regular meeting of the conservation commission at Rhinelander Aug. 16.

The existing resource board and conservation commission will be abolished next July 1, when the unified department will become fully operative

Lynch indicated some reservations about the suggestion of other members for a nationwide search for the most qualified administrative officer of the merged department, but he said he would invite nationally recognized leaders in the field of conservation administration to consult with his group.

Two Injured in Plane Crash Near Eagle River

EAGLE RIVER (AP)— Two persons were injured, neither critically, when their single-engine plane crashed Thursday into Duke Lake.

The pilot said the pontoon-type plane was about 40 feet above the water, and that he was circling for a landing.

Taken to a Rhinelander hospital were the pilot, Jeff Trowbridge of Sheboygan Falls, and a passenger, Florence Johanning of Plymouth.

Ohio City Running Out of Parking Tickets

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Mansfield is running short on parking tickets and no one seems to care, says Douglas Hazen, city safety director.

Three requests to the City Council for money to print more forms have been ignored, seriously putting a crimp on the number of tickets police can give out, Hazen said Thursday.

Athletes' Parents Meeting Planned At Freedom

FREEDOM — A meeting is scheduled for the parents of boys who will participate in the athletic program at the senior high school during the coming year, the meeting will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the high school auditorium.

The meeting is to explain the athletic program in general and also to give specific information in regard to practice, accident insurance, proper foods and training regulations.

Coaches will be present to answer any questions concerning their respective sports.

Coaches for this year are William Schoenberger, track and cross country; John Van Egeren, football; James Harke, basketball; Clarence Colombe, baseball and Robert Fullmer, wrestling

Child's Confusion About Sex Causes Sleeping Problems

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: My 10-year-old daughter is in a Brownie troop and we don't know what to do about a proposed overnight hike. She has had occasional sleep problems since she was 6. She is afraid to sleep away from home because she says she's worried she won't fall asleep and she'll be the only one awake. She feels like a failure, though, when I tell her not to attend a slumber party if she feels like this. So what can we do about the hike? MRS. K.D.

Eve Jones

Sleep problems starting as late in life as after the sixth birthday are generally connected with confusion and conflicts about sex. It may help if you talk with your daughter about the differences between men and women and where babies come from. If reassurance that she is in control of herself doesn't lessen her anxieties, send me your name and address so I may send you the name of an agency that can provide personal counseling.

DEAR DR. JONES: Since the birth of our baby a few months ago, our older child, now 3, has been scratching at his face, butts, wetting when asleep, and has been trying to hurt the baby. We haven't made any new demands on him since the baby came and we don't scold him for wetting. We keep him from hurting the baby and himself, and we try to keep him from wanting to hurt. But we're upset by the change in him — we tried very hard to prepare him for the new baby, and we were positive we had convinced him that being the oldest is more fun. How can we keep him from wanting to hurt? MRS. R.H.

Just concentrate on keeping him from putting his wishes into action. His private feelings are his business.

Rather than trying to sell him on how much fun it is to be the oldest, give him some of the babyish satisfactions he seems to be trying to tell you he wants. He'll soon give up such things as a bottle and canned baby food, once he actually re-experiences them. And the sleeptime wetting should pass once he gets warm snuggling from you during the day in place of the pep talks.
